THE SCHOONER MAIZE SINKS IN KINGSTON HARBOR.

After being brought here from Howe Island, where it was a derelict for the past year. The schooner Maize, which has been a derelict upon the shore of Howe Island at Richardson's stone quarry for the past year, now lies at the bottom of the harbor, having sunk beside the old G. T. H. freight sheds, foot of Johnson street, after reaching here on Sunday morning. Last fall this schooner was taken to Howe Island by G. Pyke and John Sowards to carry stone from there to Cape Vincent, where a new breakwater was being constructed. Two heavy gales sent the schooner high upon the shore, at the same time smashing several planks and thereby causing her to leak badly. Grant Pyke managed to re-float the Maize on Saturday, and had reached the city and tied the schooner up to the wharf when his sylvan broke down, causing the boat to fill and sink.

Allowed Out On Bail.

Before the local police authorities would allow Robert Fish, charged with attempting to break into a house on the property of the Frontenac Wall and Floor Tile Company, freedom, his friends had to put up $1000 bail.

When Fish appeared in the Police Court on Saturday morning Mayor Sutherland, acting in the absence of Magistrate Farrell, remanded him until Tuesday morning. An officer of the regiment to which he is attached, urged the mayor to allow the military authorities to take care of the accused on condition that he would be on hand when his case was called, but the Acting Magistrate would not consent. The matter was fixed up later in the day and the military authorities have taken charge of the accused until Tuesday morning.

Agnes of Famous Soldiers.

Napoleon was 45 at Waterloo, and never reached the station. Marlborough was 62 at Oudenarde, and by no means in his dotage at 65. Frederick the Great was 61 at the end of his great campaign. On the other hand, Moltke at 66 was only just establishing his name in world-history. Raglan was about 65 when he was appointed commander-in-chief in the Crimea. D. A. Detley, one of the great soldiers of the world, was 82 when he led the Austrians in their last successful war. Wolsley's last campaign was fought at 62, but Lord Roberts began his last at 67. Sir John French will be 63 in September.

Where the Huns Stop.

Sir Herbert Tree, who has made his debut on the halls in a "potted" version of "Trilby," told a curious story the other night. When war broke out he was holiday-making in Marienbad, and left his luggage to be forwarded to England. The portmanteau has just arrived with its contents undisturbed, except that one article is missing—an edition of the "luxury of Shakespeare." "A curious annexation," was Sir Herbert's comment, "but, happily, they cannot confiscate his genius."

Germany Admits It.

In the German answer to the Bryce Commission report on atrocities in Belgium it is seriously stated that old men, women and children were spared to the greatest possible extent. But the world will ask what possibility imaginable could require the sacrifice of children as a measure necessary to the safety of the German army. Such a statement is a confirmation in itself of the Bryce report.—Baltimore American.

Dean Starr Likely to Go to the Front

Dean Starr preached a strong sermon on the war situation on Sunday morning in St. George's Cathedral and at the conclusion requested a meeting of the congregation on Wednesday evening next, as he had been asked to go as chaplain to the Canadians overseas. If the appointment was simply for a camp in England, he said he preferred to remain at his post here, but if immediately for the front, he wished to go. The congregation will meet in St. George's Hall at eight o'clock Wednesday evening to confer with the Dean.

An Interesting Demonstration.

Great interest has been shown in the apiary demonstrations conducted throughout the province, under the direction of Mr. Morley Pettit, Provincial Apiarist. The attendance at the 55 meetings held during the season of 1914 averaged 34, while in 1915 the average was 25. Unexcelled opportunities are offered those present to have their difficulties in beekeeping explained, and the demonstrator, having the apiary and the equipment at his disposal, is able to illustrate his remarks to great advantage.

The meetings are held in the apiaries. Hives are opened and the working of the colony displayed. Attention is directed to the different kinds of cells, the various stages of the brood, the queen is pointed out, and suggestions made on the activities of the colony. Pout brood, swarming, wintering and queenening are also discussed, and the time is very profitably spent both for the beginner and the experienced beekeeper.

The use of models of a wintering case for wintering four colonies outdoors will be an interesting addition to the meetings to be held this season. Already arrangements are under way for two demonstrations in each county.

At Depth of 160 Feet.

All the mail and silver bullion on board the sunken Express of Ireland have been recovered as the result of one of the most remarkable feats of deep water salvage ever attempted. When the ship was sunk near the mouth of the St. Lawrence it settled in the soft mud at the bottom of the river, which is 138 feet deep at low tide. She also heeled over at a sharp angle. Because of these conditions the divers were compelled to work at times at the unusual depth of 160 feet.

To familiarize the divers with the arrangement of the ship, and the location of the strong box, past board models were made and the divers were thoroughly schooled with these before being permitted to undertake the work. As a further precaution the first work that was done by the divers after the hole had been cut in the side of the ship was that of bulkheading all flanking doorways and passageways along the route to be followed inside the ship, so that no diver could go astray or get his hose, lifeline or telephone connections tangled. To furnish as much protection as possible against the cold water each diver was equipped with rubber gloves, which were made thin enough to enable the diver to guide himself where necessary by the sense of touch alone.

May Restock Wetters.

A survey of waters in the vicinity of Toronto with a view to determining whether or not they can be stocked with fish will be undertaken by the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries this summer. Mr. A. Sheriff, Deputy Minister of the department, said recently that the waters would be examined to see if they would provide food for fish and what kind of fish would thrive in them. If circumstances warrant it fry will then be placed in the streams and ponds ultimately to provide food for the table.

Use Electric Brakes.

Electro-pneumatic brakes are soon to displace the air brakes used on the passenger trains of the Pennsylvania Railroad. This form of brake has been found necessary because of the weight of trains made up of all-steel cars. In long trains the shock and surging accompanying the application of the brakes has proved objectionable. In a twelve-car train it takes eight seconds for the full braking force to be felt at the last car. With the electro-pneumatic brake, the braking power will be exerted at the same instant on all the cars, and within two seconds after the application of the brakes the whole braking force will be exerted throughout the train.

Knew His Man

Monsieur wanted the picture hung to the right; madame wanted it on the left. But monsieur insisted that the servant should hang the picture according to his orders. Consequently Joseph stuck a nail on the wall on the right, but this done he also went and stuck another in on the left. "What is that second nail for?" his master enquired in astonishment. "It's to save me the trouble of fetching the ladder to-morrow when monsieur will have come round to burn, Brockville, is a guest of Mrs. Johnston Frye."
