WALDRON'S

MURDERED THE CREW MIGHT SUPPLY POTASH

OF BRITISH SUBMARINE THAT HAD STRANDED.

The E-13 Grounded in Danish Waters, But the Pirate Enemy Destroyers Fired Upon Her After Internment.

London, Aug. 23.—The Official Press Bureau announced to-night that a report had been received from Lieut.-Commander Layton, commanding the British submarine E-13, which grounded on the Danish island of Saltholm, between Copenhagen and Malmoe, while on her way to the Baltic.

Lieut.-Commander Layton reports that the submarine grounded early on the morning of Aug. 19th, and that all efforts to refloat her failed. At 5 a.m. a Danish torpedo boat appeared on the scene and informed the E-13 that twenty-four hours would be allowed her to try and get off. At the same time a German torpedo boat destroyer arrived and remained close to the submarine until two more Danish torpedo boats came up, when the German craft withdrew.

At 9 a.m., while three Danish torpedo boats were anchored close by, two German torpedo boat destroyers approached from the south. When about half a mile away one of these destroyers hoisted a commercial flag signal. Before the commanding officer of the E-13 had time to read it, the German destroyer fired a torpedo from a distance of about 300 yards, which exploded on hitting the bottom near by. At the same moment the German destroyer fired all her guns. Commanding Layton, seeing that the submarine was on fire fore and aft and unable to defend himself owing to being around, gave orders for the crew to abandon the submarine. While his men were in the water they were fired on by machine guns and shrapnel. One of the Danish torpedo boats immediately lowered her boats and steamed between the submarine and the German destroyers, who thereupon had to cease firing and withdrew.

The destruction of the British submarine in Danish territory by German destroyers, in circumstances which placed the shipwrecked craft under Danish protection, has aroused widespread indignation, which finds expression in the Danish newspapers.

FROM THE FELDSPAR MINES IN FRONTENAC

And Fill a Great Want—Potash Can No Longer Be Secured From Germany.

The manufacturers of the United States are crying out for potash which as a result of the British blockade, cannot be shipped from Germany. Shipments of wood-ash are being sent across the border from Canada from several places, among them being Napanee.

The manufacturers are of the opinion, according to articles that have recently appeared in industrial journals, that the feldspar deposits in Canada should be more fully developed. Feldspar from Canada runs about 16 per cent potash and the German deposits are little more, being about 20 per cent. Potash is now selling at thirty cents a pound. Feldspar can be laid down in Kingston from the Frontenac mines at $4.50 a ton and it costs only fifty cents a ton to crush. The problem of extracting the potash from the feldspar has been overcome and there are several places in the United States now where this is being done.
