HON. MARTIN BURRELL
SPOKE AT LABOR PICNIC ON MONDAY AFTERNOON.

And Made a Call For Recruits—Should Take Off Our Hats to All Canadians Who Have Enlisted.

"There can be no peace until the mad dog of Prussian militarism is shot," declared Hon. Martin Burrell, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, in a stirring address for recruits at the picnic held by the labor men at Lake Ontario Park.

William Baxter, president of the Trades and Labor Council, introduced the speaker, and he was given a warm welcome. The Minister of Agriculture was the only speaker.

Those on the platform with him were Beck Roadhouse, deputy minister of agriculture in the Province; Legislature; Principal Gordon, W. F. Nickle, M.P., Mayor Sutherland and William J. Driscoll.

Hon. Mr. Burrell gave a resume of the events leading up to the war, and also of the events since it began. He said that as Canadians we should ask the question as to whether the great toll of life and waste of material was worth while.

The speaker declared that we should take off our hats to every Canadian who volunteered for the front. It was no simple war, but a great conflict between two great ideas of civilization which would mean the making of the future for the children of to-day.

If Germany should win this war, it would mean that we would lose our freedom, which we so much valued. We would be unjustly taxed, and the people would have no say in the government of the country. There was a vast difference between the British and German systems of government, while Britain stood for government by consent of the governed.

Why was Canada engaged in this war? Why should we be engaged in it? If Canada did not engage in this war the country would be attacked inside of three years, the same way as Belgium had been attacked.

Complaint might be made that times at present were very hard in Canada. What would be the condition if Germany should win this war? We would be hied heavily in taxes, and in addition we would be made to fight at the point of a bayonet. There had been some talk of peace, but there could be no peace until the mad dog of Prussian militarism had been shot. This was the only honorable peace that could be brought about.

The speaker said he had been talking to Premier Borden since his turn from the Old Land. The Premier had talked with General Joffre, and the latter had spoken of the determination of the French to fight this fight to the finish.

"Nothing has stirred me so much as what Premier Borden told me. The Premier spoke of a visit he paid to a hospital where there were nine hundred wounded Canadian soldiers. These men, recovering from their wounds, were determined to get back on the firing line, as they believed they were fighting for a just cause. My message to you here to-day is that if you cannot go and fight yourself, encourage those who are going. I do not believe that we have many shrinkers here in Canada. We are going to see this fight through to a finish. Premier Borden told me that he was talking to the King himself, and His Majesty told him that it was the Canadians who saved the day at Ypres. The Premier asked me to say to you that the Government and all the authorities having the big task in hand, are doing all they can to keep up the strength of the Canadian forces, and to bring the great struggle to a triumphant end as speedily as possible.

"We as Canadians have got to live a more unselfish life," said the speaker, in his closing remarks. "Canadian citizenship in the future must be a little bigger than it has been in the past, and we can thank God that we have done our part."

Kingston Youth Has Enlisted With C.M.R.

Another former employee of the Whig has joined the colors in the person of Walter George Baillie, son of Corpl. F. R. Baillie, Army Medical Corps, who resides on Princess street near the Bath Road.

The father, who is a second year medical student at Queen's University, applied to go overseas but was turned down on account of being medically unfit. The son, who is probably the youngest soldier at Barriefield camp, is the only one of the family who was needed, so with the consent of his parents he signed up with the 8th C.M.R.

Letters to the Editor
By Laws Not Enforced.
Kingston, Sept. 6.—(To the Editor): Though your valuable columns I would like to ask the officials of this city why the by-laws are not enforced.

For example: Automobiles are left on the wrong side of the street and nothing is said.

Also on nearly every side street boys play ball and are as bold as brass. If a horn or a bicycle bell is sounded you get a bold salute.—A LAW ABIDING CITIZEN.

A Thrilling Experience.
Lieut.-Col. A. E. Ross, in a letter to W. F. Nickle, M.P., refers to a thrilling incident which occurred at the battle front on a recent occasion. The men of the Allied forces, including the Kingston battalion, were engaged in a baseball match, trying out the balls, bats and mits, which Kingston men had sent to them. Suddenly there appeared overhead two aeroplanes, representing the French and Germans, and they had a lively scrap, using the guns with which they were equipped. Some damage must have been done though the planes got away to their respective rendezvous. Col. Ross adds that while the aeroplane scrap lasted of course the baseball match was halted.

SCHOOL OF COOKERY
IS TO BE ESTABLISHED AT BARRIEFIELD CAMP

Sergt.-Major Kerrison, W. O., Of the Royal Military College, Will Be Instructor.

It was announced at Barriefield camp on Tuesday morning that the first school of cookery for the Canadian Expeditionary forces will open at Barriefield camp on Wednesday, September 15th. Sergt.-Major Kerrison, W.O., of the staff of the Royal Military College, will be the instructor. Although it is not definitely known it is thought that about twenty will be in attendance.

About ten days ago Sergt.-Major Kerrison returned from an intended trip to the military camps in Canada in company with Major General Leonard, for the purpose of making a thorough inspection of the way which the rations which are issued to the Canadian volunteers are cooked.

Sergt.-Major Kerrison, who was formerly attached to the Imperial army, is looked upon as being one of the best cookery instructors in the service. He has had charge of school of cookery for the permanent force but this is the first one for the expeditionary force.

Considerable difficulty has been experienced by the officers in command of the different overseas units in getting capable men to do the cooking.

TWO OLD TIME SINGERS.
Rendered a Duet in Queen Street Methodist Church.

R. Tandy, Toronto, gave his third and for this season his last Sabbath evening vocal recital in the Queen Street Methodist Church on the 5th inst. A most interesting feature of the occasion was the singing of a duet "My Faith Looks Up To Thee," by Mr. Tandy and W. G. Craig. It was made a special interest from the fact that in their early manhood years Messrs. Tandy and Craig were intimates and musical partners in local concerts and musical matters generally in this city. Mr. Tandy's singing was marked by his old time virility of voice and artistic finish. Many who have known him all his musical life declare that he sings as well as at any time throughout his career.

MORE MEN THAN NEEDED
For the 33rd Battery—Recruiting For 60th Battalion.

"I have all the men I need for the 33rd Battery and I am signing up men for the 60th Battalion," said Major E. C. Barrett to the Whig on Tuesday. The recruiting for artillery men in the district has been very brisk when one takes into consideration that so many men have joined other branches of the service.

Lieut. Christmas, who has been recruiting men for the 59th Battalion, has gone to Barriefield to take the officers' training course.
