ACCOSTED YOUNG GIRL

YOUNG MAN WAS FINED IN THE POLICE COURT.

Frankly Admitted That He Met her On Street Corner and Put His Arm Around Her—Cases Heard By Magistrate on Wednesday.

While in his cups on Tuesday night, a young man, tried to press his company on a pretty girl of eighteen, when he met her near the corner of Princess and Ontario street, about 9.45 o'clock. The young woman did not care for the young man's company, as he was a stranger to her. The young woman tried to get away from him, but he put his arm around her, and in the struggle her dress was torn. Just at the time Constable Mills, of the military police force came along, and the young man was placed under arrest, charged with assault. T. J. Rigney appeared for him, and it was shown that the young fellow, who has never appeared in the Police Court before, had been drinking. The accused himself admitted taking hold of the girl, and stated that he had been suffering from toothache, and had taken a few drinks, (evidently as a "pain killer"). He frankly admitted that he had put his arm around the young woman, and told his story in a straightforward manner and it was quite apparent that the fact that he had been drinking, was the cause of all his trouble. The Magistrate imposed a fine of $5 and costs, stating that he had been impressed with the way in which the accused had given his evidence.

The Magistrate said he felt that the young man had no malicious intent, and for this reason imposed a small fine. He thought otherwise, he would have given him more serious punishment.

"Drunk and disorderly." This was the charge that Annie Williams, a middle-aged woman, had to answer to. She pleaded guilty, and said she was very sorry for her conduct. The accused created quite a scene on Princess street Tuesday night, and Constables McCarey and Cotter had their hands full in getting the woman to the police station. She denied the entire police force, and declared that there was no officer in Kingston who could place her under arrest. A fine of $3 and costs was imposed.

Constable Horne ran in John B. Morrissey on a charge of being drunk. He was fined $3 and costs.

"I was drunk, but I am in the army." was the explanation given by Thomas Connors, who drank too much brewery water on Tuesday. He was handed over to the military authorities. Constables McCarey and Nicholson arrested him.

George Burns, another tippler, admitted his guilt, and was touched for $2 and costs. He ran foul of Constables Naylen Tuesday night. He asked for three days' time to cover his fine and the Magistrate said he would consider the matter.

DUCK SEASON OPENS.

But the Weather is Altogether Too Warm.

The duck shooting season opened at daybreak on Wednesday, but the weather man certainly did not afford the sportsman the kind of weather he wished for. It was altogether too warm for the ducks to congregate and several hunters were sadly disappointed at not bringing down a duck to have the honor of showing to their friends at breakfast time.

On Tuesday afternoon about 5 o'clock a Whig reporter saw some thirty ducks flying in a north-westerly direction over the water-front close by Macdonald Park. They flew very high and seemed to be making for a cooler habitation.

A VERY FINE DISPLAY

AT HORTICULTURAL SHOW IN ARMOURIES.

Band Concert Will Be Given To-night And Thursday Night—Net Proceeds For Red Cross Society.

The big show of the Kingston Horticultural Society is now on at the Armouries, and there is an exhibition, the finest lot of flowers, vegetables and fruit that could be gathered in this district.

The show will be on to-night, all day Thursday and Thursday night, and every person in the city should pay a visit to the Armouries and see the display.

The members of the society have put forth every effort possible to make this the "banner year." Last year the show was called off owing to the war.

On Tuesday morning, the judges were busily engaged and will have their work completed before night. To-night and to-morrow night, a concert by the R.C.H.A. band will be a special feature of the show. The net proceeds of the affair will be devoted to the Red Cross Society, as citizens will understand that in patronizing the show they will be helping a most worthy cause.

The entries this year show a much larger offering in vegetables, while there are about the same number of entries in fruit and flowers. Rockwood Hospital has a very fine exhibit.

George Nicol is judging the fruit; D. McCarty and E. K. Purdy the flowers and John Heaton and Alfred Glover the vegetables.

The bride, who was unattended, wore her travelling suit of blue chiffon broad cloth with white crepe de chene blouse, and a chic little hat of black velvet and white kid. Her only ornament was the gift of the groom, a cameo and pearl pendant. The bride received many beautiful and useful gifts.

The happy couple left on the steamer Kingston for Toronto, and will then go to Galt, the home of the groom's mother, where a reception will be held. They will then proceed to Smiley, Sask., where they will in future reside.
