WALDRON'S

THE COUNTY COUNCIL

CONSIDERING WHAT PATRIOTIC GRANT IT SHOULD MAKE

Various Suggestions Made—Councillor Halliday Suggested $1,000 a Month Till the End of the War.

The Frontenac County Council was in session Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday considering what further grant it should make to patriotic purposes.

Prof. L. W. Mulloy addressed the Council and suggested that arrangements be made for the holding of about fifteen recruiting meetings throughout the county during the fall.

Arrangements were made for a deputation of the Speakers and Patriotic League to address the Council at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

At the Wednesday morning session in committee of the whole, with Councillor Kennedy in the chair, Warden Donaldson said he had been met with the question as to what Frontenac was doing as compared with other counties. Was it doing its duty? He wrote the council members and all expressed themselves in accord with his suggestion of giving four machine guns to the Militia Department. Later, after consultation with the military authorities, he was advised that the department had enough machine guns and that Frontenac had better make its contribution to the Patriotic Fund.

A public meeting was arranged for Tuesday evening, September 14th, in the City Hall, and he was surprised when he came to the city that day to find that the meeting had been called off. He had nothing to do with the cancelling of the meeting, which he was sure would have aroused the county people to a sense of their duty. While Frontenac may have done something it could do better. Were the people of Frontenac to-day going to be as worthy as their fathers? There was a crisis throughout the empire, and a chance was afforded the people to do something.

The Warden did not think Frontenac was doing what it should. This county should not be content to follow in the footsteps of other counties. It should lead he declared. Those who do not go to the front should do everything possible to assist the empire in these trying days.

Warden Donaldson said that the farmers of Canada had been blessed with a bountiful harvest and good prices, and it was his opinion that the farmers could give from 15 to 25 per cent of their crop to the cause. He was pleased to be able to state that the people of Frontenac were behind the Council in doing what it thought best in assisting this great cause of the Allies.

Councillor Balls said that Storrington had always been willing to assist. It had already donated $1,000 to the Patriotic Fund and given to Belgian Fund.

Councillor Munro remarked that Oss was proud to assist in aiding those who had gone to the front. Chancellors Parks and Gray spoke likewise for their townships.

Councillor Thompson suggested that Frontenac pay, say $250 a month to the fund for several years.

Councillor Stones congratulated the Warden for calling the Council together to consider the best cause to pursue in assisting in the great struggle. "Frontenac should be able to assist in proportion as much as any other county in the Province."

Councillor Reid favored a monthly grant as suggested by Councillor Parks.

Germans in North Frontenac.
Councillor Wensley held a similar view. Let each year's Council make a grant. In Councillor Wensley's township (Clarendon and Miller) there was a large German element, and that gentleman remarked that after he had moved the grant of $2,000 to the Patriotic Fund last fall, a move was made against him in several quarters for doing so. He wasn't afraid of this, but if he happened to be left home, at next election, he would like to have his successor put on record as how he stood in regard to a patriotic grant.

Councillor Halliday regretted that the county meeting had been cancelled, but thought good results would accrue from the present council meeting. All along he felt that Frontenac was not doing what it should do as compared with other counties. He was of opinion that the Frontenac Council should make a grant of $1,000 a month till the end of the war. That was not too much. The people had to make some sacrifices, and money sacrifice was not a big one. His idea, he claimed was the fairest way of contributing. The Council grant was levied on all in the county. Councillor Halliday said he did not think his proposed grant would require any additional taxation. The present revenue, he thought, would cover it.

Councillor Foley thought it was too late in the year to levy a debt on the county for future Councils to arrange for. Let the present Council make a grant for this year, as the tax rate has already been fixed, and let next year's Council do its duty.

Councillor Foley said he was not in favor of holding recruiting meetings throughout the county, as there were too few men on the farms to go to the war. Farm labor was too scarce. Any recruiting should be done in the cities.

Councillor McKnight favored a liberal grant by the Council at once. The people, he was sure, would back up the Council.

Councillor Franklin favored a grant this year equal to a mill, which would be $6,300, and let next year's Council make whatever grant it thought best.

Councillor Redden expressed himself in sympathy with a reasonable grant. He favored the suggestion of Councillor Franklin.

Councillor Kennedy said his township was willing to do anything in reason.

The Council adjourned till 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

In attendance at the meeting were Warden Donaldson and Reeves John Gray, J. A. Kennedy, P. J. Wensley, H. A. Calvin, John Foley, C. G. McKnight, John A. Redden, L. D. Parks, J. M. Stones, Abbott Thompson, T.

J. Munro, W. J. Franklin, W. S. Reid, James Halliday, W. J. Donaldson, John Balls, and Dr. William Spaulkie.

KINGSTON PRESBYTERY

ACCEPTED RESIGNATION OF REV. S. J. M. COMPTON.

Paid Warm Tribute To Pastor For His Work And Offer Of Services For Front.

At the Kingston Presbytery meeting in Belleville, the resignation of Rev. S. J. M. Compton, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Kingston, was accepted. W. G. Craig for the church urged leave of absence as did Col. G. H. Ogilvie. Both spoke in high terms of Mr. Compton. When Mr. Compton spoke he said he wished his resignation to stand. He felt that he could not be at rest in his work overseas among the soldiers, if he still had the pastoral charge of St. Andrew's, even with six months' leave of absence.

Rev. Dr. Jordan moved that the resignation be accepted, at the same time paying tribute to his work, and moving that a suitable minute be prepared and placed in the minutes of the church. Dr. Jordan in an eloquent address referred to Mr. Compton's action in going overseas.

Rev. Mr. Cumberland seconded the motion, and it was passed, after which the members of Presbytery arose and sang the National Anthem.

WHAT HAVE YOU FOUND?
Nearly everyday, somebody loses something—a watch, a pocketbook, a bunch of keys or any of a thousand other articles. In most cases these are found by somebody else. That somebody doesn't know who the articles belong to. To assist them in finding the owners, and to help the owners get their goods back, is where a daily newspaper like the Whig reads, by the way—can be of use. We can introduce the finder to the loser, the lost article can be returned, the word of thanks passed or the reward tendered. Best of all, we will henceforward do it for nothing. Just as a little act of kindness to our 999 readers. So the next time you find a lost article, send along the facts to the Whig—without any money, mind you—and we'll do the rest.

SERVED UNDER CAPT. STEWART
Kingstonian Paid Tribute to the Late Gunner Campbell.

Gunner Campbell, who was killed in action, and whose death was reported in the Whig a few days ago, served under Capt. J. C. Stewart, who is now at his home on Burlington.

"He was one of the finest fellows at the front," was the tribute Capt. Stewart paid to the deceased. "He worked on No. 3 gun, and he was always on the job."

Capt. Stewart was very sorry to hear of his death. He says that Gunner Campbell was a hard worker, but was of a jovial disposition, and was well liked by all the men.

Disposed of Business.
Robert Montgomery, who has conducted a dyeing and cleaning establishment on Princess street for a great many years, and who is one of the city's best-known residents, has disposed of his business to J. B. Harris, Toronto, and will live a retired life hereafter. Mr. Harris had had many years' experience in this particular line of business, and is well-qualified to carry on the work. He will be welcomed to the ranks of Kingston business men, and will no doubt continue the successful business.

Still Looking For Stolen Coat.
Canadian Pacific Railway detectives are still looking for the man who stole a valuable military raincoat owned by Prof. L. W. Mulloy from the train on which that gentleman was proceeding to Renfrew a week ago. The coat was taken from the passenger car when Prof. Mulloy was in the dining car. A man who was in the former car was suspected, and a description of him was given to the railway authorities by Prof. Mulloy's secretary.
