

LUX

Won't Shrink Woollens

What is it?
LUX is something new and good. The finest essence of soap in flakes. It makes the richest, creamiest lather you ever saw. It means "luxury" in washing because it's such a clothes saver. Absolutely prevents wools, flannels and all loosely woven garments from hardening and shrinking in the wash. Try LUX and be delighted with it.

SPEECH OF ALDERSON

TO THE CANADIAN SOLDIERS AFTER YPRES

It was inspired by the heroism, of One Canadian Division in That Memorable Battle.

A speech that will be treasured and prized by every Canadian soldier who heard it, delivered by General E. A. H. Alderson, inspired by the heroism of the 1st Canadian Division at Ypres. Following is the address complete:

All units and all ranks of the 1st Canadian Division, I tell you truly, that my heart is so full I hardly know how to speak to you. It is full of two feelings, the first being sorrow for the loss of those comrades of ours who have gone, and the second, pride in what the 1st Canadian Division has done. As regards our comrades who have lost their lives—and we will speak of them with our caps off—(here he took off his cap, and all did likewise) my faith in the Almighty is such, that I am perfectly sure that, when men die, as they have done, their duty is not fighting for their Country, for the Empire, and to save the situation for others, in fact, to die for their friends, no matter what their past lives have been, no matter what they have done that they ought not to have done, but that they are, in fact, I am perfectly sure that the Almighty takes them, and looks after them at once. Lads, we cannot leave them better than like that. (Here he put on his cap, and all the others did the same.)

Now I feel that we may, without any false pride, think a little of what the Division has done during the past few days.

I would first of all tell you that I have never been so proud of anything in my life, as I am of this Army with "I Canada" on it (pointing to it), that I wear on my right arm. I thank you, and congratulate you from the bottom of my heart, for the part each one of you have taken in giving me this feeling of pride.

I think it is possible that you do not, if of you, quite realize that if we had retired on the 22nd of April—when our Allies fell back before the gas, and left our flank quite open—the whole of the 27th and 28th Divisions would probably have been cut off, certainly in which they would not have got away a gun or a vehicle of any sort, and probably not more than half the infantry.

This is what our Commander-in-Chief meant when he telegraphed, as he did, that "the Canadians saved the situation." Why do I say this, you might say, if this world, you have.

I know my military history pretty well, and I cannot think of an instance, especially when the cleverness and determination of the enemy is taken into account, in which troops have been placed in such a difficult position, nor can I think of an instance in which so much depended on the standing fast of one division.

You will remember the last time I spoke to you, before you went into the trenches at Sailly, now over two months ago, I told you about my old regiments—the R.W. Kents—having gained a reputation for not budging from their trenches, no matter how they were attacked. I said that they were quite sure that in a short time, the Army out here would be saying the same of you.

I little thought—no none of us thought—how soon those words would come true. But now, to-day, not only the Army out here, but all Canada, all England, and all the Empire, are saying it of you.

The share each unit has taken in earning this reputation is no small one.

I have three pages of congratulatory telegrams from His Majesty the King downwards which I will read to you, with also a very nice letter from our army commander, Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien.

Now, I doubt if any Divisional Commander, or any Division, ever had so many congratulatory telegrams and messages as these, and remember, they are not merely polite and sentimental ones, they express just what the senders really feel.

There is one more word I would say to you before I stop. You have made a reputation second to none gained in this war, but remember, no man can live on his reputation, he must keep on adding to it. That you will do so I feel just as sure as I did two months ago, when I told you that I knew you would make a reputation when the opportunity came.

I am now going to shake hands with you officers, and as I do so, I want you to feel that I am shaking hands with each one of you, as I would actually do, if time permitted. No, we will not have any cheering now—we will keep that till you have added to your reputation, as I know you will.

SOLDIERS' WIVES AROUSED.

Patriotic Fund Reserve Scheme Bitterly Opposed.

Saskatoon, Sept. 17.—A crowded hall full of the wives of soldiers, with a sprinkling of men in uniform, greeted T. M. Bee, the Provincial Secretary of the Patriotic Fund, when he came from Regina to meet the local executive which met to reconsider the scheme of forming a reserve by withholding to the credit of each recipient a portion of her allowance.

The attitude of the audience to the new regulations was hostile throughout and a large number of soldiers' wives voted their opposition in language which at times became bitter. Several members of the local Patriotic Fund executive expressed equally decided views. E. Eggleston declared that contributions to the fund would stop at once if the new regulations were adhered to and Rev. B. W. Hullinger closed a fiery speech by the declaration that "any man who dares to say that the wives of our soldiers are getting too much is a scoundrel."

The pensions provided by the Dominion Government for the widows of private were also criticized as inadequate.
