ON BARRIEFIELD HEIGHTS WITH THE OVERSEAS TROOPS

Men from the 3rd Division who have volunteered for overseas service will be kept under canvas at Barriefield camp until about the first of November, remarked Col. T. D. R. Hemming, camp commandant, to the Whig.

Although the nights will commence to get rather cold about that time, the authorities at Ottawa realize that the men who are going overseas must get accustomed to sleeping out in the open sooner or later and might just as well commence in Canada.

After the troops are ordered to leave the Barriefield Heights it is doubtful what will be done. At the present time the Militia Department is working out some scheme but nothing definite has been decided upon. Sir Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, has suggested that the volunteers be housed in private residences instead of barracks, as he thinks the home influence might have a good effect on the men. Some of the officers when asked by the Whig for their views on housing the volunteers in city homes, stated that they did not approve of it as they claim there would be no discipline and for that reason the men in some cases could be on the streets all hours of the night instead of being in bed a certain hour, as is now the case. Men in the habit of drinking freely would only be encouraged to drink more if such a scheme were put in force. However, Kingston has barracks accommodation for 11,400 men.

Some of the officers at Barriefield camp experience trouble from time to time with volunteers who persist in visiting Kingston and buying bottles of liquor. On Saturday night about thirty bottles were found on soldiers when they were searched by the guard at the end of Cataract bridge.

On Monday, an officer of one of the overseas units at Barriefield camp will appear before Col. T. D. R. Hemming, the camp commandant, to explain why he hit one of the volunteers with his whip. It appears that while the unit was on a route march the officer in question had a few words with one of the cooks who has charge of one of the field kitchens. During the excitement, the officer struck the private.

Very few cases of desertion have been reported at Barriefield camp since the men went under canvas. Those who desert from the ranks are in most cases caught and brought back to face the music. After serving their time they are in some cases given their discharge.

Lieut.-Col. J. R. Munroe, officer commanding the 8th C.M.R., is returned from a trip to Toronto.

The general impression among the men of the 8th C.M.R. is that the unit will leave Canada for overseas service the end of the month. A large number of men have been given passes for few days to allow them to visit friends before leaving for England, where they will complete their training. A number of the men have just completed eight months of service.

A VETERAN CONSTABLE

"NICK" TIMMERMAN ON POLICE FORCE THIRTY YEARS.

Has Handed in His Resignation and Started His New Duties as Garbage Inspector—Served in Stirring Times.

Police Constable "Nick" Timmerman, one of the veterans of the Kingston police force, has put aside his baton. No longer will he patrol the streets looking after evildoers. He has handed in his resignation to the Board of Police Commissioners, and on Monday morning commenced his new duties as Garbage Inspector. He will be the busiest man in town now for several weeks, for he intends to put forth every effort possible to clean up the city. If he succeeds he will certainly have the warm respect of every housewife in the city, for there is a heap of garbage to be carted away.

"Nick" Timmerman, as he is known to his friends, and they are legion, has been a member of the police force over thirty years. On April 1st last, Constable Timmerman completed thirty years' service to the city, and during that time he proved himself to be a most efficient officer. For many years he was engaged in making the house-to-house inspections for the Board of Health, and in selecting him as the head of the garbage system the City Council could not have selected a better man, for he knows the city well, and to use an old term he is "the right man in the right place."

There is no need of the Whig stating that "Nick" is a native of Holland. Everybody knows that. He came out from Holland when a young man, and upon his arrival he could not speak one word of English. He secured employment at Buffalo and several other places on the American side, and later on drifted into Kingston, and for some time was employed at the Locomotive Works. When a vacancy occurred on the police force he put in an application and was accepted, and this position he held up to the present time.

Constable Timmerman joined the local force in the days when there were stirring times, and he can tell some interesting stories concerning police work in the olden days. Thirty years ago the police were called upon to do much more than they do at present. In these days there were scores of saloons and grog shops in

The Board of Trade is to resume its meetings on Tuesday evening, when topics of much interest will be discussed. The street railway situation, touching cost for power, will be discussed, and the Kingston Fair brought into the limelight. The circular issued asks for a big attendance, for "if the business men are not interested in the railway and exhibition then the community as a whole cannot be interested, and the outlook for them is indeed discouraging."

Grand Opera House.

For this evening, Tuesday and Wednesday, the management has secured "The Dictator," with John Barrymore in the leading role. The story is a pleasing one and the intrigue is well worked out. The Pathe weekly, a two-reel Universal play and one-reel comedy will round out the balance of the picture portion of the bill. The Delys in an up-to-date dancing act will provide the vaudeville.
