The Kootenay district is to the south of the main line of the Canadian Pacific in British Columbia, while it is linked with the east by the Crows Nest Branch terminating at Kootenay Landing, the most southern point of the beautiful and picturesque Kootenay Lakes. It is a district which delights the tourist, the fisherman and the big game hunter. At Balfour is situated one of the finest hotels of the Canadian Pacific. The district is reached from the north by steamers through the lakes. The mountaineer also finds the Kootenay district after his own heart for it is full of virgin peaks. The Purcell Range in this vicinity is a great unmapped area and unknown save to the wandering prospector.

but probably will be in condition for the world's series games, it was learned. Barry has been at his home in Worcester, supposedly suffering from an ordinary cold. He visited a specialist and was told that his trouble was due to a carbuncle, and that several days would be required for proper treatment.

The retirement of Fred Clarke this fall will leave McCraw as the only member of the "Big Three," who for so many years dominated the pennant situation in the National Baseball League. Chance passed from the scene of baseball activities a year ago, growling and grumbling about the way he had been treated, despite the fact that he made enough out of baseball to retire to a life of luxury on a California orange ranch.

August was the month of extra-inning baseball games. The Chicago White Sox established a record of 89 innings in eight games, in three of which the Washington club figured as opponents. Evidently peeved that they should be used for such record-making purposes by the Chicago American League, the Washington players proceeded to go the White Sox one better by continuing the extra session games at St. Louis and New York until they had amassed a record of 102 innings in nine games.

That McGill will abandon Rugby for this season, was definitely decided at a meeting of the Students' Council, held Wednesday night in the Union, largely attended by the students and members of the council. The proposal to play intercollegiate games in aid of the Patriotic Fund was discussed, and it was decided that it would be impracticable, while the idea of entering any other union than the Intercollegiate was quickly disposed of. The abandoning of Rugby at McGill will give the members of last season's team who care for an opportunity of playing with the Montreal squad. A number of them have already signified their intention of turning out with the Winged Wheelers should there be no team at the university. The following is a statement handed out after the meeting:

"At a meeting of the McGill Students' Council, held last night, it was officially decided that the university would not participate in senior Rugby this fall. The proposal to run an intercollegiate series in aid of the Patriotic Fund was discussed, but was found impracticable."

The Toronto Globe says: On Monday morning next at 9 o'clock another draft of local sportsmen will leave for Kingston to join the recently-organized aquatic battery of artillery. Thirty additional recruits have been signed. Not all of them are aquatic men, but all are accomplished athletes in various branches of sport.

The battery will have a football team in the league which it is proposed to organize at Kingston to include the battery, Queen's University and the infantry battalion stationed there. In the event of the soldiers remaining at the Limestone City during the winter a hockey league will also be organized.

"Bob" Dibble, the champion oarsman of the United States and Canada, will be one of the party to leave Toronto on Monday. He will be given a send-off by the Don Rowing Club. Among the other athletes who will accompany the sculling champion are B. Lepper, Lindsay Wright, Herbert Arnott, William Elder, H. Cassidy, George Armstrong, J. Price, W. Knapp, J. M. Findlay, Donald McKeag, F. M. Wilson, B. Weatherbee, J. Cobban, T. L. Wright, E. Barber, E. Hoare, H. M. Moore, "Jack" Moore, C. Barker, R. Brophy and A. Palmer.

Among the men in the battery are several football players from the Hamilton teams, London and Montreal.

THE SPORT REVIEW

For the first time in many years C. Mack will witness the world's baseball series from the grand stand perspective.

Cecil McVilly, winner of the Diamond Sculls at Henley Regatta in 1913, is in an Australian regiment destined for Europe.

Boston seats for the world's baseball series will range in price from 50 cents to $5. Box seats will sell for the latter figure and the far bleachers for the former. Grand stand seats will sell for $3.

Owing to the suspension of intercollegiate football, Mel G. Brock, director of sports at the Western University, is endeavoring to make some arrangements with the London O.R.F.F. team to play under the name of the college.

Esten Darch, an enthusiastic Port Hope hockey player, familiarly known as "Pete," has given up a responsible position to enlist with the 9th Field Battery, at Toronto. Lorne Emerson, another of Port Hope's star hockeyists, has accompanied him.

The successful effort of the Ottawa lacrosse veterans to raise money for the Patriotic Fund at their game last Saturday had the effect of awakening the football veterans of the capital. They are planning a veterans' game on Thanksgiving Day against this year's Ottawa team.

The fact that the O.R.F.U. has turned down the applications of two Niagara training camp teams of overseas battalions to affiliate with the O.R.F.U. this season gives rise to the assumption that the second request of the 79th Battalion, encamped in this city, will share a similar fate.

Toronto Star:—Running a man 100 yards and making him drop flat on the ground every 10 yards is a stunt of McEvenue's that will reduce some of the too-well-cushioned Argonauts stomachs. He had the men dropping like logs, and it came hard for the big fellows. It is great for condition, however.

George Bush, who played for the St. Patrick's last year, and Art Murphy, a brilliant young quarter-back, who starred for Ottawa Intermediates two years ago, will be with the Senators this season. Bush was recently reinstated by the A.A.U., having

The National Lacrosse Club is looking for other teams to conquer, and has made a big offer to the Toronto Tecumsehs to play in Montreal Sunday.

Madden may also take a course at the Montreal University.

"Red" Flannery's broken collarbone is giving him trouble again this season, and he has been moved from flying wing to a scrimmage position by the Hamilton Rowing Club. That will be welcome news to some of the wings on opposing teams, says the Toronto Globe.

Hamilton Tigers have three coaches in charge of their team: Ben Simpson looks after the rear guard, Bob Ibbester is grooming the line men, and Harry Glasford is paying attention to the outside wings.

The first accident of the football practice at Hamilton occurred at the practice of the Rowing Club team at the Jockey Club grounds. Hamburg, one of last year's intermediates, was tackling Lorne Gatenby, and struck with such force that he broke his collarbone, and as a result will be out of the game for the balance of the season.

"Joe" Jeannette, the negro heavyweight, has decided to retire. "Willard has drawn the color line, and that about lets me out," said Jeannette. "There is no one for me to fight any more, and so I have quit the ring game for good." Jeannette is running a line of "jitney" autos in Hoboken, N.J., and is said to be doing well.

In speaking of the likelihood of McGill joining the O.R.F.U., Secretary Howard Melville, of the Students' Council, stated that there was no chance of their becoming members. It would hardly do to abandon intercollegiate Rugby and throw in their lot with another association in the feeling of the McGill students.

With a record of 1.53 for a mile, Ullian, the world's champion trotter, is recognized as the greatest gelding of all time. His owner is C. K. G. Billings. Ullian was shown at the New York State Fair at Syracuse, N.Y., with Mr. Billings in the saddle. Ullian is reputed to have cost Mr. Billings $50,000 several years ago. Lack of competitors resulted in the retirement of the great campaigner.

"Jack" Barry, captain of the Red Sox, may not get able to play again during the American League season.
