

Bulgaria Rejects The Russian Ultimatum

MORE OF THE ALLIES LANDING IN GREECE

The Resignation of Venizelos Cannot Affect Interests of Greece--The Greek Nation Intends to Remain Faithful to its Engagements.

(Special to the Whig.)

Paris, Oct. 6.—The resignation of Premier Venizelos will not stop the landing of Allied troops for the defence of Serbia, it was stated officially here this afternoon.

Turkish troops are moving toward the Bulgarian border to join hands with Bulgaria, according to despatches received here to-day.

More French troops, it is reported here, are being landed at Salonika to-day, though the War Office has not confirmed this statement.

The Allies, it was officially intimated, count upon the support of the Greek people in their efforts to prevent the Bulgarian Czar from dominating the Balkans.

May Be Forced to Reconsider Resignation.

Official circles cling to the belief that the Greek Chamber will refuse to accept the new ministry, and that Venizelos will be forced to reconsider his resignation.

"The resignation of Premier Venizelos, even if persisted in, cannot affect the interests of Greece nor stop the landing of troops by the Allies for the assistance of Serbia," it was stated.

"The troops were enthusiastically acclaimed by the Greeks, who understand their cause is the Allies' cause, and that their cause will be defended in any event against Bulgarian enterprise. The Greek nation intends to remain faithful to its engagements."

Resignation of Cabinet Accepted.

(Special to the Whig.)

Athens, Oct. 5.—The formal resignation of the Venizelos Cabinet was promptly accepted by King Constantine, who is willing to go to almost any extreme to insure Greece against any aggressive act by Bulgaria, but does not wish to array Greece against Germany and Austria, it was stated here to-day, in explanation of his disagreement with Premier Venizelos.

Mobilization of the Greek armies will continue, and a close watch will be kept on the Serbo-Bulgarian developments. The King, however, feared certain steps being undertaken by the Venizelos Ministry were leading the nation into an open alliance with France and England.

It is stated here that Roumania has mobilized and is established on the Bulgarian frontier.

French Announcement Causes Sensation.

(Special to the Whig.)

London, Oct. 6.—Official announcement from the French Government that the sudden overthrow of the Greek ministry will not halt her armies in their march toward Serbia, caused the greatest sensation in today's complicated Balkan situation.

Officials here would not discuss the French statement or attempt to place a construction upon it. In some quarters it was taken to mean that France had been informed that the movement of her troops would not be interfered with by the Greek King. In others it was construed as a deft to King Constantine.

GREEK CHAMBER PASSES A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

(Special to the Whig.)

Athens, Oct. 6 (via London).—After Premier Venizelos had explained to the Chamber of Deputies the circumstances connected with the landing of Allied troops at Salonika, the chamber passed a vote of confidence in the Government. The vote was 142 to 102, with thirteen members not voting.

The Opposition leaders attacked the premier bitterly. They accused him of unnecessarily leading the country into the war on the side of the Allies.

The chamber was in session all night, adjourning at 4.30 this morning.

Premier Venizelos accused the Opposition press of "selling its honor to German propagandists." He won a triumph, notwithstanding the attacks of the Opposition, who protested "in the name of Hellenism" against the occupation of Greek territory by foreign troops. The premier gave a frank exposition of the attitude of the Government.

"Some time has passed since the entente powers have made requests of Greece," he said in reply to an interpellation on the occupation of Salonika. "To-day they ask nothing but this—they who offer Serbia, Greece's ally, succor in the event of circumstances which would require Greece herself, under her alliance, to give Serbia help."

"Great nations may with impunity treat treaties as scraps of paper. For smaller countries such a policy would be suicidal."

The wildest disorder broke out. The premier succeeded in dominating the situation, his voice rising above the tumult. He cried: "We have a treaty with Serbia. If we are honest, we will leave nothing undone to insure its fulfillment in letter and in spirit. Only if we are rogues may we find excuses to avoid our obligations."

Wilson Says U. S. Should Be Prepared

(Special to the Whig.)

Washington, Oct. 6.—President Wilson this afternoon struck out straight for greater preparedness in an address of welcome to the members of the Naval Advisory Board at the White House, calling upon them to unite with the Government in establishing a defence that would "command the respect of the entire world."

"I think the whole nation is convinced that we ought to be prepared not for war, but for defence, and very adequately prepared," the President said.

RUSSIANS HAVE RENEWED

Attacks On Large Scale In Dvinsk Region.

(Special to the Whig.)—The Russians have renewed their attacks on a large scale in the Dvinsk region, gaining initial successes near Kosjany and south of Wieszew Lake. The gains were annulled by our counter attacks.

Gen. Von Linsingen is developing a new offensive west of Czartorsk.

The death was announced on Tuesday of Karl Albert Staaf, former Premier of Sweden.

PETROGRAD'S ONE REGRET

Ultimatum to Bulgaria Was Not Sent Earlier.

Petrograd, Oct. 6.—Russia's ultimatum to Bulgaria is strongly approved here. The only regret is that the step was not taken earlier. It was believed here that the note might possibly open the eyes of the Bulgarian people. As the Novo Vremya said: "When the Bulgarian soldiers see the windows of the Russian Legation nailed up they will recognize what calamitous advents their Government has been leading them into. Russians consider it incredible that the mass of Bulgarians could approve of a war waged on the side of Turkey and against Russia, who liberated the Bulgarians from the Turkish yoke and brought the Bulgarian State into being."

The Retch, whose editor, M. Millukoff, is one of the chief Russian authorities on the Balkan question, has throughout advocated a policy of extreme toleration for Bulgaria and of patient consideration for Bulgarian national claims, but now the Retch admits that further toleration would be sheer remissness and declares: "The future of this unhappy land, Bulgaria, is shrouded in gloom, and we do not doubt that the authors of this national catastrophe, which far exceeds the calamities of 1913, are now fated to be the objects of hatred of their mortified contemporaries in the courses of posterity."

No repressive measures will, it is taken against Bulgarians living in Russia and every effort will be made to show that the displeasure of the Russian Government is directed against the Sofia Government and not against the Bulgarian people. Many Bulgarians are serving as volunteers in the Russian army and civilian Bulgarian residents in Petrograd and Moscow already are expressing their desire to become Russian subjects and fight in the Russian cause.

Has Rejected
the Ultimatum
From Russia

(Special to the Whig.)
London, Oct. 6.—Petrograd despatches this afternoon say that Bulgaria has rejected the ultimatum of Russia and has sent an ultimatum to Serbia demanding the ceding of Macedonia forthwith.

THE BERLIN OFFICIAL

Says the French Offensive Was Frustrated.

(Special to the Whig.)
Berlin, Oct. 6.—An attempt by the French to resume the offensive on the Champagne front by heavy artillery fire against German positions was frustrated with heavy losses by the German artillery, it was announced.

"God will continue to be with our armies in the future as in the past," Field Marshal von Hindenburg telegraphed to the president of the Prussian Parliament to-day, replying to a message of felicitations on his birthday.

The Patriotic Fund.

Ottawa, Oct. 6.—Up to date the total cash receipts for the Canadian Patriotic Fund are $5,285,000. The disbursements to date and deposits are $3,477,000, and the balance $2,078,000.

British Steamer Foundered.

London, Oct. 6.—The British steamer Novo Castrina, from Newcastle, foundered yesterday. Her captain and crew were rescued.

Anglo-French Front Quiet on Wednesday

(Special to the Whig.)
Paris, Oct. 6.—An entire cessation of infantry actions along Franco-Flanders front last night and early to-day was reported by the War Office this afternoon.

There was heavy cannonading south of the Givenchy Woods, and at several points on the Champagne, Argonne and Lorraine fronts.

The French improved their positions slightly near La Poite by the use of hand grenades, the fighting being confined entirely to communication trenches.

War Tidings.

The Roumanian Premier has announced that the time has not yet arrived for that country to enter the war.

Gen. Cherif Pascha, a Turkish Radical, says the Young Turks have sold Constantinople to Bulgaria, and are to get Egypt in return.

GREECE IS IN TURMOIL

Cabinet Has Resigned Over Some Dissensions.

THE KING IS BLAMED

FOR CAUSING RESIGNATION OF VENIZELLOS.

Greeks Welcomed the French Troops, Whom the Greek Parliament Permitted to Land at Saloniki as Allies.

(Special to the Whig.)
London, Oct. 6.—Despatches from Athens this morning say the entire Greek Cabinet has resigned to-day. Censored messages declare that Venizelos quit not because of trouble with King Constantine, but because of dissension in his own Cabinet.

The French Cabinet met in extraordinary session this morning to deal with the situation.

Greeted French Troops.

(Special to the Whig.)
Paris, Oct. 6.—Salonika despatches to-day reported that the French troops were greeted enthusiastically on their arrival at that Greek port.

"Greek officials and the populace greeted the French troops as allies, and in the same manner in which the French received the British troops upon their arrival at Boulogne," it was stated.

MAKING SALMON

Cod Was Dyed Red and Sold As Alaskan Product.

New York, Oct. 6.—Announcement was made by the Health Department that it has seized 300 pounds of cod fish which had been dyed red and shipped to this city as Alaska salmon. This seizure was made Saturday at a cold storage plant and investigation at the Health Department laboratories to-day developed that the alleged salmon was the common cod with dye injected so that the outer layer of fish was a deep red hue, the second layer a shade of pink and the third layer a pale pink. Below that the fish was white.

(Special to the Whig.)
Newboro, Oct. 6.—Thomas McClement, who went from here with the first contingent, has had some war experience. He has been in five battles, the last one in June at Ypres, when he received several wounds from shrapnel. The most serious was in the hip, which permanently crippled him. He was also poisoned with gas, which destroyed his voice, so that he cannot speak above a whisper. He has been since June in a hospital in France, and later was removed to Netley, England, until Sept. 19th, when he received his discharge and returned home on Saturday, since which time he has been shaking the glad hand of friends. In speaking of the boys at the front, he says they are happy and confident of winning. Asked if the Germans were good fighters, he said they certainly were.

Newboro Man
Has Returned
a Cripple

(Special to the Whig.)
Newboro, Oct. 6.—The new German "Two Tails" machine, which several times has been seen on the western front. The Russians have christened this novel machine "Two Tails". On examination it proved to be nothing very alarming.

It is little more than a German version of the Russian Sikorsky, with two engines of the Albatross or Mercedes static motor type—175 h. p. between the two bodies, and raised above them is the pilot's place, also armored. The machine carries six men and nearly a ton of ammunition for one light quick-firing gun and two maxims. The crew consists of a pilot, a mechanic, and observation officer and three artillery men.

Russian comment on the new German "Two Tails" notes with satisfaction that this acceptance of German principles attained by the Sikorsky monster plans is proof that Germany, which recently mocked at aeroplanes as compared with dirigibles, is now disposed to revise her opinion in the light of her war experience with the boasted Zeppelins.

HELD AT NAPANEE.

Belleuille Man Arrested On Serious Charge.

(By Our Own Correspondent.)
Napanee, Oct. 6.—Oscar Deschene, Belleuille, was arrested early this morning on a farm six miles west of Belleuille. It was alleged that he was implicated in a forgery case here.

The charge against him is that of "aiding and abetting" one Edward Snider. He was placed under arrest by Sergt. Nathan and Constable Donovan, and will be arraigned before Magistrate Rankin.

(Special to the Whig.)
Paris, Oct. 6.—A battle of decisive character is believed to be imminent on the Anglo-French front. Artillery fire has been breaking over the trenches on both sides for forty-eight hours without interruption. The Germans are massing reserves to meet expected attacks and to launch counter-offensives.

The greatest activity is reported from Labasse south to Arras. The Germans have been shelling British positions for many hours, evidently in preparation for an infantry thrust. Along the Champagne front the Teutons have emerged from their trenches at several points, planning bomb raids on the French works.

GREAT BATTLE IMMINENT ON ANGLO-FRENCH FRONT

FREE CABLE ENQUIRIES.

War Office Memorandum Of Interest To Canadians.

London, Oct. 6.—In a memorandum issued the War Office direct enquiries regarding officers of Canadian forces should be addressed to the officer in charge of the Records of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, 7 Millbank street, Westminster.

By an arrangement with the cable companies, free enquiries by the next of kin regarding the condition of officers more than slightly wounded or seriously ill will be permitted through the Government authorities at Ottawa.

NEW AVIATION SCHEME

War Office Plans For Training Overseas Candidates.

Toronto, Oct. 6.—J. A. D. McCurdy, of the Curtis Aeroplane Works in Ottawa, will be Premier Sir Robert Borden concerning aviation matters, including wintering arrangements for the flying school.

Major Ross Hume, who has received large numbers of applications for training from Canadians who wish to join the Royal Flying Corps stated that he could accept no more students in the meantime, as the British War Office was considering a new scheme for training candidates from the dominions.

Night Clubs
Are a Danger to London

London, Oct. 6.—The night club scandal is still engaging the attention of the London press, which is urging the Government to take action. The Bishop of London, in a letter to the Times, states that he has placed before the authorities evidence collected by the London Council for the promotion of public morality, which evidence convinces him that the continued existence of these clubs is a danger to the capital of the Empire at war. A Times editorial asserts there are between 150 and 200 of these clubs in Soho, which constitute a crying evil.

The Pall Mall Gazette asks why the Government hesitate to act daily for patriotism and frugality permits the business to continue, which is flagrantly subversive of both.

IS ZEPPELIN IN DISFAVOR?

What Russians Note Of Giant Aeroplane Capture.

Petrograd, Oct. 6.—The Russians recently brought down three aeroplanes, among them one which proved to be a rare prize, namely the latest pattern Zeppelin, which several times has been seen on the western front. The Russians have christened this novel machine "Two Tails".

On examination it proved to be nothing very alarming. It is little more than a German version of the Russian Sikorsky, with two engines of the Albatross or Mercedes static motor type—175 h. p. between the two bodies, and raised above them is the pilot's place, also armored. COLORS PRESENTED TO 59TH BATTALION

An Address Was Given By the Minister of Militia--Mrs. R. S. Waldron Presented the Colors And Capt. Compton Consecrated Them.

The 59th Battalion on Wednesday afternoon was presented with a set of regimental colors by Mrs. Richard S. Waldron in the presence of one of the most distinguished gatherings of the town. The Minister of Militia spoke, and addresses were also given by Col. T. D. R. Hemming, W. F. Nickle, M.P., and Lieut.-Col. H. J. Dawson, O. C. 59th Battalion.

The scene of the presentation was very martial, being on the parade ground of the battalion, with the long line of tents as a background. A platform and a long line of benches were placed at the south of the parade ground, and the visitors watched the ceremony from behind a large Union Jack. The wind blowing across the field made the rain did not come, and everything went off splendidly.

The battalion was drawn up forming three sides of a square, while the large crowd of visitors formed the fourth. The Minister of Militia, accompanied by Col. T. D. R. Hemming and other officers, made a minute inspection of the battalion, walking along the line, the Minister paying close attention to every man. After the party had returned to the platform, the brass and bugle bands of the battalion marched across the field playing martial airs.

The colors had previously been placed on three drums directly opposite to the platform, and on the other side of the field. Mrs. Waldron and Capt. Compton then led the platform and walked to the place where the colors were in charge of Lieut.-Col. H. J. Dawson, Major Cameron and Major W. H. Craig.

The band first played "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and then Capt. Compton, battalion chaplain, consecrated the colors. The colors were then presented by Mrs. Waldron to Col. Dawson and were taken by Lieuts. Barber and Donald, who officiated as standard-bearers.

The battalion came to attention, and the band played "God Save the King." When Mrs. Waldron returned to the platform she was presented by Capt. R. H. Weddell with a beautiful bouquet of roses.

Minister of Militia Speaks.
Addressing himself to Lieut.-Col. Dawson, the officers and N. C. O.'s and men of the 59th Battalion, the Minister of Militia said: "It affords me great pleasure to be here to-day to the presentation of the regimental colors to the 59th Battalion. I hope at an early date that the 59th Battalion will be able to leave Canada, and taking leave of Canada will carry across with them the love of liberty and the pride in their Empire which has persuaded you to don a uniform and be a member of the 59th Battalion on this auspicious occasion."

"This war has been a revelation to the world. It has shown that it is possible to train soldiers from the ranks of civilians that are equal and superior to any that Germany has been training for years and for years. A little over a year ago to-day 33,000 men sailed from these shores, and in other places they have made the name of Canada renowned the world over. At the battle of St. Julien the line was broken, and they were left without support by the retreat of the French, and they were literally hanging in the air for five miles. The Canadians drew back, and for five days and five nights they held out against ten times their number, and they held those lines to-day.

"The officers and men were high-spirited, as I am sure the officers and men of this regiment are. I believe I know a number of you, that you will be as good as those of our first contingent. The officers that are wanted at the front must be willing and able to lead men. I know Col. Dawson, know his character, and knew what I was doing when I recommended him for the position in charge of the 59th Battalion. I knew that he took a pride in the country, in his soldiers, and I am sure that the spirit of liberty will ever prevail with him and his men. We will watch your gallant soldiers, Col. Dawson, wherever you will go, and I feel confident that the 59th will return to Canada bringing glory on themselves, Kingston, Canada, and the Empire."

Col. Hemming's Address.
Col. T. D. R. Hemming, District Officer Commanding and Camp Commandant, in addressing himself to Col. Dawson and his officers, N. C. O.'s and men, said: "You have to-day been presented with a set of colors by Mrs. Waldron. Those colors represent much more than the mere fact that they are flags. They represent the honor of the 59th Battalion, and it is your duty to uphold that honor not only at the front, but here at Barriefield and in Kingston. The colors will not be taken to the front, but never forget that they are behind you, and that your actions will reflect and stain those colors unless you look up to and honor them. I am proud to recall that the 59th Battalion is virtually two battalions, as 1,100 men are now overseas, and there are again over 1,200 men in the ranks. This is a splendid record considering that the battalion was organized only on June 21st last. I congratulate Col. Dawson and his officers, and I doubt if any battalion that has been trained in Canada will do better work at the front. I know that you are capable of doing and have done to my knowledge, eighteen, twenty and twenty-two mile marches without a man falling out. Never forget that the colors that you have been presented with to-day represent your honor, and you should defend that honor in the camp and elsewhere in your conduct as a soldier."

W. F. Nickle, M.P.
W. F. Nickle, in his address, said: "There are times in a man's life when he wishes that he was blessed with the lung power of the Minister of Militia. In this particular, lawyers have to give way to military men. Clad as I am in civilian clothes, I feel almost out of place here. I remember, however, that the best fruits of the overseas Canadian contingents came from the civilian ranks. The 59th Battalion has now taken on an individuality, and no longer exists merely as one battalion of many. I am proud to say that I represent the constituency in which most of the men of the battalion lived, and I am glad to be present at the presentation of colors under which the Empire fights."
