WHIG TOBACCO FUND

GOOD WORK OF WILLIAM HALL OF BATH.

There Are Books Still Circulating And Gathering Court to Buy Comforts For the Soldier Boys.

As an evidence of what our friends in the country can do to help the Whig's Tobacco Fund we have but to point to the good work of Wm. H. Hall, of Bath. Some weeks ago he remitted $11.00 which he had collected. To-day the balance of his donations are printed, amounting to $11.25. Thus the little village, through its energetic postmaster has contributed $22.25 in all to a worthy cause.

There are still a few collecting books at this office which ought to be out in the country picking up stray quarters to buy comforts for our soldier boys. Who will take charge of one of these books?

Each package sent to the front through the Whig's fund contains Canadian manufactured tobacco of the finest quality, 50 large, best quality Canadian made cigarettes, some matches, cigarette papers and a return postcard. Every cent donated goes to the purchase of tobacco, not one dollar or one cent being deducted for expenses.

The Fund now stands as follows: Previously acknowledged $753.14 Miss Rose McDonald, Louisville, Ky. 25

SEWING IN RUSSIA.

Canadian Woman is With the Red Cross in the Caucasus.

Many Canadian women are serving the Empire in foreign countries, but few have been called to do their bit in such remote and alien surroundings as has Miss Gertrude Nicol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Nicol, of Vancouver, who, before going to this city in its early days were residents of Niagara Falls. Miss Nicol is working under the Red Cross banner in Russia, at Alexandropol, a small town in the Caucasus Mountains between Batum and Kars, very close to the Turkish frontier.

At the outbreak of the war, Miss Nicol, who has spent a number of years in study in Europe, was traveling in Russia, and was near Tiflis. The difficulties which at that time were placed in the way of travelers were almost insurmountable, and she promptly decided that instead of making futile endeavours to reach England she would stay where she was and direct her energies toward fitting herself for service, and she at once entered a hospital in Tiflis, where she took a course in nursing. She is an exceptionally clever linguist, and during her sojourn in the country had become fairly proficient, so that, although her examinations were in Russian, she passed them successfully, a very difficult feat, as anyone who knows anything of the language will understand.

For the past three months Miss Nicol has been working under the Russian Red Cross Society and was stationed in Tiflis until lately, when she was sent to Alexandropol. Writing of her first impressions there, she says:

"Alexandropol is a queer little place, as much like one of our prairie towns as it is possible for an Oriental town to be like a Western one. It is situated on a plateau in the mountains at an altitude of four thousand feet. The population is composed almost entirely of Armenians, but the military element is, of course, Russian. The barracks, which is known as 'Cossacks' Post,' is a short distance from the town. There are thirty-eight buildings already in use and still many more to be fitted up. As this is a receiving point we get our patients direct from the front and will have beds for three thousand. There are many poor fellows who have nervous and mental troubles. Those who are wounded are kept here until they are cured of their physical ills and then sent off to sanatoria or asylums, and the others are sent on at once to Tiflis in trains especially designed for such cases.

"We live in the most primitive fashion, not much better than the soldiers themselves. After much effort are all built of black volcanic stone and are most depressing in appearance. Our room, or rather cell, for it has iron bars across the windows, contained, when we arrived, two beds made of wooden slats and mattresses stuffed with hay, and a wooden bench. After much effort we succeeded in getting a tin water can and a little wooden pig trough to serve as a wash basin, also a table and a very unsteady lamp. Our doctor, who came with us, and who is a very clever and resourceful woman, has ordered comforts for us up from Tiflis. They are expected to arrive today, and will include camp beds, new mattresses, a wash stand, and even sheets and pillow cases."—M. D. in Canadian Courier.

Bully for the Women!

Colonel Noel Marshall, of Toronto, head of the Executive of the Red Cross, is most enthusiastic about the work done by the women of Canada. He told a Toronto audience recently that the women had already sent two million dollars' worth of supplies, and that of the $5,000,000 subscribed in cash, the women had given $4,000,000. In addition sixty-six girls had gone to the front as nurses at the sacrificial salary of $5 a week.

Colonel Marshall was only speaking of the work as he knew it through the avenue of the Red Cross, and this, indeed, was to know a good deal about the way in which women are spending their time. If, however, we add to the work of the Red Cross the other branches in which the members of the Women's Patriotic League are bending their energies, their toy-making, rug-manufacturing, employment bureau, and the rest; also the work of the Daughters of the Empire, and other societies, besides the individual efforts of women in every part of the country, it does, indeed, seem to be quite in place to add to the measure of praise which to one woman is rightly due.—Canadian Courier.

No "Canadian Scottish."

The Militia Headquarters do not know of any unit with the name "Canadian Scottish," and think that if such a detachment has been mentioned in the reports it is because of some error or excess of enthusiasm by a correspondent in naming them. In Canada there are the following Highland regiments: 5th Regiment, "Royal Highlanders of Canada," Montreal; 48th Regt., "Highlanders," Toronto; 72nd Regt., "Seaforth Highlanders of Canada," Vancouver; 78th Pictou Regt., "Highlanders," Pictou, N.S.; 79th Regt., "Cameron Highlanders of Canada," Winnipeg; 91st Regt., "Canadian Highlanders," Hamilton, Ont.; 24th Victoria Regt., "Argyll Highlanders," Baddeck, N.S.

New Brunswick Oil.

A despatch from Ottawa states that a very favorable report on the oil shales of New Brunswick has been received from Dr. Clapp, the expert who has been examining the situation. Dr. Clapp states that he found the prospects for petroleum in this province very promising. He pronounces the shales as superior to those of Scotland from which oil is produced. The shale belt is chiefly in Albert County, about 40 miles from St. John, N.B.

It is generally the man who would run at first fire that has the most to say in favor of the old flag and the blessings of liberty.

Blessed is the peacemaker if he keeps at a safe distance.

GAVE PURSE OF GOLD

TO CAPTAIN THE REV. S. J. M. COMPTON.

Who Is Leaving St. Andrew's Church To Go Overseas—Farewell Reception Was Held In St. Andrew's Hall.

There was a full representation of the congregation of St. Andrew's Church on Wednesday evening to formally bid good-bye to Capt. the Rev. S. J. M. and Mrs. Compton. W. G. Craig acted as chairman, and Dr. James Thord conveyed the regrets of every one in the congregation, but assured Captain Compton that the church that had given him his membership, including Captain William MacKie, born in the manse, would make any sacrifice at this time. He then presented the retiring pastor, who is going to the front, with a purse of gold as a slight token of the congregation's esteem.

Captain Compton was visibly affected at the parting. He referred to the generous reception given to his wife, a stranger brought to them. He almost felt ashamed to ask them to release him so soon, but the divine call to go forth where he could be of more service meant that no sacrifice was too great. Christianity and the Christian Church must do everything possible at this time.

W. F. Nickle, M.P., said there comes a time in most lives when a man must do his duty as he sees it or be forever ashamed of himself. Captain Compton was right in following the dictates of his conscience in giving his services. St. Andrew's people would always be found, unselfish in giving their best. There has been some disappointment to us in the war so far, but there was that, too, for the enemy. Canada, which three years ago hesitated in giving thirty-five million dollars, was now facing ten times that amount, and giving thousands of its best and bravest in the case of outraged civilization. While the men were going forward to fight, the women, like Mrs. Compton, bore their heart-burnings too.

Rev. Dr. Macgillivray, Moderator of the General Assembly, said a few words, in which he regretted his age, as he would like to go too. He complimented Captain Compton on his high sense of duty in giving up the pastorate of a good church for the common cause. "God speed the ending of the war and give the enemy a good thrashing," he concluded.

Prof. John Dall and others also spoke. Miss McLelland and Arthur Craig gave several songs. Light refreshments were served.

MRS. M'DONALD'S BODY

FOUND FLOATING IN THE LAKE BY FISHERMEN.

Remains of Wife of Captain of Schooner Cheyboygan, Which Foundered, Were Taken To Bath.

The body of Mrs. McDonald, wife of Capt. Edward McDonald, who was drowned when the schooner Cheyboygan went down in a terrible gale off Nut Island, a week ago last Sunday, was found floating in the lake five miles out from Long Point, about three o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, by Thomas Smith and his son, who are fishermen. The body was badly decomposed. It was taken to Bath, but Coroner Dr. Northmore, who was notified, decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

The body was identified by Capt. James Oliver, of the schooner Abbie L. andrews of Kingston, now unloading coal at Bath. Relatives of the deceased in Toronto, were notified and an uncle is expected to arrive at Bath, to take the body back to Toronto.

No trace has been found of the body of Capt. McDonald or the other three men—'Jerry' Lavis, William Joyner and Robert Milne who went down with the boat.

THE SPORT REVIEW

Ban Johnson, American League boss, is sure the Boston Red Sox will beat out the Phils for the world's title.

The Varsity: Before the war football was slowly gaining popularity in Germany. Charlie Gage and company will no doubt introduce the game properly in the Vaterland next autumn.

The Argonauts have notified the O. R. F. U. that they are quite willing to play an exhibition game with Toronto R. and A. A. at the end of the season, the entire proceeds to be devoted to the Patriotic Fund.

Hamilton Herald: With no college rugby in Canada this fall, we will be saved the annual controversy which plays the worst football, Big Four or Intercollegiate?

With Sinc McEwen looking after Argis, "Peep" Paisley after M. A. A., and Shaughnessy after Ottawa, McGill is certainly well represented in the Big Four this season.

A preference for a straight salary rather than a percentage of the profits of the club was expressed by a majority of the players who attended the annual meeting of the Montreal Wanderer Hockey Club.

Charles H. Weeghman, president of the Federal League club of Chicago, which won the pennant in that league, telegraphed to the National Baseball Commission, challenging the winner of the series between the Boston Americans and the Philadelphia Nationals for the championship of the world.

President Wilson will go from Washington to Philadelphia on Saturday to witness the second game of the world's series. A special box for his party in the centre section of the stand has been reserved. The president will be accompanied by his physician, Dr. Carey T. Grayson, and Private Secretary Tumulty. He will return to Washington immediately after the game.
