WALDRON'S

GREEK'S CHARGE FAILS SCEPTRE OF WINTER

SHOWN THAT ITALIAN ACTED IN SELF-DEFENCE.

M. P. George and Joseph Amodeo in Police Court—Greek Ran When Italian Made a Pass at Him.

In Police Court on Friday morning, M. P. George, a Greek fruit dealer, claimed that Joseph Amodeo, an Italian fruit man, had grabbed hold of him and threatened to kill him, when he was about to post a letter in the mail box at the corner of Princess and Clergy streets, on Thursday afternoon, but after the evidence had been secured, the Magistrate said it was quite clear that George was the one who started the trouble, and dismissed the case.

The evidence of Amodeo and witnesses showed that George had made some uncomplimentary remarks towards Amodeo, who admitted that he attempted to strike George, but that it was in self-defence after George had made an attempt to strike him. Jealously over business, appears to be at the bottom of the trouble. Amodeo was defended by T. J. Rigney, but George had no counsel, fighting the case himself. George claimed that Amodeo made an attempt to strike him and that he ran away.

"You were a 'neutral' then?" queried the Magistrate.

THEATRICAL NEWS

At the Grand.
The Feldman-Christie Musical Comedy Company drew a large attendance at the Grand Opera House last evening. A fine musical comedy was presented, "When Dreams Come True." The vocal selections by Beatrice Williams, Agnes Geary, Mamie Geary and Messrs. Bayard, Nelson Adair and Williams, were very pleasing. The dancing of Bayard and Geary and the specialty by the girls were well received. Feldman and Christie upheld their reputation as comedians.

To-night the company will present "The Girl From Kokomo," and on Saturday matinee and night "My Wife's Family."

The Grand Opera House will, on Monday, return to its regular policy of presenting high class vaudeville and pictures and for the first three days of next week an excellent programme has been secured. John Mason will be seen in the Dramatic triumph "Jim the Penman." A comedy picture and a two reel Universal photo play will also be shown. The vaudeville will include George Moore in a novelty juggling act and Clarke and Suits in a comedy singing act.

RUGBY ON SATURDAY

Between Queen's and Team of the Overseas Troops.

The opening game of the newly formed City Rugby League, on the Athletic grounds to-morrow afternoon, promises to be exceedingly interesting, apart from the fact that some of the proceeds will be devoted to Patriotic purposes, the personal of the two opposing teams, Queen's and Barfield Camp overseas soldiers, provokes the deepest interest. Almost without exception the soldiers on the team are men of outstanding ability in athletics. "Jack" Williams, ex-Queen's and Ottawa star, requires no comment. Eamey Stratton last year's Varsity clever quarter-back also needs no introduction to Kingston fans, but there are others including Capt. Gill, an old McGill man, and Bombardier Dibble, amateur rowing champion of America, who will be welcomed by the crowd which will gather on Saturday. Capt. Hazlett of Queen's has had a busy time whipping his new material into shape, and with a few players from last year, the team is sure to give a good account of itself. The 59th Battalion band will be in attendance.

FOR THE BLUE CROSS

An Entertainment Was Given in St. George's Hall.
The boy members of the Blue Cross Society gave an entertainment in St. George's Sunday School Hall on Thursday evening, and raised $20. The boys are doing excellent work for the society, and only last week in a box sent to the front were thirty-one dozen bandages for horses made by them. The bandages were sent to Capt. F. Welch, in care of Col. A. E. Ross.

There were eighteen boys present, and they delighted the large audience with patriotic songs, an exhibition of signalling, violin selections and recitations. Among those who contributed were Howard Fair, who gave violin selections; Peter Fair, John Alcorn and R. J. Nawes, who recited, and Gordon Jamieson and Peter Fair, who gave solos. Seven little boys gave comic parodies on well-known nursery rhymes, making them relate to incidents at the battle-front.

PAINTING THE TOWN.

Student Fell Into Hands of the Police After "Rush."
A Queen's student, who took part in the "Rush" on Thursday afternoon, not only got painted up himself, but started in to paint the town as well, but Old Barievorn got the better of him, like it always does if you stay with it long enough, and as a result about 8 o'clock in the evening the young man was "dead to the world" in a layaway near the corner of University avenue and Brock street. A call was sent to the police station, and Constables McCarey and Arniel soon had the tippler in custody. He gave the name of Andrew Premdis, and after sobering up was allowed his liberty, and did not come before the Magistrate. The student had been painted all colors of the rainbow, his face, hands and arms bearing evidence of the artist's work.

A Constantinople despatch says: The autumn equinoctial storms have begun with the utmost violence. If they continue, the landing of troops on Gallipoli will be impossible.

SCEPTRE OF WINTER

IN POLAND HITS THE MORALE OF THE GERMANS.

Who Are Becoming Discouraged At Trading Lives For Russian Land—May Attempt to Take Kiev.

With the Russian Army, Sept. 22.—There is every sign of an early winter. Peasant prophets all agree that natural signs indicate it to be a long and severe one. It seems incredible thus late in the season the Germans should contemplate launching a further advance in this country which is already bleak and dismal, swept by cold raw winds without a single important town between Dvinsk and Pskoff which can be dangled before the eyes of the soldiers as a bait to sustain their morale, which in spite of advances, is sagging perceptibly. The first taste of the rains and cold, now being experienced, heralds winter's horrible suffering even if the Germans proceed no farther than Dvina.

It seems the probable situation further south may reach similar conditions at once the Russian line is reunited further German progress merely represents trading Russian acres for German lives. Many experts believe the Germans advancing in this zone will gradually "dig in."

The possibility of campaigning in the south in a later session tends color to the opinion widely expressed in army circles with the last big movement of the Germans on this front this year will be a swing in the direction of Kiev.

The spectre of winter ahead and the gradual realization of the Germans that their summer campaign has given them nothing but huge losses are affecting the German troops, regardless of official statements from Berlin. I believe it to be an absolutely correct statement that the German soldiers are more discouraged by the German advance than by any other episode of the war.

The Russians are suffering small losses, compared with those of the Germans.

DEMONSTRATION CAR HERE.

Showing What Can Be Grown in New Ontario.
That the opportunities in New Ontario are many is shown at the Ontario Government's demonstration car, which has been in the city for a couple of days, near the C. P. R. station. In addition to a fine exhibit of things grown in this day belt, for the country, the car also has a fine collection of views.

R. A. Jones, of the Bureau of Colonization, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, is in charge of the exhibit, and has been kept very busy explaining the opportunities of this day belt, for there is not one exhibit in the car but what was grown by the farmers in this country, and placed in the car. Every farmer in New Ontario that it is good to see so fast. Every farmer in this district should see the exhibit. The car left the city Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock for Glenvale, and will remain there all day Saturday. The car will visit the following places:

- Harrow, Oct. 17th and 18th;
- Verona, Oct. 19th; Hinchinbrooke, Oct. 20th; Sharbot Lake, Oct. 21st; Clarendon, Oct. 22nd; Mississippi, Oct. 23rd; Snow Road, Oct. 24th; 25th; Lavan, Oct. 25th; Polger, Oct. 27th; Calabogie, Oct. 28th; Deseronto, Oct. 29th; Eganville, Oct. 30th and 31st.

During the time the car was in Kingston a large number paid a visit to it, and they were greatly impressed with everything from peas, barley, fall wheat, spring wheat, beans, clover, and vegetables of all kinds, in fact everything that can be grown are shown in the car, and the exhibit is a splendid one, and well managed.

QUEEN'S SCIENCE RUSH.

The Freshmen Were Given the Usual Vigorous Treatment.

The last but not least of the Queen's annual rushes was held on Friday morning when the Science freshmen clashed with the sophomores. The clash came shortly after nine o'clock when with about thirty-five on each side, the juniors and seniors started in each to decide which was the superior. It took three quarters of an hour but by that time experience had been gained by the sophomores brought them out victorious and the freshmen all were laid on the ground in a circle securely tied up. Paint, fly-paper and flour appeared from nowhere and in another few minutes the appearance of those being initiated was much changed. Barrels were brought into play, and these used to cover the minus quantities of clothing on the freshmen. The bunch was paraded down town before being allowed to go to their homes.

QUEEN'S MAN WOUNDED

Lieut. Edwin A. Baker, of Collins Bay, On the List.
In the list of wounded given out on Friday, appears the name of Lieut. Edwin A. Baker, of Rural Route No. 2, Collins Bay.

Lieut. Baker is a Queen's man, and a son of John Baker, living on the Bath Road, about four miles from Collins Bay. He went to the front this spring. The despatch does not say how badly he was injured. He was attached to the 6th Field Company, Divisional Engineers.

GERMAN RAIDER IN GULF.

Sailed From Pensacola With Crew of Huns.

Washington, Oct. 15.—The possibility that a new German raider may be operating against British shipping off the American and Mexican coast was admitted by officials today.

A small ship which sailed a few weeks ago from Pensacola, Florida, is the basis for the report. The State Department investigated the matter, and learned that her crew was composed principally of Germans, but no facts were established warranting detention or other Government action.

ALL FOR ENGLAND

For England soon will sail my boy—
The boy I love so well;
He's shaping with Contingent Two,
And I'm his sweetheart, Nell.
It may be months before he goes
To France, so far away,
But once he's at the battle front,
This is just what he'll say:
Chorus:
"All for England, all for England,
Have I entered in the fight;
All for England, good old England,
Well we know her cause is right.
All for England, rights and freedom,
I took training with the rest;
All for England, King and Empire,
Now I'm here I'll do my best."

I'm always proud to walk with him,
Admired by all who pass,
For grand he looks in khaki clad,
With shiny buttons brass.
Like poor old "Bobs," right near the front,
When came his final call,
I know my boy would give his life—
England must never fall.
By Elizabeth Grisewood, Toronto.

OBITUARY

The Late Thomas Vanhorne
Death made a sudden claim, in Thursday evening, of Thomas Vanhorne a well-known and very highly respected resident of the city. The deceased kept a blacksmith shop on Brock street, near the corner of Bagot street. He is survived by three brothers, Charles, John and Joseph all in the United States and one sister in the city; seven children, Mrs. Clegg, Vancouver, Miss Citney and Miss Ethel, Frank, George and Russell at home and Charles in Lethbridge. The funeral will take place on Monday.

Slavery Foretold.
Winnipeg Free Press.
A German economist has written a book foreshadowing military industrial slavery for Germany after the war. He says that with the enormous war debt to carry and the heavy losses of the war to make up, Germany will be able to compete in the world's markets with the United States only if she organizes her industries on military lines, with enforced conscript labor at such rates of pay as the State may see fit to give. The prediction is by no means fanciful; the prospect is certainly a pleasing one! It means nothing more than that Germany will become a slave State, with the mass of the people under compulsion. In the background will be the taskmaster with his lash and the sergeant with his firing-squad. It is becoming clearer all the time that nothing less than civilization as we know it is at stake to-day, with the issue trembling in the balance. A victory for German ideals means that the world will be organized on the lines of ancient Egypt with twentieth century frills.

Threshing Machines Kept Busy.

The men who own threshing machines and who have been doing the threshing for the farmers throughout the district have been kept on the jump. On account of the abundant crop, the threshers are charging 2 1-2 cents per bushel instead of 3 cents, which was charged last year.
