Curry Powder—A Welcome Refreshment—The Demand For Cigarettes is Unlimited—Public should use Librally.

Letters received from the front by J. J. Colmer, the London Commissioner of the Canadian War Contingent Association...

When a soldier returns from the trenches plastered from head to foot with tenacious Belgian mud...

Another field comfort which is particularly serviceable is a small tin of lime and acid drops...

Curry powder is found to be a very welcome addition to the regimental cuisine...

During the summer presents of football and other accessories for games proved decidedly welcome gifts.

In the hot weather there was a great demand for muslin netting as fly screens.

The demand for cigarettes is unlimited, as the quartermaster reports, "to everybody from the Colonel down."

The soldier is very grateful for the gifts of the people in Canada to supply him with these little comforts.

Soldiers of all ranks have sent the Canadian War Contingent Association assurances of their warm appreciation of the gifts which have been sent them.

"When consignments arrive," states one officer, "every effort is made to explain to the men the source from which these comforts are derived."

Field Comforts fill a very real need and the public should continue generous support.

LOUGHREED HEADS COMMISSION Five Other Members Of Board To Study Development.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—Senator J. A. Loughheed, it is understood, will be chairman of the new commission to be appointed by the Government to study a scheme of Canadian national development, with special reference to present conditions.

It is further learned that William Smith, the member for South Ontario, and a well known stock breeder, J. C. Watters, the prominent labor man of Ottawa, J. W. Flavell, of Toronto, Dr. J. G. Rutherford, former Veterinary Director-General of Canada, and E. N. Hopkins, Moose Jaw, a well known member of the Grain Growers' Association, have all been named as members of the commission, while other appointments are expected to be announced shortly.

Proposed New Station For C. N. Railway

Napanee, Oct. 16.—The Canadian Northern Railway has submitted plans for a new station, and of a new location for the building.

The proposed building is very similar to the brick station erected by the company at Deseronto, but is to have an extra elevation of three feet.

The proposed station is about 750 feet on the C.N.R. main line west of the G.T.R. track. The freight offices and shed will remain where at present located.

The plan of the building, and the site are on file and may be seen at the clerk's office.

The cost of the lands for the opening up of the proposed streets, grading them and building cement walks, would be in the neighborhood of from $2,500 to $3,000.

The question of fixing a site is a very important matter to every ratepayer, as the station when erected will be there probably for all time.

A public meeting to discuss the situation will be held on Monday.

A WHIG MAN ON TOUR FOUND EVERYONE AT WILTON ATTENDING A FUNERAL.

Old Whig and Circular Prized By Ross Peters, Wilton — Wilton Cheese Factory a Paying Concern.

When a big representative was passing through Wilton on Thursday he found practically every resident of that village attending the funeral of the late Miss Lizzie Hamilton, of Yarker, who died in the Kingston General Hospital on Tuesday.

The deceased, who was aged about twenty-three, was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Hamilton. She was one of the most popular young ladies in the district, and worked for Bert Babcock at Wilton for some time.

Miss Hamilton had always taken a great interest in Methodist church and Sunday School work at Wilton. On her death bed she requested that her remains be placed in the cemetery at Wilton.

Long before two o'clock the hour for the service, the church was filled with the friends of the deceased. Rev. F. W. White conducted the service after which the remains were placed in the vault. Clinton Smith, Harold Freeman, Roy Freeman, Carman Ashley, Yarker, and Archibald Simmons and Stinson Carr, Wilton, acted as pallbearers.

Old Whig and Circular. Among articles which Ross Peters, who resides on the Wilton Rural Mail delivery, prizes very much are an old copy of the Weekly British Whig and a circular announcing an auction to be held on Thursday when the Whig representative was at the home of Mr. Peters, he had an opportunity to examine these articles.

The newspaper is a copy of the Weekly British Whig dated, February 6th, 1879. Although it has been somewhat difficult to read, one experiences no difficulty in reading it. The bill announcing the auction sale was printed at the Whig during the year of 1869. It announced a sale to take place at the home of Reuben Whetters. Sidney Davy was the auctioneer.

Returns to Wilton. Thomas C. Rogers, who owned a farm in the vicinity of Wilton for many years, but who has been out west for some months, has returned to Wilton to remain for the winter months, while out west Mr. Rogers purchased a half section (320 acres) near the town of Oxbow, Sask. He intends to take his wife and family out the first of March.

When speaking to the Whig, Mr. Rogers stated that he was well satisfied with conditions here, he had found them. He has 200 acres ready to sow with wheat next March and eighty acres of oats.

The district where he is going to locate, there are a number of men who formerly lived in the Wilton district. Among them is Frederick Davidson who went west about fifteen years ago and who has worked hard, and as a result he has a mighty good farm. Mr. Davidson, before going to Oxbow, worked for K. N. Storms, who was then cheesemaker at Wilton.

Although he went out with very little experience on the farm he has made a success. He is at the present time a member of the county council, of that district.

Mr. Rogers states that the people in the west are kept in touch with the Kingston and district news through the British Whig which is taken by a number of the residents.

Wilton Cheese Factory. The cheese factory at Wilton, which is owned by K. N. Storms, is one of the best paying factories in

THE TENNYSON DICTIONARY

Tells of Characters and Place Names in His Writings.

A printed notice issued by Arthur E. Baker, chief librarian of the public library at Taunton, England, says that he has compiled and prepared for publication "A Tennyson Dictionary," in which the characters and place names contained in the poetical and dramatic works of the poet are alphabetically arranged and described, with synopsis of the poems and the plays, and he adds, "provided a sufficient number of copies are subscribed the work will be proceeded with at once."

It will be issued to subscribers at seven shillings and sixpence net, and after publication will be increased in price to ten shillings net.

"Sent to Coventry." The origin of the phrase "sent to Coventry" is far more obscure. It goes back certainly to 1647, when it is used in one of the English classics, Clarendon's "History of the Rebellion." The point is whether Clarendon's use of it was the origin of the phrase which has become so common in England. Clarendon, whose affection for the Roundheads everybody knows, took the opportunity in his history to describe the peculiar wickedness of the townsmen of Birmingham. He declared that they would set upon and shoot or capture parties of Royalist soldiers or individuals. These captured they sent to Coventry, to be imprisoned there. This is supposed to have been the origin of the term, though the alternative that it originated in a statement of Richard Baxter's, in 1596, has found some support. Baxter, whom George Jeffreys described in court as a Kiddemister bishop, explained in his writings that many of the sect of the Baptists wished to remain peaceably in Kiddemister. This indulgence, he declares, was not permitted, and they were forced to go to Coventry.
