

Sure Way To Get Rid Of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be soft, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use the Old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody will know.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

Eat less meat if you feel Back-ache or have Bladder trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, also you feel a dull misery in the back or kidney region, sharp pains in the back or side, headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's uricous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

BERNHARDT IN MOVIES

FIRST ACTING SINCE HER LEG WAS AMPUTATED.

Same Wonder As Of Old—All Evidence of Lameness Deleted—Manager Denies She Will Never Act Again on Legitimate Stage.

New York, Oct. 22.—The first acting done by Sarah Bernhardt since the loss of one of her legs by amputation last summer was shown in motion pictures privately exhibited yesterday afternoon at the offices of the Universal Film Company. The film was a screen arrangement of Tristan Bernhardt's drama, "Jeanne Dore," and was taken in France. It was in this play that Madame Bernhardt was appearing in her theatre in Paris when the trouble with her leg forced her to leave the stage. Madame Bernhardt's role is that of a middle-aged woman, and while she appears a trifle older in the pictures, perhaps, than on her last visit here, otherwise she looks the same wonderful artist of other years. Her great visual charm and her marvellous facial expression are still potent.

The film itself was so arranged before it was sent to this country that all evidences of the actress' lameness, because of her artificial leg, have been deleted. So the film, as it reached America, never shows the actress walking. In every scene in which she appears she is shown either seated or standing, and whenever she starts to walk the scene is immediately changed through the devices of the "switchback," the "cut in," or the printed legend. Thus, if Madame Bernhardt rises from a chair and starts to walk across the room to a window, she is seen to rise, then the picture is snapped out for an instant, and when it again covers the screen the actress is shown at her destination. The effect is no more confusion than in the average picture, which often baffles and irritates all but the incorrigible movie fan. The picture is so focussed that the feet of the actress do not show, so there is nothing in the many scenes of the picture, drama, which is melo-dramatic in the extreme, that would apprise the uninformed of her misfortune.

According to the motion picture people, Madame Bernhardt will never be able to act again on the legitimate stage. The directors who took the film so informed the company controlling the American rights. But William F. Connor, Madame Bernhardt's American representative, denies this, and insists she will make an American tour this winter as planned.

"Jeanne Dore" has been announced as one of the new offerings of her repertoire when she arrives. The pictures shown to-day, after further excisions and rearrangements, will be exhibited publicly, within the month.

ARMENIANS THANK POPE.

Rome Thinks Vatican's Remonstrance Has Been Effective.

Rome, Oct. 22.—The news that the Patriarch of the Armenians has thanked the Pope for his intervention in favor of the Armenians in Turkey was received here with great satisfaction, as it was thought that had the Pope's remonstrance to the Sultan had no effect, the Patriarch would have kept silence. The agitation in favor of Armenians has not ceased, however, as the people here have had too much experience with Turkish promises to believe the danger of outrages over. The plan of an Armenian captain to organize a corps of his countrymen of all the countries to fight the Turks was received with enthusiasm here and he would have no difficulty in getting volunteers among the Armenians in Italy.

CONDEMNNS AIR REPRISALS

Lord Alverstone Would Have Us Win "Clean" Victory.

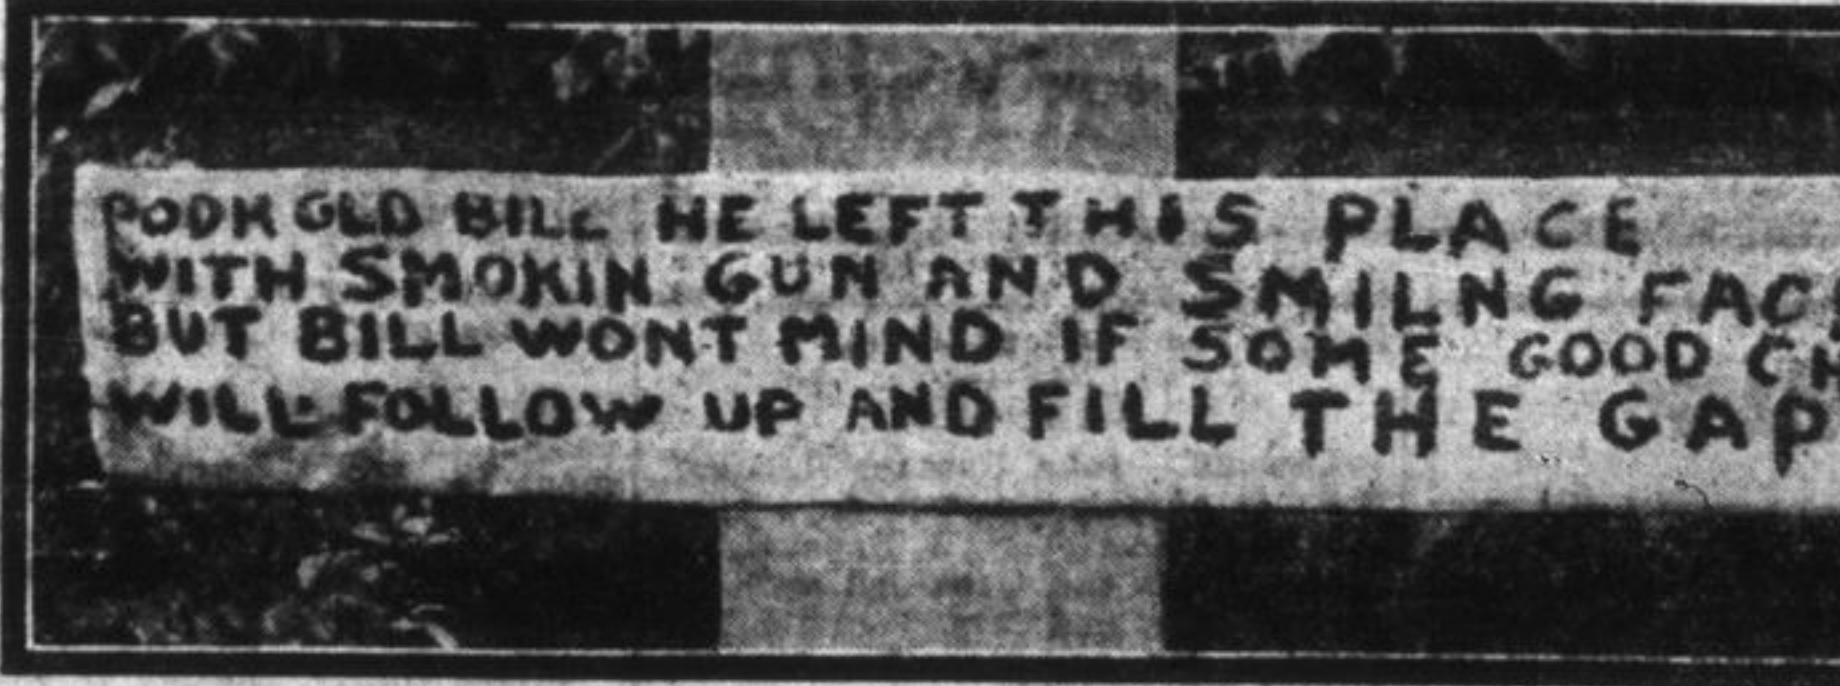

London, Oct. 22.—Lord Alverstone, writing in the London Times on the subject of reprisals for the Zeppelin raids, says: "The adoption of His Majesty's Government of reprisals and their execution by British forces will not in any way end or even shorten the war. They would simply involve this country and the British Empire in being a party to a line of conduct that is condemned by every right-thinking man and every civilized nation. The British Empire and her Allies are right and have the cause of justice on their side. They will gain victory over their enemies, which victory will ensure the benefit of the civilized world. God grant that the victory may not be sullied by the recollection of any conduct of which the British nation and her forces would forever feel ashamed."

Further War Tax Rumored.

Toronto, Oct. 22.—It is rumored that a Federal war tax of two mills on the dollar, and a further Provincial war tax of one mill will be imposed as a further levy to provide funds for governmental purposes. If this proves true, the Dominion of Canada will pay $12,000,000, the Province of Ontario $2,000,000, and Toronto's share of it all will be $2,160,000.

BLOODSHED IS AWFUL UPON THE BATTLEFIELDS IN LITTLE SERBIA.

Defenders and Invaders Alike Are Paying a Frightful Cost in the Unparalleled Conflict.

Rome, Oct. 22.—Warfare that makes even the seasoned veterans of the Russian campaigns shudder, is being waged in Serbia. It is hardly warfare—it is annihilation.

From German sources comes the story of how stubbornly the Serbians are defending their country against invaders. They are fighting the fatalists. Women are fighting side by side with the men. Boys and girls are dying beside their parents. The Serbian army has been augmented by practically every private citizen, male and female, capable of bearing arms. Few prisoners are taken. It is a fight to death.

Each inch that is gained by the Teuton and Bulgar is captured as a frightful cost—as deadly to the invaders as to the defenders. All of the energies of General Mackensen are being put to the test. His Gallian campaign was child's play compared with his desperate attempts to cross Serbia.

Twice the German commander has asked for reinforcements. Three new army corps, 120,000 men, have already arrived from Germany. But they are not really reinforcements—they merely suffice to fill up the gaps that have been made by the Serbians in their desperate defence.

The German losses have been enormous, but those of the Serbians are probably greater. The pitiable part of it is that among their dead left on the battlefields are many women.

The fight for possession of the town of Vranja was one of the most bloody in warfare—ancient or modern. The Bulgarians finally occupied it, but after frightful cost. The Serbs defended the place until practically the last man died fighting. The victory cost the Bulgarians ten thousand lives. The town was little more than a mine field, and defendants and assailants were often blown up together.

AN ENGLISH DOG GETS RECRUITS

He Belongs to the Lancshires, and Follows the Regiment Everywhere.

Stories regarding the various activities of dogs in the European war have been many. They have dragged machine guns into place, they have played the part of spies and sentinels and have done efficient work in the Red Cross and Ambulance Departments. Now, it would appear from the tale told by Captain Hunt, of the Herby Regiment, they have entered the recruiting service.

"When the regiment commenced the tour at Newmarket," relates the captain, "a Lancashire dog attached himself to us, and has now been with us nearly a fortnight. He is an English dog and belongs to a jolly good regiment—the Lancshires."

"He has been with us everywhere all through the march. He has been knocked down twice and ridden over by a motor car, and got up alive and smiling like a Lancashire soldier. He likes women and children men in khaki, but he cannot get along with male civilians between the ages of 19 and 40. After a recruiting meeting we always let him loose. He has brought us a lot of recruits."

KLUCK 50 YEARS IN ARMY.

German General, Restored to Health, Ready For Duty.

Berlin, Oct. 22, via wireless to Sayville.—General Alexander H. R. von Kluck, the famous commander of the German first army in the drive through Belgium and France during the early months of the war and who was wounded by shrapnel fire on the front in France last spring, received a correspondent of the Overseas News Agency on the recent celebration of the 50th anniversary of the general's entrance into the German army service.

"As the correspondent was paying his respects," says the News Agency "hearty congratulations were coming in by messengers from all over the Empire. A special remembrance from Emperor William to the general, which the correspondent was shown, was a beautiful portrait of the Emperor."

"The general's health is restored and he is ready for a return to duty, although one wound on his shoulder is still open. His oldest son was killed at Lombarde, and his second son, a civil engineer, was reserve lieutenant in the wireless telegraph service, was severely injured in an automobile accident."

Rev. Harry E. Woolver, Syracuse, N.Y., has resigned as editor of the Northern Christian Advocate to become assistant editor of the Christian Advocate of New York city, the leading publication of the Methodist Church.

THE PATRIOTIC FUND.

Citizens Of German Descent Have Given Generously.

Ottawa, Oct. 22.—A statement prepared by the officials of the Canadian Patriotic Fund associates, showing what some of the cities and towns have contributed to the National fund during the first year of the war, gives the decidedly interesting information that some of the Ontario towns where the citizens of German descent predominate have contributed relatively the largest amount per capita. Berlin, for instance, has contributed during the past 12 months $50,000, or $2.50 per capita; Baden, with a population of 1,000, has contributed $2,577, or $2.57 per capita; Hespler has given $9,350, or $3.95 per capita; Wallaceburg has contributed $18,375, or $5.34 per capita; Waterloo $19,565, or $4.50 per capita; Walkerville $36,791, or $11.18 per capita; Almonte, $14,488, or $4.80 per capita. As compared with these, Toronto has given $639,304, or $1.28 per capita; Hamilton $120,629, or $1.15 per capita; Ottawa $273,561, or $2.58 per capita; Keewatin, $6,657, or $5.50 per capita; Brantford $25,607, or $1.02 per capita; Peterboro $91,450, or $1.58 per capita; Kingston $35,056, or $1.75 per capita; St. Catharines $21,434, or $1.19 per capita and Oshawa $19,464, or $2.63 per capita.

Bridegroom Meets Disappointment at Favorite Hostelry.

Harper's Magazine. A San Francisco man tells of a flower growing abundantly near Santa Barbara which is peculiarly attractive to bees.

"Now," says he, "there was a young Californian particularly fond of honey, who used to visit a Santa Barbara hostelry because such a superior sort of nectar was to be had there."

"This young man married in due course, and the wedding trip included Santa Barbara so that the bride might taste this superb honey. But to his dismay no honey appeared on the breakfast table the first morning of their stay. The bridegroom frowned. He called the old familiar waiter over to him.

"Where's my honey?" he demanded. "The waiter hesitated, looked awkwardly at the bride, and then bent toward the young man's ear and in a hoarse whisper stammered, 'Why, Marie don't work here any more, sir.'"

THE ZEPPELIN MENACE

DISCUSSED IN THE BRITISH HOUSE OF LORDS.

Baron Sydenham Gives An Expert's Opinion on Combatting Air Pirates—Raids Can Be Prevented.

London, Oct. 22.—The Zeppelin menace occupied the greater part of the time in the House of Lords last evening. Baron Sydenham, who for many years was in the Royal Engineers, criticised the London defences. "The great difficulties of obtaining protection against aircraft bombs," he said, "have not yet been appreciated. The Zeppelin must first be found by a searchlight, the range of which is often considerably less than that of the guns, and is influenced largely by atmospheric conditions. The gunner must know the range within very narrow limits of accuracy. The time fuse of the shell must be set very accurately. The plane is to strike at the Zeppelins, is a matter requiring the greatest skill. The men using these guns should come from the trenches, where they have been able to get the actual practice."

"The question of the illumination of London is a difficult one. If the illumination is kept so low as to prevent the Zeppelins' crew from recognizing special objects in the city, nothing can be gained from further decreasing it. The lower the illumination becomes, the easier it is for those in the Zeppelins to see signals which spies may be flashing."

"The suggestion that aeroplanes should cruise over London nightly when Zeppelins are expected is useless. The real chance for an aeroplane is to strike at the Zeppelins when they arrive at the coast and before the light falls. Conditions in London are very different from those in Paris. I am strongly opposed to reprisals. I believe we can assure ourselves with proper organization, and the proper handling of guns, that these raids will cease."

No Nobel Prizes In 1915.

London, Oct. 22.—The Morning Post's Stockholm correspondent says: "The distribution of the Nobel prizes will probably, as in 1914, be suspended this year owing to the war. It is reported that a prominent English scientist was placed as a candidate, but the committee received news that he had fallen in battle."
