THE ATTITUDE OF THE BRITISH WHIG TOWARDS ADVERTISING.

The British Whig has faith in the integrity of business men who advertise. It has a great deal more faith in advertisers than it has in those who do not advertise. Advertisers as a rule are the most dependable business men in any community. They tell the public their sales story through the printed word and the majority of them tell it straight. The business men who make no advertising appeal to the public are not sticklers for uniform prices or qualities. They work on expedient lines. They rely on transient trade and work on the cupidity of human nature. The British Whig is helping its advertisers by continually advising its readers to do their buying only from advertisers on the ground that it is safer, more practical, more economical, more satisfactory to do so. The British Whig is putting confidence in business. Do you wish such co-operation in your business? Do you wish the British Whig to help you gain the confidence and trade of its readers, who comprise the great bulk of the people of Kingston and district?

BUDGET FROM YARKER

WHERE A COMPANY OF SOLDIERS IS ORGANIZING.

Red Cross Fund Augmented—Correspondent Says Real Estate Should Be Taxed For Patriotic Purposes To Reach the Mean Men.

Yarker, Oct. 26.—There will be no danger of an invasion of Germans to Yarker, as Harry Babcock is training a company of soldiers.

In the concert and tea given by the Red Cross in Benjamin's hall was a decided success. The proceeds were $180. The hall was filled to overflowing. W. J. Paul, M.P., was chairman. The speaker of the evening was Prof. Mulloy, Kingston. He gave us a very interesting address, and was attentively listened to. The others who took part were Mr. and Mrs. Aylsworth, Deseront; Mrs. William Dunn, Yarker; Mrs. Henry Huffman and Miss Mary Huffman, Moscow. Misses Carscallen and Smith, in their correct solos, were accompanied by Master Hiron. Entering Master Hiron is a wonder as a musician for a lad of fourteen years. A. W. Benjamin has now on two occasions of this kind very kindly donated the tickets, the free use of the hall and club room, and of his two autos and horse and buggy. The autos and horse were used by the ladies in the selling of tickets and the carrying of donations. This generous act is appreciated by all interested in the Red Cross work. One hundred dollars of the amount raised goes for the Lemno and Addington ambulance. The piano for the occasion was kindly loaned by Mr. C. Shultz, which was much appreciated by the ladies of the Red Cross. The hall was very tastefully decorated for the occasion, and had quite a military look about it. To show the interest taken by the ladies in this noble work, they have raised $1,100 and sent to Toronto 700 pairs of socks, 630 hospital shirts, besides wristlets, caps, scarfs and handkerchiefs. Yarker Red Cross takes in Colebrook and Moscow.

Henry Walker is very low with heart trouble. His son, Elmer, has reached Quebec on his way home. Elmer volunteered with the First Contingent for overseas service, and while preparing for action in France one of the artillery horses kicked him, breaking his leg.

We think it well if money is needed by the governments for this war, to put a tax on real estate, as many who have been solicited for a subscription will not give one cent. They do not understand the nature of this war, and do not want to if it is going to effect their pockets.

The old Sniker branch bridge has been torn away and has given place to a modern structure, which is a credit to the place.

Cement fumes are being put in on both sides of the river. The south side is completed. The north side fume is now being put in.

The Whig is to be congratulated in sending into the country as their representative such a fine, manly young man, and during his stay here he has made many friends both for himself and the Whig also. His letters found in the Whig columns come as a pleasant surprise to those who were well appreciated by Wilton, Yarker, Moscow and Camden East readers of the Whig.

Dr. Oldham and Amos Huffman, accompanied by their wives, returned home from Hay Bay, where they had been duck hunting for the day of the party, while standing in the boat, stumbled and fell, losing his gun in the water. It was one of the best makes, costing him seventy-five dollars. He undressed at once and dove for it, but was unsuccessful in finding it, bringing it up with him. He was none the worse for his cold dip.

INDICT McCUTCHEONS.

Grand Jury at Toronto Assizes Finds True Bill.

Toronto, Oct. 27.—After spending four days examining witnesses and investigating the business transactions of the accused, the Grand Jury in the Assizes yesterday returned a true bill against Gordon D. David S. and Clarence M. McCutcheon on the charge of conspiracy. At the spring assizes the Grand Jury returned a true bill, which included the names of J. H. McCutcheon and Marshall A. Cook in the indictment, but they were not included in the bill returned yesterday.

The accused are indicted on several counts: (1) Conspiracy to defraud; (2) conspiracy to defraud; (3) conspiracy to raise the price of land; (4) conspiracy to defraud Council Crest; (5) conspiracy to defraud Brockville investors; (6) conspiracy to defraud Mayfair Investments Limited.

A British Pusher.

Sir Thomas Salter Pyne, the latest recruit to John British Ministry of Munitions, was formerly chief engineer to the Government of Afghanistan, and that part of his life reads like one of the romances of fiction.

A stray commission from his Lancaster employers took the young engineer out to Afghanistan. On his arrival the Ameer commissioned him to develop the mechanical side of his military resources. The result was immense. With 4000 Afghan workers under him Salter Pyne erected enormous factories at Kabul and turned out vast quantities of guns, swords and ammunition.

Not only was Pyne the Ameer's furnished of ordnance, but also his master carter, tool-maker, clothier, stamp-maker, boot manufacturer, soap-boiler, tallow-chandler, and wheel-wright.

Women will vote in Denmark for the first time in the general election which is expected to take place next July.

W. S. Davidson, formerly a lawyer in Peterboro, is likely to be the new Police Magistrate of Calgary.

Goodale, secretary; executive committee: W. R. Fitch, R. P. Grant, E. T. Shepard; transportation committee: R. R. Fitch, E. T. Shepard, H. I. Lefevre; auditing committee, H. I. Lefevre, R. P. Grant.

The Park Association is in good financial condition, and proposes several improvements for the coming year. It has recently purchased the garage at Fisher's Landing, directly across the river, and also a ferry capable of carrying four cars for the purpose of conveying the tourists from the main land to the park.

All the members at the meeting were unanimous in saying that the past season was the best since the big fire in 1912.

PITH OF NEWS.

Despatches From Near and Distant Places.

London temperance workers asked the License Commission to cut off nine hotel licenses. Premier Norris of Manitoba said "free" wheat would put $15,000,000 in the pockets of western farmers. Re-organization of Canadian shell and munition manufacturing is in progress. Middlemen and political pull are to be eliminated.

A daughter of Gen. Sir Arthur Paget, who has been nursing the Serbian wounded, has been taken prisoner by the Bulgarians at Uskub. At Hartford, Conn., Sylvester C. Dunham, capitalist, and president of the Travelers' Insurance Company, died of pneumonia on Tuesday.

The officers and sergeants of the 70th Fusiliers, London, have decided to bar liquor from their mess rooms, at least until the end of the war. Premier Zable of Denmark says the Government intends to put in force June 5th, 1916, the new constitutional law conferring suffrage on women.

With the new eighty million war order Canadian factories will be contracted for about 250 million dollars' worth of munitions in the form of shells and their component parts. It is understood that the orders are to be placed subject to the rigorous conditions as to the execution and delivery of the work.

No General Election.

Under the parliament act, the life of the present House of Commons comes to a close next January. There fore there must either be a dissolution or parliament must pass a special act amending the parliament act for war purposes. The latter is the obvious course to take. The regular working of the parliament act has already been interfered with by the steps taken to postpone the coming into force of home rule and Welsh disestablishment. The nature of this interference has always been that if the war lasted till January, 1916, there would be no dissolution then. To hold elections during the war like the present would be both unwise and unjust. It would be unwise, because the fever of an election campaign would interfere, perhaps fatally, with the campaign for national existence; it would be unjust because all the millions of men who are offering their lives for the country by sea and land would be virtually disfranchised. Even if (which would be nearly impossible) arrangements were made for them to vote, no arrangements could be made to put the claims of rival candidates and policies properly before them, nor to enable them to take part in putting them before their fellows.

Always take with several grains of allowance the story that reaches you after going through three or four mouths.
