ESSAYS WIN PRIZES

OFFERED TO TOWNSHIP PUPILS BY R. J. BUSHELL.

Four Compositions By Children On "Why The British Empire Is At War".

Some time ago, R. J. Bushell offered money prizes to pupils of the Kingston Township schools for the best essay on the topic "Why the British Empire Is at War." Prof. E. S. Scott and W. Morgan, Queen's University, acted as Judges of the essays, and they have announced the following winners:

Fourth Class—1st Vera Price, Woodbine school; 2nd, "Jack" McCullough, Palace school.

Third Class—John A. Saunders, Woodbine school, and Russell Mouldy, Palace school, equal.

The essays are as follows:

By Vera Price.

Germany became involved in war with Russia, August 1st, 1914, because of Russia's sympathy with Serbia at the time of the assassination of the Crown Prince of Austria.

German troops, immediately entered France, and Luxembourg and England found it no longer possible to stand aside, because of her cordial relations with France.

Germany next demanded the unopposed passage of her troops through Belgium, a neutral country, protected from the attacks of the Great Nations by the Treaty of London, signed in 1839 by Germany, Austria, France, Russia and Germany. Germany looked upon this treaty as a "mere scrap of paper," to be torn up at will, but England regarded her written word as a solemn pledge to protect Belgium.

England stood against the passage of German troops through Belgium and declared war on Germany, on August 6th, and on Austria August 12th.

Had Belgium yielded to Germany's demand, the German fleet would soon have occupied Belgian ports and anchored "England's" command over the English Channel, and rendered her liable to attack.

England is fighting to prevent Germany from conquering the small nations in order to make herself one great World Power. That would mean the triumph of German militarism which wastes millions of lives to gain its ends.

The British Empire then, is at war: (1) for the honour of her written word in treaty; (2) for the safety of her country and her possessions all over the world; (3) for the freedom of life and equal rights for all nations; (4) for her very life as an Empire.

"O true kingdom of the brave, O sea-girt island of the free, O empire of the land and wave, Our hearts, our hands, are all for thee. Stand, Canadians, firmly stand, Round the flag of our Motherland."

By "Jack" McCullough.

The present struggle of the European nations is the greatest war that has ever been known since the world began. The countries of Europe are not alone engaged, but also their colonies which are situated in all parts of the world. Britain figures very largely in this conflict, her oceans are the scene of the war, as far as, or farther advanced in civilization, her government and laws are better than any other nation on the globe.

This great catastrophe befell the great European powers, June 28th, 1914, when the Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria set fire to the fuse. But this was not our Motherland's cause which were ample for entering the war.

Belgium has long been the "Cockpit of Europe" because she has never been invaded, and she has fought on her territory. Towards the beginning of the 19th century, the nations signed the "Neutrality of Belgium" by which Belgium promised to allow no nation to cross her land, the other nations promised they would respect this neutrality, and many one of these nations violated this treaty by crossing Belgium land. The brave Belgium people offered a stout resistance and managed to hold the Huns at bay for a time. Britain who was by honor bound to respect this neutrality, declared war on Germany and her Allies.

"We stand as guardians of the weak"

We burst the oppressor's chain. Britain's friend France was also being invaded without a sufficient cause by the Germans, she could not stand off and allow this. This is a war to end wars the Germans have preached that war is good, and a blessing, without war we have no other way to show Germany that this is false, and she must not break international laws, and go unpunished. For our own safety and the safety of our Empire. In the cause of liberty and civilization nations as well as individuals must keep promises if civilization is to be advanced. The German policy and preparation show they were determined to fight, and subvert England, and thus become rulers of the world.

When the crisis of July, 1914, occurred, Great Britain did her best to arrange a friendly settlement, her effort failed and now we are determined to show the German nation, and all other nations, that break international laws, that this must not and cannot be done.

"Hearts of oak are our ships, hearts of oak are our men, We always are ready, Steady, boys, steady, We'll fight and we'll conquer again and again."

By John A. Saunders.

In August, 1914, war broke out between Serbia and Austria. Russia joined Serbia, and Germany at once marched her troops through Belgium and Luxembourg to invade France.

Belgium was a neutral state and by the treaty of London, 1839, Britain, Austria, France, Russia, Germany, agreed to regard Belgium as a neutral nation and never to attack it.

Germany looked upon this treaty as a mere "scrap of paper" to be torn up at will, but Britain regarded it as a solemn promise. So when Germany invaded Belgium, Britain declared war, August 4th.

If Belgium were conquered and German ships were in Belgian ports, the coast of England, fifty miles distant, would never again be safe from German attack.

Germany is trying to make herself the one great world power, and would waste millions of lives in crushing the small nations. The Allies are fighting to prevent this.

Britain believes in freedom and equal rights for all nations, and would protect the weak. She is fighting then: (1) for her Allies; (2) for the honor of her spoken and written word; (3) for the safety of her country; (4) for her very life as an Empire.

Rule, Britannia, rule the waves, Britons never shall be slaves."

By Russell Mouldy.

The British Empire is now engaged in the greatest war the world has ever known. This great disaster befell the great European powers, June 28th, 1914, when the assassin, Francis Ferdinand, of Austria, took place at Sarajevo and set the ball rolling.

Of course it has been the sleeping and waking thought of the Kaiser of Germany to become master of the world and he was glad of an excuse to fight.

The nations signed the "Neutrality of Belgium", by which no nation was to cross her land because so many battles had been fought on her ground. The other nations promised to keep their word but Germany broke hers.

She did not care about her word. So England would not allow that. She was in honor bound to take Belgium's part. She wasn't going to let big nations ride over and crush small nations and all her colonies back her up in whatever she does.

England stood against the passage of German troops through Belgium and declared war on Germany, on August 6th, and on Austria August 12th.

Had Belgium yielded to Germany's demand, the German fleet would soon have occupied Belgian ports and anchored "England's" command over the English Channel, and rendered her liable to attack.

ALBERT WAS PLEASED.

Verses in His Honor Elicited Letters of Appreciation.

Signal recognition has come to Dr. Thomas O'Hagan of Paisley, Ontario, in the form of a letter from the secretary of the King of Belgium, expressing appreciation of some verses written by him entitled, "Take Off My Hat to Albert." The verses were originally read at a meeting of the Women's Press Club in Toronto, and a member suggested that an illuminated and engraved copy be sent to Belgium's heroic King. This was done through the medium of the Belgian Consul-General at Ottawa. The verses and the acknowledgment follow:

I Take Off My Hat to Albert.
Albert, King of Belgium, is the hero of the hour;
He's the greatest King in Europe, he's a royal arch and tower;
He is bigger in the trenches than the Kaiser on his throne,
And the whole world loves him for the sorrows he has known;
So I take off my hat to Albert!

Defiance was his answer to the Teuton at his gate,
Then he bled for his armor and pledged his soul to fate;
He stood between his people and the biggest Essen gun,
For he feared not shot nor shrapnel as his little army won;
So I take off my hat to Albert!

King of Belgium, Duke of Brabant, Count of Flanders, all in one;
Little Kingdom of the Belgae star'd with honor in the sun,
You have won a place in history, your deeds the world will sing,
But the glory of your nation is your dust-stained, fearless King;
So I take off my hat to Albert!

Here is the translation from King Albert's acknowledgment, which was in French:

"Office of the Secretary to the King and Queen of Belgium.
"La Presse, Aug. 11, 1915.
"Sir.—The touching and delicate words you have found to express to the King your friendly feelings have very much moved His Majesty. The Sovereign whose attention has been drawn by the beautiful illumination, adorning the verses composed in his honor, commands me to thank you sincerely and to say that he will be glad to keep this valuable souvenir.
"I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant,
"J. INGENBLEEK,
"The Secretary."

JUST WHAT WENT ON!

"The Fatherland" Describes the Honors of War Time in Canada.

Under the heading "Our Barkrup Lady of the Snows" there appears in the most recent issue of the "Fatherland" a fantastic, fever-prompted story of conditions in Canada. The "Fatherland" is a journal published in English in the United States, bitterly pro-German and financed, it is said, by the German Government. It is claimed that it was the mouthpiece of Dr. Bernhard Dernburg. Articles frequently appear from the pen of Albert Katschmidt, so well known in Canada on account of his part in the recent dynamiting outrages. The story is so humorous that a censor gave his consent to the publication of extracts.

"This is a story telling how the cruel British satraps of Canada have brought ruin and misery upon a once fair land. With tempting bonuses and honeyed words, they lured simple and honest men from distant lands (Germany and Austria) to lay their woods and till their soil," says the writer in opening his article. The satraps, who he mentions later, are Sir Robert Borden, Sir Samuel Hughes, and Sir Thomas Shaughnessy. The story goes on to say they received an order from Borden to intern all aliens.

"The servile satrap paled at these instructions, but obeyed them. He sat aside and stayed his hand. In all Canadian towns and countryside, from British Columbia to Quebec, the Canuck ran riot and typified himself with brutal Cossack deeds. He burned houses, plundered shops, and stoned unoffending men, women, and children in city streets and on country roads. No one deterred him. German, Austrian, and Hungarian men and women were dragged from their homes and slaughtered in the open. Native-born sons who defended foreign-born parents were slain—their daughters were brutalized by the mob.

"Then these fathers who survived were dragged, to desolate detention camps, old sheds, open to winter winds and rains; flung into factory ovens, starved, and left unclad. The mortality among them was frightful. The permanent illness was worse. One-third of these men cannot work again, and they have been lured into this country, remember, by the soft persuasions of the men who had done them these wrongs. And their wives and children in rags to-day still roam the streets and byways of Canadian cities, batts of the mocking mob, begging in vain for food and shelter.

"After the mob and massacre in Canada the Canuck stopped, breathless and terrified by his own work. Factories had been ruined, farms burned down, and unemployment began to raise his grisly head. The blow was beginning to recoil upon the mob. The shadow is now dark indeed.

Brain Amputation.

One of the wonders of surgical science has been performed in a French military hospital, where a wounded soldier has had a sixth of his brain amputated without missing it. The patient was carried in with a serious affection in the region of the cranium. Splinters of bone had caused an abscess to form in the left cerebral hemisphere. These were removed by Dr. A. Guepin, surgeon-in-chief to the hospital, but a fresh abscess formed, and Dr. Guepin was obliged on two occasions to amputate portions of the brain which protruded from the wound. The patient thus lost at least a third of the left hemisphere, but shows no special signs of trouble, either of motivity, sensibility, or ideation.

Short Leave for Troops.

All the French troops who have been six months at the front have been granted short leave. A circular has been issued fixing the order in which leave of absence may be granted. First on the list come the men who have won the Cross of War or the Legion of Honour. Next in order come the men who have taken any prisoners, and after these fathers of five, four, three, or two children. Then come "married men" simply, and bachelors of the soil, and last of all soldiers.

Chalk it down thoroughly on the page of memory that you are the reputation maker or breaker. The one who nurses a grievance keeps life in something that drives away peace and happiness.
