AS A SHOEMAKER, THEN BECAME DOCTOR

He Believed Canadians Would Dominate America—A Friend Of Alexander Mackenzie—Some Personal Stories.

Many stories are told about Sir Charles Tupper, who died on Saturday in England, but he did not tell many about himself. One of the few stories of a personal nature he related in his book, "Recollections of Sixty Years in Canada," is the following:

"I had an amusing experience during the first by-election after the Liberal victory of 1873, that of North Renfrew, where the Liberals announced three meetings. Our friends in the riding telegraphed me to meet Mr. Mackenzie, the Premier, who had been induced to speak on behalf of the Government candidate. At the ticket office whom should I encounter by Mr. Mackenzie? He seemed very angry and refused to recognize me. We both boarded the same train—on a line which at that time did not extend as far as our destination. When we got to the end of the run we found that the hotel-keeper had reserved us a small table for dinner. Seeing the situation, Mr. Mackenzie, who was not with humor, burst out laughing, and I confess I did the likewise.

"Well, Tupper," he said, as we seated ourselves opposite each other, "I guess we had better make the best of it. My friends have sent me a sleigh to cover the rest of the trip, so you had better share it with me."

"Thanks," I replied in dejection, "but my friends have done the same."

Friendly With Mackenzie.

Then and there we agreed upon the meeting. Mackenzie was to speak first. I was to reply, and the Premier was to be allowed fifteen minutes to close the meeting. I drove there in my own sleigh. Mr. Mackenzie spoke very pleasantly and I could only reply in kind. Then he used his fifteen minutes to make an effectual attack. I respected our previous arrangement and had to take my medicine. Mr. Mackenzie proposed the same arrangement for the next meeting and I agreed.

Sir Charles liked to make predictions, and they were always positive. Not long ago he said: "Many years ago I ventured the opinion that a child was born that would live to see the population of Canada exceed the population of the Mother Country, Hon. Mr. White, the Minister of Finance, enjoying better opportunities of judging, and he is now declaring that this will actually be accomplished within the next twenty-five years. I have little doubt of the accuracy of his prophecy.

More than once Sir Charles stated his belief that the day would come when Canada would dominate North America. "You will find," he said, "that the men of the north are the people that govern the world, and they will not form an exception in Canada."

So long was Sir Charles Tupper known only as a Canadian statesman that little is remembered of his early life as a physician in Nova Scotia, and it is a little known fact he started work as a shoemaker.

HOME FROM THE FRONT

SERGEANT SINGLETON SUFFERED FROM SHRAPNEL WOUNDS.

Served Under Capt. George Richardson, and Gives Latter Great Praise For His Work—He May Return to Front Later On.

Sergeant Harry Singleton is home from the front. He is now residing in Portsmouth, but at the time he enlisted he was living on Chatham street. He enlisted with the 14th Regiment, and served with Capt. George Richardson. He is suffering from shrapnel wounds in his right wrist, left elbow, and shoulder, and also a fractured jaw. He is doing nicely now, and has been given an honorable discharge, but states that if he is in good health at the expiration of his three months' leave of absence in January, he may go back to the front.

Sergeant Singleton had warm words of praise for Capt. Richardson, stating that he was forever helping and encouraging the men in their work. He says that after Capt. Richardson suffered a slight wound, and had it dressed, he was back into the thick of the fight again. Sergeant Singleton also suffered somewhat from the gas. He says that while many suffered from the gas, there were many who were not affected by it.

"It is certainly exciting at the front," said Sergeant Singleton, when asked by the Whig for his impressions. "For a man to say that he is not very nervous at first would not be correct. It catches you when you see men all around you falling. However, I liked the game, and I may go back again. I certainly would prefer going back to be serving on the home guard. To be on the home guard would be too slow, after being at the front."

Sergeant Singleton is wearing a special button issued by the War Office to all who have seen service at the front.

The Kingstonian is married, his wife having accompanied him home from England. At the time he enlisted she was ill in the Hotel Dieu, but on complete recovery from her illness, went over to England to be near her husband.

OBITUARY

The Late E. L. Dalzell.
The death occurred on Monday of Edward Leo Dalzell, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dalzell, 469 Brock street. Deceased was born in Chicago, but had been sick for the last year in the city. The family are Presbyterians.

TWO ACCIDENTS NEAR THE BRIDGE ON SATURDAY.

Floyd Parr and Man Named Coulter Are in Hospital—Latter Was on Way to Camp to Enlist.

Floyd Parr, superintendent of the Cataract Causeway Construction, was struck by an automobile while getting out of a van at the end of the bridge on Saturday afternoon and now lies in the General Hospital severely bruised. It is expected that he will be able to be out in a few days. Another accident on Saturday also resulted in a man having to be taken to the hospital. Joseph Mozier was driving a car down Barriehill hill on Saturday evening when it collided with a buggy in which were two farmers. One of the men, Coulter by name, was thrown out and had his face badly cut. The driver was uninjured, although the horse received injuries which will make it necessary to shoot him. Coulter was going to camp to enlist for overseas service.

THEATRICAL NEWS

"It Pays To Advertise."

Cohan and Harris, that always dependable firm of play-providers, are to send us their greatest laughing hit "It Pays to Advertise" direct from the Cohan Theatre, New York City, where this mystic maze of meriment was first presented. It is an engagement of fifty-two weeks on Broadway. "It Pays to Advertise" will be the offering at the Grand Opera House to-night. The very title of the piece sounds irresistible. Well, it is. Moreover, in order to find out why, one must see it. This is true, as anyone who has seen this charming play will tell you. It is a unique and absolutely original conception; adroit, satirical, farcical and yet always intensely amusing, clever and clean. "It Pays to Advertise" is one of the very few plays that one owes it to one's self to see.

At the Grand.

The celebrated singer, Miss Juanita Fletcher, last seen here with the Whitney Opera Company in "The Chocolate Soldier," made a tremendous hit, will appear Tuesday and Wednesday. Possessed of a fine soprano voice, she will sing the latest operatic and popular selections. Another good feature act is La Salle Duo gymnasts.

The feature picture is the dramatic star, Charles Kenyon, in a picture of Charles Kenyon's drama "Kindling."

The Kitties Are Coming.

Tom Marks and his capable company of dramatic and vaudeville artists, will be at the Grand Opera House on Thursday evening, Nov. 4th for one night only, presenting the romantic comedy drama "The Man From Canada" with select vaudeville between acts. An added feature carried is a kitties band in uniform that will parade at noon and before the performance on Thursday evening.

At Strand Theatre.

Charlie Chaplin in his latest two-reel Essanay comedy entitled "Work," a screaming satire on what most people despise, but have to do, will be shown the first three days of the week. Can you imagine the funny situations that "Charlie" will present in his attempt to demonstrate how "Work" should be done? In addition a five-part Broadway feature, "A Million Bids," starring that charming actress, "Anita Stewart," in 200 beautiful and enchanting scenes, will also be shown. This bill the management considers will please the most exacting picture critic. Usual admission.

At Ideal Theatre.

A Dare-devil Circus Queen This big sensational four-part detective drama dealing with the life of two criminals of extraordinary ability in which many thrilling and exciting scenes are depicted will be shown along with other good photo-plays, at the Ideal Theatre, Monday and Tuesday. Usual admission.

HAS HAD WIDE EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Brown-Lewers Reached the City To-day.

Mrs. Brown-Lewers arrived in the city early on Monday morning to take charge of the cooking classes which the Whig is conducting all this week in the City Hall. Mrs. Lewers is a graduate of Pratt Institute, New York City, and is also of Teachers' College of Columbia University. She has had years of wide experience in the practice and teaching of domestic science, and is perhaps one of the most qualified women in this respect in America.

The classes which began at the City Hall this afternoon are free to all the women of Kingston. There are no admission tickets and no reserve seats. The Whig invites any woman in the city and the county to attend these classes, which will prove very interesting and instructive. A half hour's musical concert precedes each programme. The talks and demonstrations begin sharp at 2.30 p.m. daily.

Donation Day.

At the meeting of the Orphans' Guild it was decided to hold Donation Day on Thursday, Nov. 11th in aid of the Orphanage, St. Mary's-on-the-Lake.
