THE HUMOROUS SIDE TUG IS STILL MISSING

OF EVENTS ON THE FIRING LINE WITH KINGSTON MEN

German Cat Brought Over Five Kittens to the Canadian Trenches—Orderly Feeding Them On Condensed Milk—Rats Still On Job.

Although war is a serious game, there are many humorous sides of it, as is shown from time to time, by the letters which reach Kingston. When the Germans sent the Canadians are within a few hundred yards of each other, something is bound to occur. A Kingston officer writing under date of October 21st says:

"A cat came over from the German trenches, the other night, and presented the Canadians with five kittens. They cried nearly all night in one of the dug-outs. One of the orderlies is endeavoring to bring the kittens up on condensed milk. One of them got into a rat hole, and is likely gone for good."

Speaking about the dug-outs, the officer states that they are fairly high. "But as per usual," he adds, "the rats are ever present. I came ahead of the company. We relieved a company in charge of a Toronto officer. I had a chat with our medical officer, who is at present stationed in a cellar of a partially destroyed house."

Another Kingstonian writing home about his experiences stated that "the flees were mobilizing on him and forming fours."

Two Kelly Brothers Write.

Thomas Kelly, Ordinance street, on Tuesday received two very interesting letters from the front. One is from his brother John, who left with the draft of men from the 5th C. M. R. at Barriedale on August 23rd, and who was drafted into the 5th C. M. R. The letter states that the 5th Regiment is now on the firing line. The other letter is from his brother James, who is with the Indian army. The letter states that the trenches are again becoming very muddy, due to constant rains. As he is on the headquarters staff, he is careful not to write military information. The other brothers representing the Irish and the English regiments are also at the front now. William, with the Royal Irish Regiment, was wounded, and for a time in hospital in England. The other, Edward, is with the Duchess of Cornwall Light Infantry.

Letter From C. Young, Cairo.

H. Sargent, Frontenac street, has received a very interesting letter from Clarence Young, with No. 5 Stationary Hospital (Queen's) at Cairo, which reads in part as follows:

"It hardly seems as though it is three months since we left Kingston. Time certainly travels fast here, and we are having a fine time. You could not beat the climate; it is certainly great. Yesterday afternoon we were playing baseball with the officers. Our baseball will soon be here, and it would take too much to send them from Canada. There is a dandy field here, right beside our hospital. It is a cricket field, and the sand is packed down very hard. Last Sunday three of us went out to see Cheop's pyramid. To climb it is some job. It is about 250 feet. You need a guide to take you up, as it is dangerous to go alone. Our guide was telling us that an Australian fell from near the top, and only struck the ground about the way down, so you can see what he looked like when they picked him up. There is scarcely any danger with a guide. We are going to take a trip to the Petrified Forest this week. It is about fourteen miles away over the sand. We shall go either on camels or donkeys."

Their First Real Fun.

A letter received here from a wounded soldier in hospital in England contains some unconscious humor in a description of the recent Zeppelin raid. "The fellows who could be mowed," the letter says, "were taken to the cellar, but us fellows who could not be mowed had a grandstand view of the sky performance, and believe me it was the first real fun we fellows had since coming to the institution."

Use Shakespearean Names.

The problem of finding new names for stations has been solved by the Kettle Valley Railway on its section through the Hope Mountains, construction of which is almost completed. Well known characters from Shakespeare have been selected. Their melodious names have a romantic character in keeping with the picturesque nature of the country. One station just north of the Coquahalla River Canyon is called Othello, another Lear, a third Jessica, a fourth Portia, followed by Iago, Romeo, and another station, is eternally separated from Juliet by Coquahalla Summit, which is 3,300 feet above sea level and not likely to be removed by anything short of an earthquake.

Called to Owen Sound.

Rev. P. T. Pikey, M.A., formerly of Fort George, B.C., and a graduate of Queen's, has accepted a call to Knox Presbyterian Church, Owen Sound. Knox Church has a very large and influential congregation and the unanimity with which the call was given is shown by the presence of 873 names on the paper. Mr. Pikey is one of the strong young men of the Presbyterian Church and Knox Church is to be congratulated in its choice of a minister.

Beautiful New Stock to Choose.

Arrived in England.

A cablegram was received in the city on Tuesday morning, announcing the arrival of Lieut.-Col. W. T. Connell in England on his way home from Cairo, where he has been engaged at Queen's Stationary Hospital.

WEATHER TOO ROUGH FOR A SEARCH ON TUESDAY

A Brother of the Captain of the Boat Arrived in the City to Assist in the Search.

Up till noon on Tuesday there had been no trace of the missing tug, Frank C. Barnes, which left Port Dalhousie on Monday of last week, (of Sorel Quebec, and which is owned by the Canada Steamship Company).

On Monday, a thorough search was made of the Prince Edward shore and the entire district, but no trace could be found and marine men are about satisfied that the tug went down, as it is stated that had the vessels got into shelter, Capt. LaRush would have got into communication with the Toronto office of the company.

K. LaRush, Toronto, a mariner, and a brother of the commander of the tug, arrived in the city on Tuesday morning, and will assist in the search being made for the boat. There is a very heavy gale on at present, and it will be impossible for a boat to get out until the storm moderates.

The names of the crew were not known at the Kingston office of the Canada Steamship Company, although it was believed that the two engineers had formerly sailed on the steamer Turbinia. As far as is known there were no Kingston men on the tug.

CONCERT COMPANY MANAGER

Owned a Large Grain Business in Antwerp, Belgium.

August Pheeldin, manager of the company of Belgian artists who appeared in Grant Hall Monday night in aid of the Belgian sufferers, had a big grain business in Antwerp before the war, but told a Whig representative to-day that he did not know if his buildings were destroyed or not by the German invader. He said that the Belgians were not complaining over their hard lot, but they would never rest until the barbarous Hun was driven from their soil.

Mons. Pheeldin, in accepting congratulations for the magnificent concert given by his company, said he could never have been able to bring here these stellar performers in times of peace. It was only because of their engagements in European opera houses that he was able to secure them for practically travelling expenses to tour the British Isles, Canada, United States and Australia to raise money for the Belgian Relief Fund.

Mayor Sutherland and Ald. Fair said good-bye to the company at the C. P. R. station, and expressed the hope that they would return to Kingston in February.

RETURNING TO KINGSTON.

Pte. Frank Smith Wounded At the Front to Return Home.

In a letter to his sister-in-law, Mrs. William Smith, Ellis street, Pte. Frank Smith, who left Kingston with the First Contingent, stated that he has been given his discharge, and is returning home to Kingston. He was wounded and was in hospital for some time.

The Board of Education will meet Thursday evening. The part the Board will take in the entertainment of the Australian cadets who visit here the latter part of the month will be taken up.

21st Battalion Needs Mitts And Socks

An officer of the 21st Battalion writes that the men of his company are in need of woolen socks and mitts for the winter work in the trenches, and would be very glad to receive donations from Kingston people who are interested in the crack battalion that Kingston recognizes as its very own. Some ladies are collecting in response to the appeal. Any one wishing to give socks or mitts for the 21st men can leave them at the Whig office. The mitts should have the trigger finger free.
