

NEWS ABOUT TROOPS QUARTERED IN CITY

The artillery work of the three batteries at the Dry Dock Barracks is progressing rapidly under competent officers.

The time-table is as follows: 6 a.m., reveille; 6.15 to 7 a.m., stables; 7.30 guard mounting and men breakfast; 8, sick parade; 8.15, office; 8.30, to 12, parades; 11 to 12, stables; 12.30 p.m., dinner; 2 to 5 parades; 4.15 to 5, stables; 5, sick parade; 5.30 supper; 4.45 p.m., retreat; 9.30, First Post; 10., Last Post; 10.15 p.m., Lights Out.

Capt. S. H. Simpson is looking after the dental work of the artillerymen and had a parade to Capt. A. W. Winnett's office where the work is being done every day.

There is such competition among the men of the batteries to be chosen for drafts that although no drafts have been authorized volunteers will be asked for among the men sufficiently trained.

It is understood that in future all attached artillery officers will be taken on the strength of the batteries. This will allow battery commanders to send overseas with drafts attached officers who can be held to keep the identity of the battery in case the unit is sent over in the spring as a unit, which is quite possible.

Lieuts. Hamilton and Boyd, 33rd Battery, had their men on a ride on Wednesday afternoon.

There are now 200 men in the 33rd Battery.

Six recruits arrived for the 33rd Battery on Wednesday. Two came from Campbellford, three from Toronto and one from the district.

The 33rd Battery had drill on the Cricket Field on Wednesday.

Lieut. Hyncke, 33rd Battery, who is recruiting in Picton, has reported that he is meeting with success.

The 33rd Battery is duty unit for this week.

Capt. Gill, 32nd Battery, gave a lecture to the battalions on Wednesday on entraining of guns and wagons, which proved very instructive.

There is a movement on foot to form the trumpeters of the three batteries into a trumpet band. Snare drums will have to be purchased if the movement is carried through. If some good father for the batteries would donate the $150 to buy the drums, in a very short time the three batteries would have a splendid trumpet band.

Lieut. McNulty, 33rd Battery, has returned from Ottawa where he was recovering from inoculation.

Major S. A. McKenzie, O.C., 32nd Battery, will be in Toronto Saturday.

Battery, had the unit on two drill parades and also had the drivers on a ride.

Major McKenzie does not hesitate to do the work himself, while his officers are engaged in other work.

Work will be commenced immediately on the erection of eighty bunks on the top floor of the Dry Dock Barracks for the accommodation of 33rd battalions.

Lieut. Maunder, acting paymaster, 32nd Battery, paid the balance of his men on Wednesday.

Major McKenzie is the proud possessor of a box of cigars won on a wager a few days ago when an important question was in debate.

The 59th Battalion will be in the city until end of the month.

Capt. Hamilton, 33rd Battery, and

PTE. HAROLD SMITH, of Kingston, who is fighting in Belgium.

Lieut. O'Halloran, 32nd Battery, have returned after a business trip to Belleville.

The office of the 34th Battery has received a coat of paint and is now one of the neatest offices in the Dry Dock Barracks.

Major R. F. Massie is in Toronto.

The men of the 34th Battery drew up some guns from the Artillery Barracks yard so that section guard-drill could be given more conveniently.

The guard house, detention building and sentry box for the Dry Dock Barracks have arrived.

The 34th Battery team will be able to play a good game of rugby against Queen's University on Saturday in spite of the game in Toronto last Saturday.

McWhimney and Stratton will not be on the line-up, but Dibble and Reid will both be able to play and there are enough other good players in the battery to make a good game.

Queen's University Battery has not yet gone into winter quarters in the Old Collegiate building owing to a temporary shortage of blankets.

The R. C. H. A. band plays every morning now at the change of guard at 9 a.m., giving a very regimental effect at the Tete de Pont Barracks Square. Every morning at this time, there is the big class of Royal School of Artillery officers and N.C.O.'s and the parade of the 490 men in "C" Battery.

All the motor-car drivers in this division volunteered their services to Major J. Hamilton, A. D. of S. and T., as chauffeurs for the Imperial Army Mechanical Transport. Three days ago a call was made for 3,000 drivers from Canada, and to-night is the limit of the time for the acceptance of men. The required number will certainly be secured if the call

AUDITOR'S PRESENT OFFICE IN CITY BUILDINGS.

Use of Fair Grounds For Drilling Granted to the Military—Hose in City Buildings To Be Replaced.

As a quorum of members of the City Property Committee did not attend the scheduled meeting of Wednesday afternoon, Aids, McCann and White sat down and transacted the business themselves, and did it as well as if the full committee of seven had been in their seats.

The application of the Utilities Commission for the office in the west wing of the City Buildings, at present used by the City Auditor, was granted, a rental of $100 to be charged. The Commission wishing to have its electrical and gas collections made there, and also intends to advertise to passers-by various kinds of electrical apparatus. The auditor will be given the room in the east wing, for years used as a committee room. Council committees will hereafter meet in the Council Chamber.

The military authorities asked for the use of the Fair Grounds for drill purposes, and the request was granted.

The chairman intimated that Col. G. H. Ogilvie also wanted the plot on Rideau street, used in the winter for a civic skating rink. It seems that this plot is under the jurisdiction of the Parks Committee, and the matter was referred to Aid, Kent. Aid. White remarked that civic rinks would have to go this winter, for the military must have everything they required.

The committee representatives decided to ask Council for funds to replace the fire hose in the City Buildings, the present hose having become rotted.

Fire Chief Armstrong appeared before the committee with regard to the hose question. There are 900 feet of hose in the buildings, and of 600 feet tested all had been found unfit for service. The other 300 feet was likely in as bad condition. The Chief recommended the replacing of the hose and also the use of racks of the revolving type. Mill hose to the extent of 300 feet will be bought instead of the unlined linen hose now in use—or disuse.

MEN OF KINGSTON, SUPPORT THE 59th!

The 59th Battalion, owing to the heavy drafts sent overseas, is now understrength. The call is for 100 good men at once to join its ranks.

This is a Kingston unit, officered by Kingston men, and with many local men serving in the ranks. It has therefore an extra claim upon us for recognition and support. The city should rally to this request, and roll up the hundred recruits without delay.

Rev. Dr. Torrance and Capt. the Rev. G. I. Campbell have kindly consented to take charge of the parochial work among the Presbyterians and Methodists of the Kingston Garrison respectively, without pay.

The church parades of the men of the 32nd, 33rd and 34th Batteries will be as follows: Anglicans to St. Paul's Church, Presbyterians to St. Andrew's Church, Methodist to Queen Street Church, and Roman Catholics to St. Mary's Cathedral.

Capt. J. A. Stewart, sanitary officer, has been in charge of the cleaning up of Barrieffield Camp, a big undertaking, considering the number of men that have been there this year. The camp is now cleaned of all refuse.

TELLS OF BAYONET CHARGE.

Thought Ear-Drums Would Burst During Artillery Duel.

A private in a grenade company of the British expeditionary force writes:

About 4.30 the order ran down the lines to stand-to. It was obvious that something was in the wind. Our surmise proved correct. It came as suddenly as it was dramatic. A terrific explosion, the like of which I have never heard, and a huge spout of black smoke, flame, sods, sandbags and other things, belched from the German trenches. The ground rocked beneath our feet, the sides of the trenches swayed, and seemed like to topple over. Some of our fellows were flung to the ground.

Simultaneously our guns opened fire on all sides. We sprang like one man to the parapet and blazed away with rapid fire until our rifles were almost too hot to hold. One could feel that the Germans were staggered at the suddenness of the attack, for they did not reply for some moments. When they did, however, all their guns seemed to go off at once. I thought my ear-drums would burst. To our right a line of khaki figures with bayonets fixed were sweeping towards the German lines. We expected to hear the order to charge at any moment. It lasted about forty minutes; but in that forty minutes I learned a lot. I felt for the first time what it meant by the joy of battle, what it is like to get a smell of cordite in your nostrils and to see red.

I knew then what it was that enabled a man in the full flower of his life to dare to cross the abyss from which there is no returning. It was the call of the blood. I saw across the Channel the rough island home and knew that England was calling—that England depended on us; and the knowledge set me aglow with pride. I wanted to sing "Land of Hope and Glory." The man next to me kept repeating, "John Bull, that's another from John Bull," and I was uneasy no longer, for I saw the split in a few, but in all, and I knew it is that spirit that will spell the doom of Germany.

The Kind That Grow. "He's not what you call strictly handsome," said the Major, beaming through his eye-glasses on an utterly hideous baby, as he lay howling in his mother's arms, "but it's the kind of face that grows on you."

Join the 59th. The 59th Battalion wants 100 recruits. Will you help? The 59th Battalion is a city corps, and therefore deserves our especial consideration. They have issued a call for 100 more men. Let the response be hearty and prompt.

Thirty Grain Boats Steaming to Montreal. Montreal, Nov. 18.—A fleet of over thirty lake vessels is en route to Montreal, showing an unprecedented rush of grain through the Lachine canal. "Navigation will continue in the Lachine canal until the basins are frozen over," said one of the officials in charge this morning. "We expect to be busier in the next three or four weeks than at any other previous time. The grain movement was late in starting this year, but there is still time to increase our grain receipts enormously before the season closes. We expect a heavy movement through the canal before this month runs out. Over thirty vessels strombound at Port Arthur are now cleared for the canal route to the ocean port."
