VETERANS BIG NIGHT FELL DEAD AT WORK

A SMOKER WAS HELD IN THEIR ROOMS.

Pte. Frank Smith, Returned From the Front, Gave an Address—Wants to Get Out And Help Recruiting.

A special meeting and smoker of the Kingston Veterans' Association was held in their rooms in the Golden Lion block on Monday evening. Lieut. Col. Spooner, commandant, presided. Even with the additional rooms secured, there were many at the meeting that the quarters proved too small.

Dr. G. W. Bell presented the 109th Lindsay Battalion with a very fine specimen of a British bulldog. In making the presentation Dr. Bell made a few remarks, stating that the bulldog had been imported to the United States and sent to California, and had been brought to the city by a globe-trotter. On behalf of the 109th Battalion, Lieut. F. Ingledew accepted "Bowler" as the bulldog, and assured the donor that the dog would be well taken care of and go with the battalion to the front if possible.

Another very interesting part of the programme was an address by Pte. Frank Smith, 2nd Battalion, who returned from the front on Sunday. Pte. Smith gave a very interesting account of his military career. He enlisted in the 14th Regiment as a drummer when eleven years of age, later joining the 47th Regiment, and finally enlisting in the 2nd Battalion for service in the great war. He spoke of his experiences at Salisbury, Boulogne, Armentieres, where the 2nd Battalion received its baptism of fire and lost fifty men, and at Ypres, Langemarck and around the Ypres canal. Pte. Smith saw both Lieut. Day and Lieut. Stewart fall, and paid a deep compliment to the wonderful courage and judgment of these two officers, whose deaths proved a wonderful inspiration to the men.

In speaking of Capt. George Richardson, the speaker said that there was not an officer in the Canadian expeditionary force more loved and respected than Capt. Richardson. At Langemarck he brought 135 Canadian boys out of the tightest hole they were ever in.

At the close of his address he said: "I don't want to be shut up in a convalescent home, as I think that I can do more good by getting out on the street and personally trying to persuade other young men to join the colors."

In moving a vote of thanks, Dr. J. G. Evans suggested that Pte. Smith be elected a member of the association, and the returned soldier was elected unanimously. He is twenty-one years of age, and the youngest member of the association who has seen service in the present war. Major C. Davison, vice-commandant, pinned on his breast an Imperial Veteran's ribbon.

Gunner Marshall, 32nd Battery, who lost a mother and niece in a Zeppelin raid on the Yorkshire coast of England, in a recitation accompanied by violin, gave "Uncle Josh's Wedding" as a solo encore. "Uncle Josh on Skates." Both were well received and applauded.

Lieut. A. P. Christmas, recruiting officer for the 59th Battalion, gave a stirring address, in which he asked that the veterans co-operate in securing recruits for the 58th. He believed that veterans who would personally approach young men on the street would be of great help.

The veterans decided to give Lieut. Christmas every support. It was the opinion also of the meeting that positions should not be given to civilians in preference to veterans, as was being done in isolated cases in the city.

A November Wedding.

The marriage took place at St. James' Church, Ballantray, November 17th, of Miss Frances E. Hudson, daughter of the late John Hudson, and John McKenny, son of the late James McKenny. Rev. Father Cullinane officiated. The bride was attended by Miss Nellie Hudson, her sister, and the groomsmen was W. J. Reynolds. The immediate friends of the bride and groom were present. The bride, who was given away by her brother, John Hudson, was dressed in a green novelty cloth suit, with Egyptian lace waist and green hat, trimmed with sand colored velvet. She carried a white prayer book. The bride and groom left via the C. J. R. on a trip to Ottawa and other points in that district. They will reside at Athens.

Mystery Solved.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of a baby carriage has been solved by the police. The carriage was left by a man named Kennedy in front of a home on upper Johnson street, and was reported missing. A little girl found the carriage stranded on the street, it having been carried away by the wind. She notified the police, and the carriage is now in the hands of the rightful owner.

Comforts For Soldiers.

The young people of St. James Church are arranging to send a box of comforts to members of the congregation who are serving at the front. There are about thirty or more members of this congregation doing their "bit." On Wednesday night the young people will meet to make the necessary arrangements for the sending over of the box for Christmas.

Not Off the Barnes.

According to the Canada Steamship Company, the body of the man washed ashore a short distance north of Salmon Point on Saturday, is not one of the crew of the ill-fated tug Barnes. The body is that of a man about fifty years of age, and it is stated that none of the men on that tug were of that age.

THE SUDDEN PASSING OF WILLIAM H. CASSIDY

On the Barge Condor at the M. T. Company Wharf—Deceased Was Shipyard Foreman.

William Henry Cassidy, aged fifty-eight years, one of the best known of marine men, dropped dead at his work in the Montreal Transportation Company's yard on Tuesday morning shortly after ten o'clock.

Early Tuesday morning the deceased went down to work as usual and took charge of a gang of men on the barge Condor, carrying out his duties as ship-yard foreman. His brother, Andrew, was working near at the time. Without warning he dropped to the floor of the barge dead. Drs. W. W. Sands and A. W. Richardson and S. S. Corbett's ambulance were summoned, but when the doctors arrived Mr. Cassidy was dead. An examination showed that his death came from heart-failure. The remains were removed to Corbett's undertaking rooms.

The deceased resided on James street and had worked for the M. T. Co. since he was eighteen years of age. He is survived by his widow, two sons, five daughters and one brother. The deceased was a Roman Catholic in religion.

IN MARINE CIRCLES.

Movements of Vessels Reported Along the Harbor.

The steamer St. Joe left for Toronto, and will be laid up for the winter.

The steamer Robert McDonald arrived from Adolphstown, with a piece of timber eighty feet in length, which will be used to make a spar for the schooner Ford River.

The steamer Key V. was in port on her way to the Welland Canal. She started out on Tuesday morning. She had to come back for coal. The steamer Stelton, which discharged a cargo of coal at Richardson's elevator, cleared for Buffalo.

The steamer Egan was in port today, on her way west.

The steamer Keywest, which left Dalhousie on Saturday night and for which there was great anxiety, passed down on Sunday afternoon.

The steamer Samuel Marshall has been in port several days, wind-bound.

The tug Bronson arrived from Montreal with two light barges, and cleared for Montreal with one grain barge.

Officials of the Canada Steamship Company stated there was no truth in the statement in the despatch from Erie, Pa., that the barge Rob Roy had foundered in the harbor there. Owing to the violent storm, instructions had been issued to beach the barge, which was heavily laden with coal, on a mud bank near Erie, until the hurricane had passed. The Rob Roy is a coal barge, and has been carrying coal all summer between Erie and Toronto. She registers about 500 tons, and is well known in Kingston.

A captain on one of the lake steamers would like to know why the storm signal was placed away in at Booth's coal yard. He states that a boat coming to Kingston from down the river cannot see the signal until passing Kingston. Why, he asks, not have the signal placed out on the point opposite the Military College, where all boats can see it?
