WALDRON'S

NEWS ABOUT THE TROOPS QUARTERED IN THE CITY

The 59th Battalion, with the exception of "A" company, under Major W. H. Craig took a route-march on Thursday.

The officers of the Provisional School of Infantry tried their final examinations on Friday.

The buildings for the reception of the 59th Battalion at Cornwall, Brockville and Gananoque will be ready on Tuesday next.

It is expected that the School of Cookery under Serjt.-Major Kerrison, W.O., will open on December 6th.

The men of "C" squadron, C.M.R., were issued with the remainder of their equipment on Friday.

Lieut. Carry, "C" squadron, C. M. R., left on Thursday for Perth to take over his duties as paymaster of the 19th Battalion.

M. FitzPatrick Cole has been provisionally promoted to the rank of sergeant and C. Thickett to the rank of corporal in "C" squadron, C. M. R.

J. J. Roberts, 205 Wellington street, J. E. McClelland, 3 Corrigan street, and Ignace F. McKee, 459 Barrie street, have enlisted for overseas service in "C" squadron, C. M. R.

Lieut. F. Ingledew, 4th Hussars and Lieut. J. Leckie, 14th Regiment, have been appointed to the 19th Battalion. Lieut. Ingledew has been appointed machine-gun officer, but will remain in the city for the present on recruiting duty.

A Smith's Falls despatch states that Lieut. Crow, 59th Battalion, has been recommended for a captaincy in the 139th Smith's Falls Battalion.

So many reports have been in circulation about the nature of horse No. 21 that the late Lieut. Andrews of Toronto was riding when killed a week ago, that Capt. W. E. Steacy was asked as to the habits of the horse. In commenting on the animal Capt. Steacy said: "Horse No. 21 called Carrot is a small black horse standing fifteen hands high. It is quiet, easily reined and is considered an excellent horse for instructional purposes, the reason being that it had a very rough action which naturally teaches a man the knee grip so essential for a good rider. It has no bad habits except that it is inclined to be a slug and falls behind in the ride."

Capt. T. D. J. Ringwood, gunnery instructor, said he did not care to give out a statement, beyond saying that the horse was good for instructional purposes.

G. E. Lévesque, Quebec; James Murray, Brockville; M. McDermott, Concession street; W. H. Elliott, Toronto; James C. Keir, Lansdowne and Harold Langford, Portsmouth, have enlisted in the 59th Battalion for overseas service through Lieut. A. P. Christmas at his recruiting office at the corner of Wellington and Clarence streets.

Charles Yeoman, 53 Bagot street and Carl J. Peterson, 92 Gore street have enlisted for overseas service through Major E. C. Barrett's recruiting office on Brock street.

Saturday's Illustrated Section. The four-page illustrated section to be issued to-morrow, will contain a splendid picture of Lieut.-Col. Dawson and a section of the 59th Regiment, taken while in camp at Bagfield.

The present visit to Kingston of the Australian cadets will lend additional interest to two other fine pictures in this issue, showing the Australian contingent leaving Egypt for Gallipoli.

There are also several new pictures of the King visiting Canadian soldiers at the front, the British expedition to Serbia, scenes at the Dardanelles, on the Italian front and elsewhere.

Tendered A Farewell.

Trooper George Timms, Depo Regiment, C. M. R., was given a farewell at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Timms, Frontenac street, by the members of the Princess street Epworth League and other friends Thursday night. Trooper Timms is going to Hamilton with the C. M. R. squadron under Major W. Allan Stroud. He was the recipient of a fine ring from the members of the League, the presentation being made by Lawrence Asselstine. Miss Emma Wilder, on behalf of the officers of the Sunday School, gave Trooper Timms a Bible. Rev. H. E. Curry spoke a few words of appreciation of the young trooper.

The War Millionaires

Is it not an open secret that this war is producing a new class of nouveaux riches of "War Traders," rapidly transforming into war millionaires? A few weeks ago, one of the new war millionaires came to me and said that every one of his fellow-manufacturers in the great city to which he belonged was coin-ing and heaping up huge piles of money, and that they were heartily ashamed of it. And another war millionaire told a few weeks ago that during the last twelve months he had made $250,000 in net profits, and that he would not mind if the Government took $200,000 of it.

The Victoria Loan & Savings Company, Lindsay, has subscribed $25,000 to the war loan.

AUSTRALIAN CADETS.

(Continued from page 3.) Headed by the R. C. H. A. band the Australians were marched to the Collegiate Institute, in the company of the Institute Cadets. Along the line were groups of school pupils waving flags and cheering. The Australians expressed great pleasure at the sight. At the Institute in the assembly hall R. Meek introduced Lieut. Simons who expressed delight at the welcome and the pleasure afforded to see Kipston. He was humorous in his references to the use of slang by Canadians. It was new to Australians to hear of graft and persons being "out of sight." The peculiar Australian yell was convincing in the dismissal. At Victoria school J. G. Elliott introduced Lieut. Simons who said that "the best yet" was seen there. He cordially reciprocated the greeting and told how beautifully the maple leaf and wattle blossom were entwined. The children sang and cheered for the visitors.

At Queen's, Principal Gordon was happy in his welcome. A bond of affection was created by the Pacific cable and that great enterprise was the conception and project of Sir Sandford Fleming, the late Chancellor of Queen's. Lieut. Simons was delighted at the reception. He was glad to see Queen's. He dwelt on the confederation of the scattered provinces of Canada—a great conception and world-wide in its application. Australia and South Africa had adopted it. Then the economic politics of Sir John Macdonald were wide world in application and would yet manifest themselves in an inter-reciprocity with all the elements of the Great British Empire. Simons spoke of the peculiarities of climate and language and was decidedly amusing as he told stories of the oddities of Canadians.

After the speeches the College balls and Grant Hall were inspected. At one o'clock luncheon was served at the Royal Military College, with many leading citizens as guests along with the Australians.

TRICKS OF GUNCOTTON.

When Dry Explosive May Be Burned In the Hand Without Harm.

If some one should place a wad of guncotton on the palm of your hand and threaten to touch it off with a lighted match you would be frightened. Yet you need not be, for, although guncotton is one of the most powerful of ordinary explosives, it would not hurt you.

When dry guncotton is exposed to the air it does not explode when ignited with great rapidity. So rapidly does the burning take place that if a loose wad of the material be held in the hand and touched with fire there is a sudden flash, and an instant later not a trace of smoke or a mark on the hand remains to indicate what has taken place. Guncotton does not detonate unless it is confined, as in the barrel of a gun.

When dry, however, guncotton can be made to explode with great violence by being struck sharply between two hard surfaces. Detonation, as such an explosion is called, is quite a different phenomenon from burning. It seems to consist in the instantaneous disintegration of the molecules of the exploding substance. It is as though all the bricks in a great building were in a fraction of a second to be scattered about the city.

When moistened sufficiently with water guncotton is not affected either by fire or blows. In this state it can be compressed, mashed to a pulp or worked into various shapes without danger. Only the explosion of a piece of the dry material or priming with fulminate of mercury can make wet guncotton detonate. On this account wet guncotton has been made use of in blasting.

Guncotton is a mixture of various nitrates formed when clean dry cotton is treated with strong nitric acid (and for most purposes, with sulphuric acid also). If the product has a low degree of nitration—that is to say, if little nitric acid be used in the making—it may be partially dissolved by certain esters, such as acetone, ethylacetate or a mixture of ether and alcohol. It forms a colloidal solution, and the resulting jelly is particularly well fitted to use in a gun on account of the saving of space.

Photographic Art.

Softness of focus, to prevent masses being bounded by hard lines, complete control of light and shade, a trained wit to conceive that expression and arrange that pose most suggestive of the person as a whole, simplicity, sincerity, absence of dramatic, striking and bold use of too great contrast, restraint both in pose and expression and correct rendition of color in monotone—these and a greater and greater appreciation of the value of the camera's power for telling the truth are the factors which have raised the modern idea in photographic portraiture, if not yet among the arts, at least to a highly honored place among the crafts.—C. H. Claudy in Art and Progress.

Rats Aboard Ship.

There used to be a belief that rats never went on a ship that was destined to founder at sea. This has a fine supernatural ring, but, as a matter of fact, has a good deal of truth at bottom. Unseaworthy ships in the older days were likely to be leaky and contain much bilge water. The rats would naturally abandon such damp quarters for a drier berth.

THEATRICAL NEWS

At the Grand. One of the best entertainments of vaudeville and pictures that has been seen in the city for some time was presented at the Grand Opera House last night before one of the largest audiences of the season. The main feature of the evening was the Famous Players picture of George Fennell, supported by an all-star company. In "The Majesty of the Law," the other pictures were a three-reel Universal photo-play featuring Cleo Madison, "The Faith of Her Fathers," a comedy picture, "When He Proposed," and the Pathé News showing some interesting scenes of the war.

The vaudeville part of the entertainment was good. Miss Juanita Fletcher, who has become a great favorite in Kingston, again received a warm reception from the large audience. Her singing of "Don't Let the Old Flag Fall" was thoroughly enjoyed and received much applause. "The Two Vagabonds" in a singing and musical act also made a big hit. Both are expert musicians, and played several selections on the piano and guitar, which pleased the audience highly. The other artist, Panther, in an Indian novelty act, also was good. This same bill will be shown to-night for the last time this week.

"The White Feather." To-morrow afternoon and evening has been marked off the theatrical calendar for the presentation at the Grand Opera House of the big success, "The White Feather." It shows a vivid conflict of resourcefulness between the British War Office and members of the German secret service, who are seeking to foster a coast raid by submarines. The efforts to thwart this contemplated attack are conducted along novel lines, and one of the other of the contending players in the desperately risky game is momentarily almost within reach of his desired goal, and dramatic climaxes of unusual strength are developed. An all English company of players has been specially brought over. This is not a moving picture.

At the Strand. Large and delighted audiences greeted the presentation of the four-part photo play, "The Woman Who Lied," the master film in which lovely Mary Fuller, assisted by Milton Sills and Paul Pauzer, is appearing in at the Strand Theatre. Other reels shown were "Dr. Mason's Temptation," "The Marksman," featuring "Adele Lane," and an L-Ko comedy, "Ticking For Revenge." The entire bill is one of great strength, each subject being a feature in itself. The same bill will be given again to-night and at the matinee and Saturday evening shows.

Charlie Chaplin at the Ideal. This big mirth-provoker will be shown in the hilarious comedy, "His Favorite Pastime," at the Ideal Theatre on Friday and Saturday. Other good reels will also be shown.

Heavy Subscription to War Loan. Toronto, Nov. 25.—Interest in the Canadian War Loan continues at fever heat. At all the branches of the several banks and the various financial houses handling the issue, large numbers of subscribers besieged the offices throughout the day. Amongst the tenders for the loan, the largest cheque subscription recorded is that of the Canada Life Assurance Company, which has tendered for $1,500,000 of the loan.

Military Sale. Velvet shapes—scores to choose from—regular $2 and $2.50—to-morrow, $1. George Mills & Co., "The Hat Store."

Purchased. Mendels & Co. have purchased the 10,000 Hardy dry goods stock of Cobourg. Watch for bargains.

Gymnasium class for Queen's students who contemplate playing hockey will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays, beginning Dec. 1st. "Imported Bay Rum" at Gibson's.
