EDUCATIONAL TOUR.

The Australian cadets are making a tour of the United States and Canada for educational purposes. Lieut. Simons' idea—and he is the originator of it as well as the commander of the cadets—is that young men can learn by travel and observation many things of the highest value, and many things that they will never forget.

WOMEN IN EVIDENCE.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw has resigned from the presidency of the Women's Suffrage Association of America. Here is a wonder worker, in debate, in leadership, and in personal power. She is very eloquent in speech and very impressive in her personality.

WHAT DO THEY FEAR.

There is a side of the out-of-town trading which is not popular, of which indeed one is inclined to be ashamed. The cartoonist pictures it in his sketch in to-day's Whig, most pointedly. The woman in the case—for the man can say, perhaps, that Eve-like she tempted him—has purchased a quantity of goods. The bulky package has arrived, and all the members of the household undertake to investigate its contents.

home merchant while he supports the town and helps in its growth by his business qualities and enterprise will have no pang of conscience at any time, and it is a phase of community building which is most pleasing to contemplate.

BADGE OF HONOR.

The embarrassment which a young fellow suffered in Toronto, when reproached because he did not enlist, when he was called a shirker, would be avoided if Canada imitated the Mother Country in one respect.

In England there have been three kinds of armlets. The first indicated the men who had offered their services and had not been called out. The second was for those who had been rejected as physically unfit.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The term of the Dominion Parliament will not expire for a year. Why worry about what will happen after that? If the war be on a further extension of the term can be easily arranged.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Royal Military College has made a name for itself in connection with the war. About eighty per cent of the graduates have so far engaged in the conflict, in many trying and official positions.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The over-marketing of grain at the wrong season is W. Sanford Evans' conclusion for the lowering in the price of wheat in the spring and fall of each year. The national control of the crops is the only resulting theory, and that is a bigger contract than the Government has yet undertaken.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The spending of $125,000,000 on the Georgian Bay canal is not going to help the grain market. It would perhaps facilitate the transportation of grain, but it would not maintain the prices so far as the producers are concerned.
