Sleepytime Tales

Fixing The Christmas Trees.

Once upon a time the Queen of the Fairies called all her helpers together and told them it was almost Christmas and they must get to work and fix up the fir trees for the visits of Santa Claus. First came the little green fairies and they flew off into the woods, and with their tiny brushes painted the fir trees bright and green. How busy they were and how they flittered around so that people thought it was a flurry of green snow and the fairies laughed to think how they fooled the people.

Next came the wood fairies and they touched the axes of the men woodchoppers so that the trees fell to the earth so softly that no limbs were bruised or broken. Then they followed the trees to see that they were packed with care on the long freight cars that were to carry them to the city markets so the parents of the children could buy them and set them up in the homes.

One little fairy was so busy that she didn't notice that the train had started and she was carried away on top of a load of trees. When she reached the city she went with a beautiful tree into a fine big house where she stayed until the night before Christmas. When the tree was set up for Santa Claus to trim, a beautiful wax angel was put away in the tip of the tree. The snow fairy crept up into the arms of the angel and when the doors of the room were opened on Christmas morning she was there to enjoy the delight of the children when they saw the beautiful tree.

Everyone wondered how the tree could have been kept so bright and green and smell so strong and sweet of the pine woods, but of course the little fairy couldn't tell them how hard all the fairies had worked to make the trees so wonderful.

That night the fairies went to sleep in the arms of the angel and after that they were both put away to rest until another Christmas.

"Low Cost of Living" Menu

BREAKFAST.
Vegetable Hash—Chop together enough potato to make a cup and to this add three cups of chopped vegetables. Turn into a hot frying pan and fry five minutes.

LUNCHEON.
Broiled Ham—Cut in thin slices and broil over a quick fire. Spread with a little butter.

DINNER.
Kidney Bean Soup—Simmer one cup of beans with six cups of water. When soft mash through a coarse sieve. Return to the fire and add a little water and the juice of half a lemon.

Olive Salad—Chop an equal quantity of stuffed and plain olives. Add a teaspoon of chopped parsley and serve on lettuce with a French dressing.

Pineapple Marmalade—Drain the juice from a large can of pineapple, add to it twelve cups of chopped and pared apples and simmer until tender. Cut a pineapple in small pieces, add to the hot apple and simmer one minute longer. Then measure, and to the pound, add three quarters of a cup of sugar. Boil until thick.

To Have Smooth, White, Soft Skin All Winter

Does your skin chafe or roughen easily in this weather, or become un-duly red or blotchy? Let me tell you a quick, easy, and sure way to overcome the trouble and keep your complexion beautifully white, smooth and soft the winter long. Just get an ounce of ordinary mercerized wax at the nearest drug store and use a little before retiring, as you would cold cream. Upon arising, remove the coating with sudsy water. The wax, through some peculiar attribute, keeps the rough, discolored or blemished skin, the dandruff, or itchy comes off just like Nature's wax. Used as required, it keeps the face constantly free from devitalized scarf skin and only the healthy, young-looking skin is left in evidence. It's the best treatment known for weather-beaten, aged, middle-aged, freckled, pimply and all unbecomingly complexions.

Some skins wrinkle easily in winter. There's an excellent remedy in a harmless wash lotion made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered salicylic in 52 pt. witch hazel. This will quickly eradicate every line.—The Woman's World.

HOME-MADE GIFTS FOR CHRISTMAS SEASON.

Book in Which to Carry Needles, Pins, Thread, Scissors, etc., is Useful.

Any pretty trifle made to contain pins makes a very acceptable gift for Christmas. A traveling convenience that is as useful at home as abroad is made after the manner of the old-time needlebook that rolled up. The foundation of it is a strip of ribbon or silk—Morocco and chamois can also be used, likewise canvas, about six inches wide and twenty inches long.

Place this flat on the cutting board and cover it with two thickesses of cotton batting; put a layer of coarse white flannel next to this, and then one of coarse-holed white cloth.

Bind the edges neatly together with a satin ribbon matching the outside, of the convenience, and then turn up four or five inches of the bottom of the strip and tack the ends to form the top put a plump pinchusion with corners reaching to the strip edges; have this an inch and a half deep, and stick full of various colored pins—blue, green, red, pink, white and the ordinary sorts. They will look best if stuck in in some ornamental manner.

In the space above the cushion put black and white safety pins in several sizes, and below the cushion run a number of the invisible hairpins through the holes of the net, but still in a way to permit the strip to be rolled up.

A spool of white thread, a penny thimble, a paper of needles and a tiny pair of scissors are useful things for the pocket, or it could contain several packages of cheap assorted hairpins. A ribbon sewed to the top, which is cut in a point, is tied for the convenience when it is rolled for travelling.

Elderday's bed boxes are very smart comforts for night use, and they are cheap and appropriate gifts for fresh-air fiends, invalids and old persons. The boots or socks are cut very large, of course, but pretty much after the manner of a baby's worsted-bootees. There are only two pieces and therefore only two seams, one straight down the front of the sock and one at the back; the halves are cut exactly alike, but the sewing up of the front seam ends a little above the line of a shoe vamp, so that the sock may be drawn on easily. The top and side fronts are bound with a matching satin ribbon and two sets of the strings are put on for fastening.

By rubbing potato juice on the water pitcher which has become corroded from letting water stand in it the stains will immediately disappear.

SCHOOL IN WAR ZONE

French Children Are Studying Daily Amid Shell Fire.

Within range of the Germany heavy artillery, French boys and girls go daily to school. The old people stuck to the soil and after the adults and middle-aged people joined the army worked it in their stead despite the occasional German big shells. The children remained with them and the Government was prevailed upon to have the primary village schools opened on Oct. 1st.

Having yielded to this demand, the Government refused to bear the risks and responsibility, contending that those should be borne by those who send their children to schools within artillery range.

A protest is being made against this decision, the signatories pointing out that since primary teaching is compulsory, the risks, that is the financial liability for casualties, should be borne by the taxpayers. It seems likely that the Government will have to give in on this point too.

A Pardon Needed.

Senator "Bob" Taylor, of Tennessee, tells a story of how when he was "Fiddling Bob," governor of that State, an old negro came to him and said:

"Massa Gov'nar, we's mighty po' this winter, and I wish you would pardon mah old man. He is a fiddler same as you is, and he's in the pen'tentry."

"What was he put in for?" asked the Governor.

"Sted of working 'fo' it that good 'fo' nuthin' nigger done stole some bacon."

"If he is good for nothing what do you want him back for?"

"Well, yo' see, we's all out of bacon ag'in," said the old negro, innocently.

To keep enamelled kitchen ware clean you must put it in a large vessel of cold water with a tablespoonful of lye added and bring the water to the boiling point. Afterward wash the ware in the usual way.

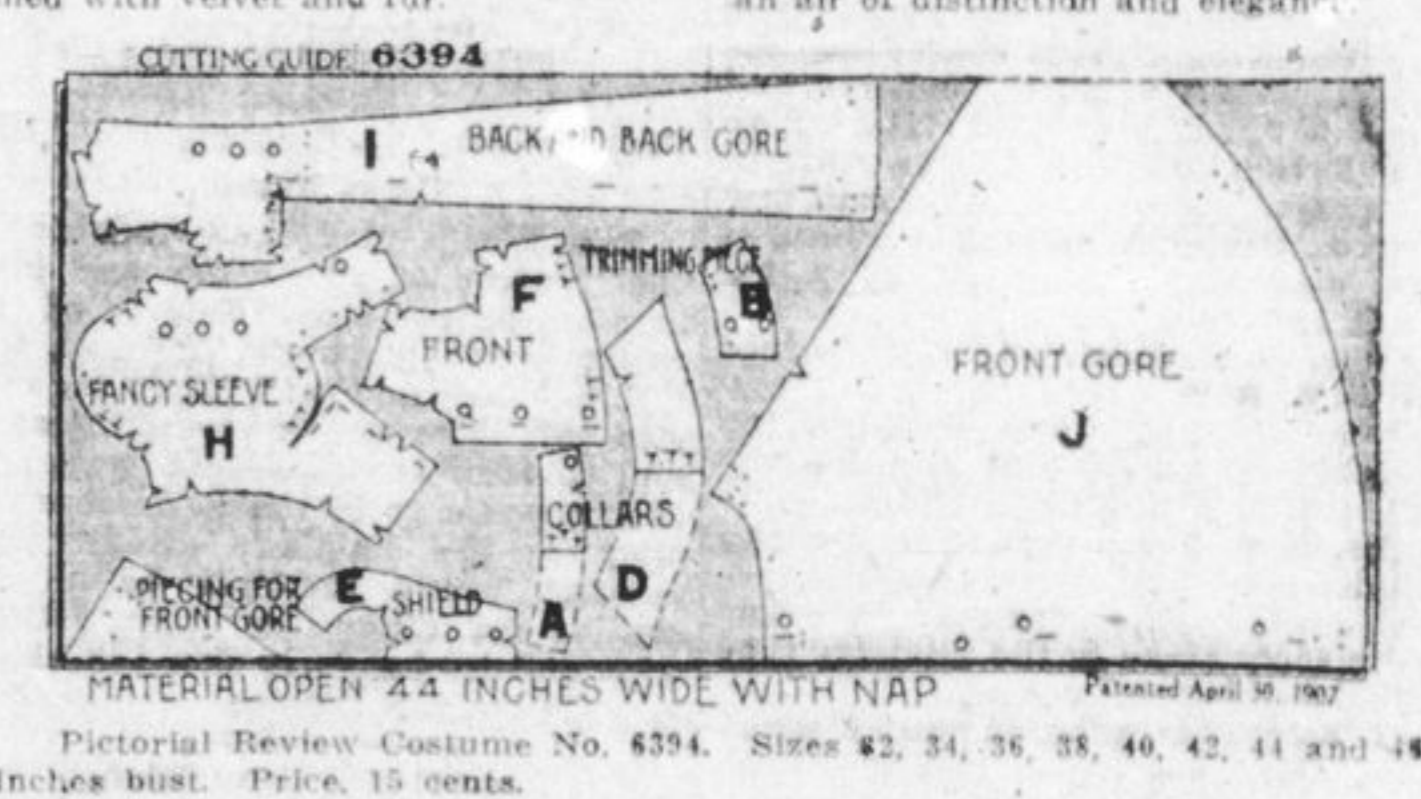

It is a good idea when applying court plaster to a small cut or scratch to cut the patch round, and then it will not curl up and pull off.
