Against Dead Beats and Thieves About Clayton, N.Y.

SEEK SUMMER RESORTS

SUGGEST LOCKING THEM UP FOR BAD WORK.

Hotel Managers, Merchants, and Others Suffer Because These Wanderers Prey Upon the Summer Colony—What's the Remedy?

Clayton, Dec. 27.—The On-the-St. Lawrence says: All summer resorts are infested with migratory dead beats and sneak thieves that are ever seeking fields afresh and pastures new. And besides those who come of their own accord, there are the outcasts that respectable residents of the river valley have driven out. Our Thousand Island resorts are more than over-populated with the scoundrels of humanity by having a double dose of such to absorb, and in addition to our own, we have and are all the time getting those whom Canadian authorities have driven out from the land of their birth.

All the resorts along the river suffer more or less from this affliction. Alexandria Bay worst of all. The perpetrators of the recent cottage burnings, as well as most of the past ones, are descendants of the degenerates whose first residence along the river was at the "Bay," from whence they have become scattered to overburden all the resorts with paupers and criminals.

Every few years there is an outbreak of burglary and other crimes. Some of the guilty ones are apprehended, tried and convicted, and the disappointment of all local residents desirous of the thinning out of the criminal population, courts and juries have dealt altogether too lightly with them, with the result that they were not long away, and invariably returned to their old haunts.

The authorities along the river are altogether too lenient with those known and proven with criminal records. Not long ago one of my nearest neighbors was aroused late at night by the sound of a key at the lock on one of his doors, and investigating saw two men, one a Canadian long-term convict, and the other a just released, third-term burglar, who were trying to gain entrance. The question is, "Why does our, and why do other, village trustees and authorities allow second and third-term ex-convicts to loiter about the streets after 10 at night?"

And why not, as a safeguard adopted by many other summer resorts, order after a certain hour for their places of abode or be locked up for the night? The migratory classes of dead beats and extortionists have worked great injury to business interests along the river, the fishing guide business, which so many of them follow, being nearly played out through the effects of sneak thievery and outrageous extortion. Fifteen years ago an average of two steamboats a day, with parties on board and several boats in tow, passed Clayton from Alexandria Bay on the way to up river fishing grounds, and for the past five summers the average was less than one a week. Hotel managers have had complaints dinied in their ears by guests of nothing to eat at their dinners, ignorant of course of the fact that baskets had been robbed of chicken, meats, eggs and coffee before leaving shore in the morning.

Fish thievery is another aggravating cause of disappointment, disgust and anger to parties having had a good day's catch and ordering it packed and shipped to their homes, to find on arrival and opening to contain but a few chunks of ice, the thieving boatman having pocketed the money paid him by the fish marketman.

Clayton's hotel managers, merchants and mechanics all have suffered directly traceable to the acts of temporary resident sneak dead beats. Every carpenter, painter, plumber and other kinds of workmen have dozens of times heard cottage owners complain: "I will never again employ a Clayton man; every one I have had was a beat," and the real facts were that the ones they complained of were not Clayton men at all, but just migratory beats giving their residence as here, but with no permanent home; here this year, somewhere else next year, and local honorable business men and mechanics have lost patronage on account of their acts.

"VICTORY IS NEARER IN SIGHT"

Confidence in Army and Navy Key-note Of Message.

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—Absolute confidence in the army and navy and in the success of their efforts was the keynote of the King's Christmas message. His Majesty expressed gratitude to those in the hospitals, and prayed for their recovery. To the navy and the army he says: "I rejoice to know that the goal to which you are striving draws nearer into sight."

Child Fatally Burned.

Ozdenburg, Dec. 27.—Norah O'Grady, aged two years and six months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Grady, was fatally burned at her parents' home. The child found some matches on a table and set fire to her clothes.

Jess Willard says that he will train at Havana for his fight with Fulton at New Orleans March 4th. He figures that Havana is lucky.

Capt. James T. Sutherland, president of the O. H. A., has been officially notified of his appointment as president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Frank Patrick is not satisfied with the showing of the Vancouver team and will strengthen. He is after a couple from the N. H. A. and one or two from Winnipeg.

St. Paul, Houghton, Calumet and the Soo have formed their schedule. They purpose playing many exhibition matches with eastern and western teams, professional or otherwise. Their teams are imported from Canada.

Six-man hockey will be popular in Ottawa this winter. Besides the N. H. A., the City League has adopted the abbreviated style, while the Civil Service League has done likewise. A motion to have six-man hockey in the Lower Ottawa was defeated.

The O.H.A. sub-committee ruled that Reg. Noble formerly of Collingwood, qualified under the student residence rule and he was allowed permission to play with Riverdales. Noble was a student at St. Michaels, but is going to another school.

Toronto Globe: The prohibition issued by the O. H. A. against competition with the bogus amateur teams located at Cleveland and the Pittsburgh Winter Garden applies only to such clubs as are responsible to the O. H. A. Of course, there are others that only the chain and ball keeps within the amateur classification, and they are exceedingly eager to get out of bounds. In this case the ruling will be extended to cover all clubs responsible to amateur authority in Canada and the States.

The Daily Virginia, of Richmond, Va., says: "Who is going to pay the citizens of Richmond who went down into their pockets and brought forth something like $45,000 to bring the Baltimore Orioles to this city? Unless the people here receive back every penny of the money they put into the stock of the Richmond club, it would be nothing less than highway robbery, and a stain on organized baseball."

"It must be remembered that the people of Richmond came to the rescue and took over the Baltimore franchise when the league was none too strong financially. The club paid all of its players and met all of its other obligations, so why should the powers that be now give Richmond a cold shoulder?"

Ottawa Citizen: A stir was created in amateur hockey circles of the capital when news leaked out that the Pittsburgh Hockey Club, of which Art, Sessmith, a former Ottawa boy, is manager, had made offers to a number of the local stick-handlers. Last night it was stated that Dinny Manners, who worked out with the Ottawas, had made up his mind to go to the Winter Garden club. Manners had been counted on by the Ottawas and President "Reg" Sims said he would endeavor to hold him here, but the Pittsburgh people wired transportation to "Dinny," and requested that he report at once. They are also said to have been after Morley Bruce, but Alfred Smith, stated that Bruce had agreed to play with Ottawas.

HUNGRY BELGIANS FED JOHNNY CAKE.

Discovery of Corn Leads to Introduction of New Dish From "Pig Feed."

A story has come from Belgium, which only goes to prove that the Belgian Relief Committee is administering its affairs in the most efficient manner possible. One of the workers in a communal distribution depot discovered that a quantity of corn had escaped the notice of the Germans, who had despoiled the place of almost everything of value and he at once seized this corn and put it under the control of the local committee where it was safe from requisition by the Germans.

The corn was "ground into meal and given to the Belgians but to them corn had always been known as "pig feed" and they did not know how to prepare it for human consumption. Neither did the committee man, but he did know that it could be made into palatable food for humans as well as pigs.

Undaunted by the difficulties facing him he cabled to London to friends and as a result a West Indian negro appeared at the committee bureau a few days later. He was turned loose in the public kitchen and surrounded by gasping Belgians, introduced them to the mysteries of "Johnny Cake."

Now Belgium knows the use to which cornmeal can be put.

Last Steamer To Leave. The tug Ray Stanton, owned by W. Pyke of Wolfe Island, is probably the last steamer with the exception of the Wolfe Islander that will venture from port this season. On Monday the Ray Stanton cleared for Clayton to lead gravel for Kingston.

Thirteen per cent. of the taxation of Kingston is required to pay the debenture debt. In Ontario it ranges from 7 to 26 per cent. Mrs. J. H. Kilpatrick and Mrs. William Gould, Nanapanee, are spending the Christmas holidays in Kingston.

A new organ in Trinity Church, Nanapanee, will be opened on Friday, Messrs. Arthur Craig and Geoffrey O'Hara will sing on Sunday next. Rev. Alfred Brown, Kingston, will speak on "The Influence of Music."

ENJOYED BY THOSE IN PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

The Poor, the Sick and the Prisoners Were Made Happy on the Greatest Festival Day of the Year.

There were eleven prisoners in the jail at Christmas but they enjoyed the treat given them. The dinner consisted of turkey, plum pudding, vegetables and fruits. In the morning the Salvation Army gave a musical concert and treated the prisoners to oranges and candies.

At the Home For The Aged.

At the House of Industry the inmates had a royal celebration on Christmas Day. The dinner was complete from turkey to oranges and candies. At the close, Miss A. M. Machar, John Macdonald, G. Y. Chown and W. J. Crothers gave short addresses. Another celebration will be held on New Year's Day when more visitors are expected to be present.

At Rockwood Hospital.

The patients at Rockwood Hospital had a big dinner on Christmas, but the entertainment for the patients is not being held until Tuesday evening. The menu of the dinner was most complete and credit to the staff. Rev. E. LeRoy Rice and the choir of the Congregational Church held a short service on Sunday morning.

The Hotel Dieu.

At the Hotel Dieu, mid-night mass was celebrated on Christmas eve and also at eight on Saturday morning. A Christmas dinner was served to all the patients and the many gifts sent into the hospital were distributed among the patients. The Hotel Dieu thanks those who contributed so generously towards making a Merry Christmas for the suffering.

St. Mary's-on-the-Lake.

The usual Christmas dinner was enjoyed Saturday noon by the little ones at the St. Mary's-on-the-Lake orphanage. They were treated to candy and fruit which was placed on the breakfast table. The Christmas dinner included turkey and goose and pudding.

House Of Providence.

At the House of Providence, the Christmas festival was duly celebrated. The various sitting rooms, dormitories and dining rooms were nicely decorated with streamers, bunting and Christmas bells, which helped to bring joy and cheer to the old people. A Christmas breakfast was served, consisting of toast, fruit and candies while the regular Christmas dinner of Turkey and goose was served at midday. During the day five masses were conducted by Father R. S. Halligan, chaplain, and Father C. J. Duffus were celebrated in the chapel. Spiritual music was arranged for the day.

At General Hospital.

Although the weather was wet and stormy, everything was bright and attractive at the General Hospital, where the staff did everything possible to make Christmas Day a happy one for the patients. The wards were very beautifully decorated with red, white and blue streamers and the rooms were decorated with flowers. All the patients who were able partook of a fine turkey dinner, during the day the Board of Governors paid a visit to the institution, and assisted in the festivities. The patients were also the recipients of gifts.

At The Penitentiary.

Even at the penitentiary, the Christmas spirit was in evidence. Work was suspended for the day, and in addition to being supplied a special dinner, the convicts were allowed to carry out a programme of songs during the day. The dinner consisted of pork, vegetables and plum pudding, and everyone in the institution thoroughly enjoyed the spread.

At Orphan's Home.

The children at the Orphan's Home were not forgotten this Christmas. Friday was a Christmas tree, loaded with nice gifts, and this was followed on Saturday, with a goose and turkey dinner on Christmas Day. The building was nicely decorated, and the children thoroughly enjoyed the festivities.

At Infants' Home.

The little tots at the Infants' Home, were well looked after by the Matron, Mrs. E. Thompson. While there was no special programme for the children old enough were treated to sweets, and they spent a very pleasant Christmas Day under the arrangements made for their comfort.

For Belgian Relief Fund.

The secretary of the Board of Trade acknowledges receipt of the following amounts for the Belgian Relief Fund: C. H. Boyce, $5; Mrs. D. Ross, $5; Dean Cappon, $3; John McEwen, $2.50.

Canadian Casualties.

Why tolerate Catarrh?

You have noticed, no doubt, that any cold aggravates to sal catarrh, and the flow of mucous menses you that such objectionable matter could find lodgment in your head. To ignore this catarrh when the cold subsides is wrong because it continues to slowly injure the delicate linings of the nasal passages and clog them up.

To correct catarrh, cleanse the nostrils frequently with a solution of warm water and salt, insert vaseline oil, tiring, and take a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion after meals for one month. Scott's acts through the blood to feed the tissues, and contains soothing glycerine to check the inflammation and heal the sensitive membranes. Scott's is pleasant to take. VILLA MUST ANSWER TO GREAT BRITAIN.

The Killing of Benton at Juarez Has Not Been Forgotten.

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 27.—The British Government is looking for Gen. Francisco Villa. Consul Roman C. Myles, of El Paso, is making every endeavor to locate him. Extradition of Villa from the United States of Cuba will be asked on the grounds of the killing of William S. Benton, a British subject in Juarez in the spring of 1914.

Gen. Villa is suspicious of the United States offers of protection, and has said that only on the conditions that Gen. Hugh L. Scott meets him at the border and guarantees his safety in his journey through American territory will he come out of Mexico.

War Tidings.

Five more Generals have been retired by General Joffre.

The issue of a national Italian loan was authorized by a Royal decree.

Queen Mary sent a Christmas gift to the Canadian troops in Great Britain.

The British Embassy at Washington denied that Great Britain had prohibited the shipment of American Red Cross supplies to Europe.

The Germans in their attack on the French in the Vosges were everywhere repulsed.

The exportation to Switzerland of virtually everything that might be of service to Germany is prohibited, save under restricted conditions for use in Switzerland.

The Germans attacked a new force of Canadians but met their foe. The Canadian casualties were under a dozen killed or wounded.

Great Britain has not suspended the issuance of permits for the shipment of hospital supplies of any description from the United States to Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey. It has stopped the sending of rubber goods only.

The Right Road.

The road to successful business may not be so easy as the well worn road to failure, but the trail has been well marked by those who have passed that way. They never needed any ladders on the road to success, but often required a whip, particularly at the rough places. The whip they invariably used was newspaper advertising. If you will think of the most successful merchants or manufacturers you know of, you will find they were liberal users of newspaper advertising. They began as small advertisers, and grew to be large ones, as a natural consequence.

Will you, Mr. Merchant, profit by their experience?
