VERY LIVELY CAMPAIGN.

It is unfortunate, in the public interest, that the electors do not, on public occasions, attend the meetings and submit the candidates to a heckling. One drawback against popular nominations is, of course, the hour at which they are held namely, 10 o'clock in the morning. an hour at which the working men cannot be expected to attend. They are at work. Had they been present in the City Hall on Monday last they would have asked the Mayoralty candidates questions which would have called out their views on certain public matters. They could have been asked, for instance, to recite what they did in order to promote the interests of the city, and upon their answers would have depended, no doubt, the direction of many votes.
