A FORMER 21ST MAN IN HOCKEY CIRCLES

IS NOW A SHELL-MAKER IN WATERTOWN, N.Y.

Oscar H. Henderson, Wolfe Island, Was At the Front, But Was Discharged Owing To an Injury.

Daily Times, Watertown, N.Y. Oscar Henry Henderson, aged 22 years, a native of Wolfe Island, and a recent member of the 21st Battalion, Second Canadian Contingent, mentioned several interesting facts relative to trench fighting that are generally unknown in an interview with a Times reporter.

Mr. Henderson, who came back from the front in August, 1915, came to this city two weeks ago, and is employed at the New York Air Brake shell plant in Main street. He is making his home at 530 Franklin street.

The young Canadian enlisted at Kingston, February 23rd, 1915, as private, and left for England with the second contingent in early May. The men were landed at Plymouth, and were stationed at Sandling Camp, five or six miles from Dover.

Mr. Henderson's battalion arrived at the camp on May 15th, and there saw 50,000 soldiers grouped together on the field. After a month's inactivity at Sandling Camp, with the exception of regular routine, 300 able-bodied men were chosen to fill up the gaps at the front. Mr. Henderson was among the 300 picked men. This small group was taken at once to Boulogne, about 25 miles from Calais, arriving about the middle of June. The men were put to work at once in the trenches.

The idea of trench warfare is to keep the trenches non-parallel with the enemy's trenches. The advance of each trench is slow, for only two men can work in the forward direction at one time. Each man is given 48 hours duty in the trench and double that period, or 96 hours, as a leisure period. The main army is stationed anywhere from three to five miles in the rear of the forward trenches, which are connected with the main army by communicating trenches. When a soldier is allowed his rest hours, he is permitted to come from his station through this communication trench to the main army, where he may spend his rest period.

The soldiers cannot come from the trenches at any time they may wish, but are kept in their stations at the point of the bayonet. Serious illness or a wound alone will give a soldier a passport from the trench.

Mr. Henderson described in an interesting manner the exchange of shot between the armies. He said the trenches were about two and one-half feet wide, or enough to allow two men to pass comfortably, varying in depth according to the ground. The front of the trench is dug out, forming the digging of the trench. Loopholes, the smaller in size, the better, are placed at intervals, and through these the firing is carried on. Mr. Henderson said that the German trenches were so near in some places that the voices of the occupants could be distinctly heard, and oftentimes the Germans would cry to the Canadians, "Let's see how far those Ross No. 1 rifles will shoot." This was the sort of rifle used by the Canadians, and they were capable of carrying about 2,300 yards.

The soldiers watch the trenches for a puff of smoke, and then fire at the loophole where it came forth. Should the sun be in the rear of the enemy, the men watch until the enemy's loophole becomes darkened by shadow, and then fire. Thousands were wounded in the head in this manner. Should the commanding officer see fit he does not hesitate to sacrifice a number of men to capture a certain trench by assault.

Each soldier at the front is provided with emergency rations. This consists of a form of eatable comprised of meat and potato pressed together, and is a very nourishing ration. One is expected to last a man a whole day. It is used only in times of dire need, however, and should a sentinel be caught in the act of sampling this provision without good reason, it is possible for a court-martial to follow.

Soldiers are allowed furloughs in England at intervals, but must return at the expiration of such privileges. Should any of the rules be broken while a man is at the front serious trouble inevitably follows.

Mr. Henderson was allowed a three day furlough in England, and during that period suffered injuries that secured his discharge from the army. He was hurrying in a group of 500 other soldiers to reach Sandling Camp before "lights out" at 9.45. The men had to pass through a turnstile. He was caught in the stile, and the momentum of the mass of men behind him rendered him unconscious. He was 26 days in a hospital.

Death At Brewers Mills.

Death claimed an aged and highly esteemed resident of Brewers Mills on Jan. 4th. Patrick Madden died after a short illness of grippe, fortified by the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church of which he was a faithful member. His death is regretted by all as was shown by the lengthy cortege that followed his remains to St. Barnaby's Church where they were laid to rest in the vault to await final interment in the spring. The pall-bearers were his three nephews, L. W. and John Murphy, city; W. Murphy, Alphonse Killeen, George McCormack and James Shortall.

Mr. Madden was widely known through the county of Frontenac as he was road engineer and overseer of bridges, a position he capably filled for two years ago. His wife died three years ago. Of a family of six all age living. The sons are James in Alberta; Patrick M., New York; John J., on the homestead; also three daughters: Sister Madden, Hotel Dieu; Mrs. R. Joyce, Sydneyham; and Miss Mary at home. Two grand daughters are of the sisterhood of House of Providence. His sister is Mrs. James Gavin, Mallory town.

Age brings a man knowledge of many things he doesn't want to know.

QUEEN'S II. WAS DEFEATED BY BELLEVILLE.

In Intermediate O. H. A. Game By 7 to 3—Frontenac Seniors Defeated Brockville 10 to 4.

Belleville Intermediate O. H. A. team defeated Queen's II on the Covered Rink on Thursday night by a score of 7 to 3 because the ice was heavy.

It was a great game from start to finish. At any time when one was tired of watching a really good brand of hockey he had only to go to the end of the rink and see the start or finish of a scrap. The scraps usually started over an argument as to which was the better team, and owing to the conditions it would take a fight to decide.

The local seven certainly has speed and reserves of it, but this usually valuable asset was lost when they went up against the Belleville line-up with conditions against them. It proved, however, to be a good exhibition with no loafing on either side. Due to the strict discipline maintained by the referee, there was little if any illegal work pulled off that was not paid for by a three-minute rest up in the time-keeper's dug-out.

Box and Purvis were the pick of the local team and excelled anything that the visitors brought down. Mitchell is probably Belleville's best man, although the weight of their defense meant a great deal in the game. The line-up was:

Table with 2 columns: Belleville and Queen's II. Rows include positions like Goal, defense, rover, centre, wing, and names like Phillips, Smith, Whittle, Finkle, Mitchell, Simmons, Whalen.

First Period: 1. Belleville... Mitchell 3 min. 2. Belleville... Whalen 7 min. 3. Belleville... Mitchell 11 min. 4. Belleville... Mitchell 15 min.

Second Period: 5. Belleville... Whalen 8 min. 6. Queen's... Wallace 15 min.

Third Period: 7. Belleville... Wallace 12 min. 8. Belleville... Wallace 14 min. 9. Queen's... Box 14.50 min. 10. Queen's... Purvis 17.30 min.

The penalties were: First period—Whalen, Finkle, Fehy, Simmons, Mitchell. Second period—Purvis, Finkle, Box, Whittle, Whalen, Simmons. Third period—Finkle, Simmons, Whalen, Box, Wallace.

Frontenacs, 10; Brockville, 4.

Brockville on Thursday night took their defeat at the hands of the Frontenac seniors so badly that they left the rink and supporters who went down came back much the worse for wear and tear. The score was 10 to 4 for the locals. At the end of the first period Brockville had it their way with 3 to 0, but the locals came back strong, and at the end of the second twenty minutes of play had the score 7 to 3. The Frontenacs showed their class when they first scored on the strange rink were not able to get their bearing properly, and the score was three against them before they realized that the game was on. When they did come back they came strong, and by the use of good combination and back-checking proved themselves the victors. The 59th Battalion band was in attendance.

Frontenac, Cook, goal; Ferguson and Brouse, defence; Reid, rover; Crawford, centre; Cook and Derry, wings. Brockville—Lain, goal; Willey and White, defence; Brown, rover; Lendrum, centre; Park and Lafave, wings. W. M. Thackabery, Ottawa, was referee.

Juniors Played No-score Game.

The first game of hockey in the City Junior Juvenile Series was played Thursday night at the Palace Rink between the Eagles and St. Mary's teams. The ice was quite soft, and made it heavy going for the players. The teams were quite evenly matched, and the defence put up a strong game, as was shown by there being no scoring on either side. The line-up was:

Eagles—Scrutton, goal; Day and Goudier, defence; Brouse, rover; Lemmon and Davis, wings; Brown, centre. St. Mary's—Quinn, goal; Connelly and McNeil, defence; Cook, rover; Flanagan and Devlin, wings; McLean, centre. Referee—D. Robertson.

Game Went By Default.

The first game of hockey to be played in the City League Senior Series was called for last night from 10 to 11 o'clock at the Palace Rink. The Wanderers were present, but saw no Dry Bones. It is quite likely that the game will be given to the Wanderers.

TRYING TO TRACE HER MISSING SON.

Mrs. Edward McDonald, 161 Bagot Street, Uses Picture As Aid.

Mrs. Edward McDonald, 161 Bagot street, is looking for her son, Oliver Daniels, who was last heard of at Fort William. Mrs. McDonald is endeavoring to find her son with the aid of a picture that was published in the Uthra Globe some months ago. She recognized the picture, and the American Consul at the time wrote to the Consul at Liverpool asking if Daniels was in Cotesmore military hospital, as the underline of the picture stated. The answer that came back from the consulate at Nottingham, to which the letter was referred, was that there was no such camp there.

Mrs. McDonald, however, is not allowing the matter to drop, and has asked the Militia Department to try and trace her son.

Youth is going to tackle the things to-morrow that age finished to-day.

WAR BULLETINS.

The British Compulsory Act passed through the Commons but the War Office will not enforce it to any degree of severity. The Allied fleet, bombarded Dedeagatch, doing much damage. The Turkish coast batteries were bombarded by air craft.

The Russians have renewed their offensive in Bessarabia, and it is marked by desperate fighting. Austrian losses are heavy. They lost trenches also.

Fire Rangers Must Enlist. Fire rangers this year will have to show Hon. T. Howard Ferguson, Minister of Lands, Forests, and Mines, or his officers that they applied to enlist in the army and have been rejected as physically unfit or other good reasons.

IF BORN IN JANUARY.

People Are of a Serious And Grave Demeanor.

The first month is ruled by Capricorn and Aquarius, which act in conjunction to snuff out those who are born in their dominion.

The former governs the lower legs and joints, while the latter rules the knees.

Capricorn, acting alone, gives mid-die stature, thin, spare build and awkward carriage to its subjects. Diplomacy and activity of thought will characterize them.

Aquarius' ruling gives moderate height, physical vigor, fair complexion and a firm, kindly but undeviating manner.

In conjunction they exert a force which destines their vassals to be of average physique, commonplace bearing and strong shrewdness. People born in this period are reasoners, thinkers, of a serious and grave demeanor. They are likely to become puritanic in their attitudes toward life, being near-sighted and harsh when thrown into association with frivolous people. They will have high ideals of love

If not irritated by constant sights of the violation of the rules of morality they soften and become tolerant to a marked degree. Their frequent narrowness of mind prevents them from acquiring high executive position, owing to the fact that they antagonize many of their associates into dislike.
