The Grocer and the Home

The all grocer controls seventy per cent. of the food product trade of the country. The goods move directly over his counter to the family larder. He is a neighborhood institution. He comes in close contact with his customers at all times, and intimately knows their likes and dislikes.

It would be strange if the grocery man were not quick to sense the influence of newspaper advertising. He knows customers begin calling for certain brands by name when these brands are newspaper advertised. What is more natural than that he should push these particular articles?
