WALDRON'S

A MILITARY FUNERAL

FOR THE LATE PRIVATE WILFRED WAINWRIGHT.

Who Died in Brockville—Representatives Were Present From "C" Company, 59th Battalion.

The funeral of the late Pte. Wilfred Wainwright, member of "C" Company, 59th Battalion, who died in Brockville on Sunday, took place Tuesday afternoon from his mother's residence, 9 Markland street. Rev. Douglas Laing conducted the funeral service at the house at 2 p.m., and at 2.30 the remains were placed on a gun carriage provided by the R. C. H. A. and borne to Cataract cemetery. The firing party was composed of men from the 146th Battalion, and the cortege was headed by the R. C. H. A. band. In the cortege were Capt. Hope, Sergt. Hemming, and five privates of "C" Company, of the 59th.

The Brockville Recorder says: There is mourning in the ranks of the 59th Battalion over the death of the General Hospital Sunday afternoon of Pte. Wilfred Wainwright, "C" Company, whose home was in Kingston. Out of respect to the memory of the deceased the soldiers of the two companies and staff of the 59th Battalion, with the two bands, met Monday morning and attended the obsequies in a body. The sad cortege proceeded from A. H. Swarts' undertaking parlors to the Baptist Church, where service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. H. Edgar Allen, assisted by Rev. C. W. Shelley, of the First Presbyterian Church. The service over the cortege re-formed and proceeded to the G. T. R. station, where the body was placed on the Limited and taken to Kingston. It was accompanied by Pte. Passmore, a friend. The officers of the 59th Battalion will be represented at the interment. Six members of the platoon of deceased acted as pallbearers.

Few people realize the immense amount of work that is being done here and the carnival will be educative to this extent. There will be no admission as it is hoped that the exhibition will stimulate interest in military matters and assist recruiting.

PROHIBITION WORKERS.

Committee of Fifty Meet—Encouraging Reports Received.

Another meeting of the Committee of Fifty prohibition workers was held at the Y. M. C. A. last night for the purpose of checking up the results of the circulation of the petition last week.

In some of the wards reported on, fully eighty per cent. of the voters have signed, while in others the percentage will not be over fifty. On the whole, however, the results to date are very gratifying to the workers, and what is lacking in one or two of the city wards will be more than overbalanced by the splendid returns from the townships, many of whom are getting ninety per cent. and upwards. As for the supplementary petition, the canvassers say that practically all the women are willing to sign.

Permission from the military authorities has been granted to the Committee of One Hundred to canvass among the soldiers stationed in barracks in Ontario; and the local committee is arranging to approach the men of the different units in Kingston, and county during this week. In order to give everyone a chance the canvass has been extended for a few days longer, but it is the intention to have all the work completed this week.

THEATRICAL NEWS

At The Grand.

Heading a splendid bill of pictures and vaudeville is Charley Cherry, the celebrated character actor in "The Mummy and the Humming Bird." The story is one of domestic life and contains numerous thrilling episodes which are admirably acted and well screened. "The Topical Budget" something along the lines of the Pathe is a new offering which should please. Other pictures were a joker comedy, "Nicktown Rivals" which is a sure dispenser of blues and the Pathe series, Miss Juanita L. Fletcher is just as pleasing as ever. She has some neat gowns and new songs. The other act introduced "The Stellings" in a snappy banjo offering. The duo play some classic numbers in excellent style. The orchestra under the leadership of Prof. Arbuckle is gaining favor at each performance. The show will be repeated this evening and for the matinee to-morrow.

"Twin Beds."

When Selwyn and Company present "Twin Beds" at the Grand Opera House on Wednesday evening, Feb. 2nd, they bring with it the endorsement of a run of precisely fifty-two weeks in New York, where the rolling floors of apartment house life kept crowded houses in gales of laughter in the record run of last season.

"Twin Beds" is, first, a clean farce; second, an overwhelmingly amusing one, and last, a farce with more than mere situation to recommend it, thick-set as it is with the best of these.

At the Strand.

The bill for the first three days of the week at this popular theatre is one that should please all lovers of high class entertainment and judging by the capacity audiences which greeted the Monday performances the same order of things should prevail to-night and to-morrow the feature photo-play "My Madonna" in five parts from the poem by the same name by Robert W. Service, featuring the world-famed emotional actress Mme. Olga Petrova is one of exceptional strength and pleased everyone present. Other good photo-plays were also shown. This big masterpiece from the pen of Canada's Kipling will be shown again to-night and at the Wednesday performances.
