The 146th Battalion has been able to secure for its ranks a number of farmers but not all of them have been well educated. For physique they more than equal the recruits of the larger places. For use in the ranks these soldiers are equal to any but they are of little value in specialist work. For scouts, signalling and similar purposes their lack of knowledge of the English language debars them.

The following have been taken on the strength of the 146th Battalion: F. Clench, F. Hingey, R. I. Jackson, W. H. Aubin, R. Hooper, George A. Cooper.
