The late Mr. McWaters resided in Portmouth for many years with his daughter, Mrs. William Carr. He left there about eighteen months ago. Deceased was about eighty-one years of age. For some years he had been an invalid.

The Late James Reid.

Kingston lost one of its oldest residents Sunday evening when James Reid, aged 97 years, passed to rest at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Waters, 100 Clergy street. When a very young man he left Scotland, his native land, and came to Kingston where he resided ever since. For years he carried on a confectionery store in the shop now occupied by Frank Coates, jeweller. After giving up business he travelled through the district but retired sixteen years ago. His wife died forty years ago. Since that time he lived with his daughter. He had been an active man all his life and it was only two days ago that he was taken ill. On Saturday evening he read the Whig as usual. Ever since coming to Kingston he had taken the Whig and was a staunch Liberal.

He is survived by two sons, Dr. William of Barre, Vermont, and James of Toronto. Mrs. John Waters is his only daughter. He was a member of the First Congregational Church. The funeral service will be conducted by Rev. Leroy Rice.

The Late Miss Sarah Wright.

The death occurred on Saturday night at her late residence, King street west, of Miss Sarah Wright, daughter of the late John Wright. The deceased was fifty-eight years of age, and had been ailing for some time. She is survived by one brother and two sisters.

William Woods, of Charles street, had a miraculous escape from death on Saturday. He was engaged in shovelling snow off the roof of the balcony at his home when he fell off and in the fall had three ribs fractured. No person was in the house at the time and as Mr. Woods made his way through one of the windows he took a weak spell and fell down a flight of stairs, and suffered serious cuts and bruises about his face. He was doing as well as could be expected on Monday.

A Seduction Case.

On Monday morning Walter Radage, employed in a local factory, appeared before Justice of the Peace George Hunter charged by Ella Smith with seduction under promise of marriage. ## THEATRICAL NEWS

At the Grand.

Another splendid bill of photoplays and vaudeville has been arranged for the Grand for the first three days of this week. Heading the photoplay portion of the bill will be charming Marguerite Clark in a picture of Mark Twain's famous romance, "The Prince and the Pauper." It is said to be one of the most elaborately costumed and scened of the present-day film offerings. Miss Clark appears in a dual capacity which gives her wide scope for her remarkable talents. The Pathé Topical Weekly, a two-reel Universal play and a one-reel comedy complete the picture end of the bill. There will be two up-to-the-minute vaudeville acts.

George Arliss in "Paganini".

George Arliss comes to the Grand on Thursday, March 30th, in a new comedy from the pen of Edward Knoblauch. Mr. Knoblauch has wrought his latest work around the English period of the life of Paganini, the great Italian violinist, and weirdly eccentric figure and personality of Europe in 1830. "Paganini" is said to provide for Mr. Arliss a part which calls for the exercise of his full artistry, giving the star opportunities comparing with those he found in "Disraeli". His work in that role is still fresh in the public mind, and his coming in a new part will excite curiosity to see what further arts Mr. Arliss can add to his delineations of character. The theme of the play is the love for Paganini of an ingenious young English girl, who, at first falling under the spell of the music of the violinist, finally loves the man himself. Paganini, being a man much older than she, and with other embarrassments, saw that her affection could lead only to unhappiness. How he dealt with the situation and finally secures for Charlotte an enduring peace of mind forms the climax of the story.

At the Strand.

The programme booked for the first three days of this week by the management of the Strand is one that should prove a decided success and appeal to the many patrons of this popular house of high class entertainment. Three headliners are on the bill which includes that well-known actress "Bessie Barriscale," assisted by Frank Mills and an all-star cast in a five-part Triangle Play, "The Golden Claw," a story of love and intrigue that is sure to please. The comedy itself is one that should fill the theatre at all the performances featuring as it does those two world-famed comedians "Weber and Fields," who will be seen in a two-part farce entitled "The Best of Enemies." It is a scream from start to finish and will give Kingstonsians their first chance to see these famous stars in action as they have never appeared here on either the screen or legitimate stage. Four other good reels of pictures will be shown and the Hope-Jones Unit Orchestra will also render the latest and most appropriate music. Seats may be reserved daily at the box office from 2 to 10 p.m.

At Griffin's Theatre.

"Vanity Fair," with Mrs. Fiske, which visits the Griffin Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, March 29th and 30th, is by all odds the most imposing film ever made by Edison. To engage a star so renowned as Mrs. Fiske and to surround her with a cast of more than four hundred people is something of a feat. Mrs. Fiske, who has played the role of "Becky" precisely one thousand times, consented to do so for the thousand and first time before the motion picture camera. Her "Becky" is among the greatest of stage impersonations.

St. George's Cathedral.

Rev. Rural Dean Whalley, Arrprior, father of the curate of St. George's, preached an eloquent sermon in the Cathedral on Sunday morning on Jacob and Esau. Showing how even a life as mean and selfish as Jacob could be changed into a strong life of holiness. The preacher strongly appealed for the Lenten fast and endeavor.

Going Overseas.

Pte. H. W. Kerr, of the 61st Winnipeg Battalion, is in the city on a visit before proceeding overseas with his unit. He was formerly an employee of the mailing department of the Whig, but removed to Winnipeg with his parents about two years ago. Thus another is added to the long list of Whig employees and ex-employees who have donned the khaki.

Provost, Brock street, has this year an extra fine assortment of Tweeds, Cheviots and Serges for his order clothing department. His ready-made clothing and gents' furnishing departments are well-assorted with new goods.

Now that the weather has turned so mild, there is no excuse whatever for citizens not cleaning off the snow. Every one should turn in and get the slush off the walks.
