COMING TO KINGSTON
G. W. KYTE, M. P., TO ADDRESS THE COUNTY LIBERALS.
Member Who Made Sensational Charges in Ottawa House Will be Principal Speaker at Annual Meeting—A Sketch of His Career.
G. W. Kyte, M. P., for Richmond, N. S., "the man of the hour," in political circles, at Ottawa, who made sensational charges in the House of Commons, on Tuesday, regarding the contracts for war munitions, is coming to Kingston. He will be here on Saturday afternoon, for the purpose of delivering an address at the annual meeting of the County of Frontenac Liberals, which will be held in the Court House.

The County Liberals are looking forward to a great treat at the meeting. Mr. Kyte is a brilliant speaker, and in view of the recent charges he made in the house, his address will be of great interest. A record crowd is looked for at this gathering.
Nelson Parliament, M.P.P. for Prince Edward County, will also be one of the speakers. Duncan C. Ross, M. P., of Strathroy, Ont., was invited to deliver an address, but he has written stating that it will be impossible for him to come.

George William Kyte is a clever lawyer from Richmond, N. S. He was born fifty-two years ago at St. Peter's, N. S., and received his higher education at Antigonish, where he was later admitted to the bar. He was at one time clerk assistant in the Legislative Assembly of Nova Scotia, and later chief clerk. He entered the House of Commons in 1908.
Mr. Kyte's experience in Nova Scotia includes a nine-years' term as School Commissioner. He is a Roman Catholic and a Liberal. He is a man of striking personal appearance and an impressive speaker. He has high standing at the bar, and has been retained in some notable United States, one of which was the Hattie Le Blanc murder case in Boston.

FINISHED A QUILT ON 70TH BIRTHDAY.
Mrs. W. R. Caswell Attended Barrieffield School 62 Years Ago.

Mrs. W. R. Caswell, years ago, a well-known resident of Kingston, has just celebrated her 70th birthday, finishing a log cabin quilt which she commenced work on March 1st. To mark the event, Mrs. Caswell walked from Kingston to Barrieffield, and paid a visit to the old school house there, which she attended sixty-two years ago. She also had dinner with her old school mate, Mrs. W. Hutton, Barrieffield, and also spent an hour with her first teacher, Mrs. Watt, Union street.
Mrs. Caswell is the eldest daughter of the late Sgt. John Steacy, formerly of the police force, this city.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.
Lieut. John Gzowski to Wed Miss Kittie Hughes.
A London cable says: Lieut. Col. St. Pierre Hughes, commanding the 21st, and Mrs. Hughes have announced the engagement of their daughter, Kittie, to Lieut. John Gzowski, of the 19th, son of C. S. Gzowski, Toronto. The future father-in-law and son-in-law are now at the front. It is incorrect that Col. St. Pierre Hughes has been invalided to England.

OF THE 21ST BATTALION KILLED IN ACTION.

His Wife Resides At 212 Rideau Street—Daughter Born To Her in December Last.

Bugler Frederick Carter, 21st Battalion, was killed in action on March 18th by a gunshot wound in the chest received while carrying ammunition to a machine-gun crew. His home was at 212 Rideau street, and he was twenty years of age.

The announcement that Bugler Carter had made the supreme sacrifice for his country was a matter of deep regret not only to military men, but a large number of citizens. Since coming here from Harrow, England, where his parents reside, he proved himself a true man and a soldier. He was one of the best of buglers, and was honored by being chosen as the only one to go with the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery detachment at the coronation in 1910. He was for three years in "A" Battery, R. C. H. A., as a trumpeter, and after leaving the battery was appointed sergeant bugler of the 8th Gananoque Battery.

When the war broke out Bugler Carter was very anxious to go and do his "bit," but owing to the fact that his brother-in-law, Sgt. Akery, was going overseas with the R. C. H. A., he prevailed upon to remain at home and look after the family. When illness made the return of Sgt. Akery necessary, Bugler Carter immediately enlisted in the 21st Battalion to take his place on the firing line.

A pathetic part of the story is the fact that besides his wife, he is survived by a little daughter, born on December 18th last year, and who has never seen daddy.
In lodge work the deceased was actively connected with the Sons of England, and his death adds another to the list of heroes of this lodge.

NOT AGAINST ALDERMAN

Case of Last July Against Another Party.

Kingston, March 30.—(To the Editor) In your issue of the 28th inst., you state in the report of Council that a fine was levied against an alderman on July 20th last, and that the same was not paid till March 20th of this year. I am told there is no such record in the police court proceedings, and the statement discredits some of our aldermen. I think, in justice to the men sitting around the board, you should give the alderman's name.—TAXPAYER.

The Whig finds that the case of July 20th was not against an alderman, and it also finds that any fines imposed on aldermen last year were duly paid. By way of a joke the July case was stated in Council to be against an alderman, and it was reported as a fact.

At the Police Court.
There was a very short session of the Police Court Thursday morning. The middle-aged woman who threatened to fight every member of the police force, when gathered in for drunkenness on Wednesday afternoon, was as meek as a lamb when arraigned before the Magistrate, and was fined $3 and costs, with the option of twenty days.

By the Well-Known English Novelist, Ian Hay.
Ian Hay, who was a lieutenant in Gen. French's Army in France, was with the force during the battles of Mons, the Marne and the long retreat into France. Read what the English Press says:—
Morning Post:—"No quotations can do justice to this dramatic record of dogged bravery and heroic self-sacrifice."
Daily Graphic:—"No volume of the war can expect to have more delighted readers."
Scotsman:—"It distinctly ranks as a literary event."
Globe:—"A narrative as convincing in its truth as it is captivating in its humor."
London News:—"Inimitable sketches of the lighter side of the war."
Broad Arrow:—"Through the stern realities are often relieved by the humorous vein of the writer, the narrative always bears the impress of truth."

JAIL GOVERNOR EXPLAINS
About the Admitting of Prisoners—What the Rules Require.
Governor C. H. Corbett makes a very clear explanation to the Whig as to why he objected last week to admitting a prisoner into the jail between twelve and one o'clock noon. He says the rules require that before a prisoner is received, he must have a turnkey with him in the outer corridor so that the gates may be locked when the prisoner has passed through. This is a necessary precaution. The turnkeys go home at twelve o'clock for their dinner, after being on duty from 6 a.m., and he alone is in charge of the jail during that hour. The chief reason for the turnkeys going home at noon is so that they will have their meal at the same time as the prisoners. If one turnkey went at twelve and the other at one o'clock for dinner, it would mean that the prisoners would be idle for one hour, as two men are required to look after them. The Governor says he might change their meal hour, but it would be hardly worth while, because when the authorities know the jail conditions it is easy to arrange with him as to when a prisoner could be best received.
