WALDRONS

TWO KILLED IN ACTION; TWO DIE OF WOUNDS

Pte. Poffley of Fighting Family.
 The telegram that came from the Militia Department to Mrs. Poffley, announcing the death from wounds of her son Thomas Ralph, brought grief not only to herself and family but to a large number of friends throughout the city. The dead boy was only seventeen when the war broke out, but he immediately applied for enlistment in the 14th Regiment Guards. As a soldier he was one of the best and did good work on the guard. He enlisted for overseas service with the 39th Belleville Battalion, but later transferred to the 21st Kingston Battalion, going in No. 2 Company.

The deceased came out from England about ten years ago and before enlisting, was learning to be a tinsmith. He was an apprentice in Lemmon & Sons' store and later was with Simmons Bros. The family is now living at 154 Ontario street.

The late Pte. Poffley came of a true British pat. His family whose first consideration is for country rather than personal trouble. Thomas Poffley, the deceased boy's father and William, brother, are now in the 146th Battalion. His sister's husband is at the front with the 39th Battalion. An uncle of the boy was recently reported as having been wounded and is now maimed a leg. His name is William Poffley, and he is with the English Guards.

Pte. Henry Bird.
 Pte. Ulderique P'oiseau, better known as Henry Bird, formerly a barber of this city, enlisted in the 21st Battalion in Kingston on November 11th, 1914, leaving the city on May 5th, 1915. He was a member of the platoon of which the late Lieut. Wilgress was in command. Deceased is survived by his wife and a number of children.

Pte. Stanley Guild.
 Pte. Stanley Guild, who is reported to have died of wounds, was a son of John Guild, 29 Charles street. When the Whig representative called at the home, the mother of the late soldier was not aware that her son had given up his life. The daughter had not informed her mother of her brother's death.

For seven years Pte. Guild was employed in "Jack" McGill's cigar store. He enlisted in the battalion in Kingston. He is survived by his father and mother, two brothers and two sisters. Capt. "Jack" Guild is a brother.

THEATRICAL NEWS

At the Grand.
 A splendid bill of photo plays and vaudeville has been arranged for the Grand to-night and to-morrow matinee and night, with Fannie Ward in "Tennessee Pardner," featuring the screen portion of the programme. It is a story of the plains experiences of a young girl who is left parentless. There will also be a two reel drama "Plot and Counterplot," which is highly recommended; the Pathe News and a one reel comedy which contains a giggle in every move. On the vaudeville portion of the bill are Carson and Campbell, in a sensational but refined exhibition of rifle shooting, knife throwing and some clever work with battle-axes. The act is said to be the best of its sort on the variety stage. Charles Keating, singing comedian will complete the vaudeville.

"Within the Law."
 The minimum wage question and recent agitation thereupon play an important part in "Within the Law," which will be seen at the Grand on Saturday, April 22nd, matinee and night. The heroine is a poor shop-girl underpaid and undertold, who after serving three years in prison for an offence that she did not commit, and trying vainly to obtain decent employment, becomes the head of a band of "crooks" and with their assistance takes her revenge upon society. Another interesting feature of the drama is the introduction of a man alienated, which is shown in this play for the first time on any stage. It is a device by which a revolver may be fired without producing a report of any kind. How "Joe" Garson makes use of this formidable gun is a point of pivotal interest in working out of the plot. "Within the Law" is in four acts and there are more thrills to the situations of the act than were ever before written into one drama by any author.

"Rolling Stones" Easter Monday
 "Rolling Stones," described as a comedy of youth and adventure, will be the attraction at the Grand on Easter Monday, matinee and night. It contains all the elements of success, has exciting melodrama, comedy of the most unctious kind and the love interest is said to be irresistible. It comes to Kingston with the majority of its original cast and with its complete original production intact. As this is the only company presenting this piece entour this season, local theatregoers can anticipate with all degree of certainty an entertainment that has not been handed about the country indiscriminately for a season.

Is Mary Pickford Married?
 This question has been puzzling thousands of ladies. For their benefit we answer. Yes. To whom? To Owen Moore, who is also a screen star of no mean ability. You have seen and known Mary. What is more natural than her desire to see the man who Mary fell for. He is a lucky fellow also a smooth leader and a capable actor. You can see him at the Strand to-night, Friday and Saturday, where he will appear as a co-star with sweet "Dorothy Gish" in a five act Triangle play, "Jordan is a Hard Road." Don't miss this chance of seeing Mary's hubby and deciding whether you agree with her or if you would have picked a different-looking man had you been in her shoes. A two-act Keystone "Fatty and the Broadway Stars" and three other good photo plays will also be shown.

GUNNER PERRYMAN

Is Employed At Front On Forage Service.
 Gunner Perryman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Perryman, corner of York and Frontenac streets, writes to his parents from "Somewhere in Belgium," that he is enjoying the best of health. To quote from his letter:

"I am still away from the guns, and may be away for quite a while yet, for I am on the forage wagons, and we take rations to the batteries. I go up to our battery every day with forage, and get the mail if there is any. This is some job, but I would rather be up at the guns, for there is more excitement here sometimes. I am continually running across a lot of our old battery fellows from Kingston. I have received the parcels you sent. The cake did not last long. It is nice to have a feed of cake once in a while, for we never see any over here. I am well fixed for socks now, as I have about six pairs of new ones, but they go fast."
 The writer also expresses pleasure in learning that his two brothers, Harvey and Stan, have both donned khaki. One is in the 156th Battalion, and the other in the 14th Home Guards.

Easter Hats.

Smartness, quality, and value go hand in hand at Campbell Bros.

The Marvel Of Roanoke.

The city of Roanoke is scarcely more than 25 years old, but now it has a population of about 30,000, and is sometimes called the Chicago of Virginia. It was produced by the location of the Norfolk and Western shops. Men who were failures elsewhere have made their fortunes at Roanoke.

Smart Hat Styles.

All the latest fashion fancies of two continents are assembled at Campbell Bros.

Food For Battalion.

In the British army a battalion of 1,016 men requires for its daily rations 635 two-pound loaves, 127 pounds of bacon, more than 31 pounds of salt and nearly 13 pounds of pepper, to mention only a few of the items.

Watch the results of your charity and it will make you more charitable. Happy indeed is the man who can quickly lose sight of disappointments.

Mrs. J. R. C. Dobbs is arranging for a concert by the choir of Chalmers Church in the Military Y. M. C. A. hall on Thursday evening.

The Pioneer Battalion.
 The 4th Overseas Pioneers' Battalion, C. F. A., has commenced recruiting in this district. This battalion is of interest to Kingstonians as three of its officers are old residents of the city. Capt. E. H. Pense is a son of the former proprietor of this paper. Capt. H. B. Muckleston, formerly of this city, has arrived and opened an office at 84 Brock street. As this battalion, like the former ones, will go overseas as soon as recruited, it should draw into its ranks a number of those who object to the long, hard training which an infantry battalion has to undergo in Canada.

Open To-night.
