He offered a resolution to the effect that a mandamus be applied for to enforce the Council to furnish the necessary money.

"If some one has to be League. The Missionary Commitwelked on, well we will be the tee collected about $110 for the work goats, but in any case a conciliatory course should be adopted," said

Trustee Henderson suggested that friction of this kind would not be of good to the Board. He would like to have the Council given one more opportunity. "How create the opportunity?" queried Trustee Anglin. The Aldermen knew that they were wrong, and he understood that the city's legal adviser had shown that,

The Board Extravagant?

Trustee Anglin brought up the reported fact that the Board of Education was extravagant. He said that the public had such an opinion Trustee Henderson then handed the secretary an editorial clipped from the British Whig of recent date which showed this point. The edi-torial was the subject of brief discussion until Trustee Meek reminded the members that newspapers should be side-tracked for the time being and the remainder of the time taken up with actual business. Trustee Mills believed that the Council had been misinformed about the requirements of the Board. He would suggest that a committee consisting of the Chairman and Trustees Farrell, Meek and Anglin meet the Council and see what can be done.

Trustee Farrell seconded Mr. Angsued. It would not be necessary to do this immediately, and in the Fresh California Prunes, meantime more information could be obtained. He was anxious however that the matter be cleared up so that the tax rate would not be made out on the wrong basis.

Trustee Macdonald remarked that the Board has been treated discour-Evaporated Apricots, 15c teously. The Property Committee of which he is a member did as the other committees and went over every item in the estimates. He saw no reason why aldermen with the same public to represent should do what they had done.

CARS IN WARFARE. Overland Car Does Valiant Service On Mexican Border,

The use of motor trucks and armored automobiles has already been demonstrated in actual warfare, but it remained for the American troopers now chasing Pancho Villa in Mexico, or guarding the border, to demonstrate the feasibility of putting ordinary touring cars to military

A few days ago an Overland touring car was driven north of Columbus, N.M., by United States artillerymen. A machine gun was mounted in the tonneau and targets were fired at, with the machine travelling and at a standstill.

The test was reported to be very successful. It was found that a touring car was fully as logical and as feasible as a truck for the purpose.
