HAVE RIGHT PARTIES
THE FORGER'S CONFEDERATES BROUGHT TO KINGSTON
 By Inspectors Parkinson and Reynolds—Remanded Until Monday—Acknowledged Their Guilt.
 "Robert Flannigan, Mamie Russell and May Grant, arrested in Sudbury Thursday by Inspector Parkinson of the Dominion Police, and Inspector Reynolds of the Dominion Immigration Department, appeared in Police Court on Saturday morning charged with passing bogus cheques on local merchants and were remanded until next Friday.
 Inspectors Parkinson and Reynolds arrived in the city on Tuesday morning at 2.30 o'clock with the three prisoners and immediately placed them in the cells at the police station.
 When speaking to Inspector Parkinson the Whig learned that the right parties. From the time the trio left Kingston, the inspectors were constantly on their trail. When they arrived at Belleville they bought through tickets to Sudbury. The inspectors immediately got in communication with North Bay and Sudbury. Inspector Reynolds went to Sudbury while Inspector Parkinson went to North Bay. With the assistance of the Sudbury police Inspector Reynolds landed the trio.
 When questioned the three acknowledged that they were guilty of passing the cheques. They had no cheques on them when arrested. In Police Court, when arraigned the trio pleaded "Not Guilty" and were remanded until Friday. T. J. Rigney is appearing on their behalf.
 On Saturday morning Inspector Parkinson and Police Constable Bateson found eleven more cheques. Flannigan stated that he would show the constables where he had thrown some cheques, so they took him out for a drive. When they got up near the Hotel Dieu he told the police to look under the sidewalk leading into the Hotel Dieu. When they looked under the walk they found eleven cheques. One was made out for $25 while the others were for small sums. The cheques were signed with the name of Capt. Kennedy.
ACKNOWLEDGE SOCKS
 That Were Knit by Mrs. J. R. Henderson.
 Mrs. J. R. Henderson, 49 Clergy street, has received letters from Lieut. William Nickle and George C. D. Rainey, of the 21st Battalion, C. E. F., acknowledging the receipt of socks, collected by the British Whig. Lieut. Nickle says in part:
 "Capt. Penno received a large parcel of socks to-day knit by the you at home for us Kingston boys at the front. I was very lucky, and received the socks knit by you. They were fine. As a matter of fact, all the Kingston boys got two pairs of socks. Feel assured that the work done by you at home is fully appreciated by us all out here."

 Wolfe Island Vestry Meetings.
 The adjourned vestry meeting of Trinity Church, Wolfe Island, was held on the Thursday after Easter. The auditor's report showed the expenditure to be considerably over one thousand dollars and the amount for missions and other benevolent work over $150. Five young men of the congregation have offered and been accepted for overseas service. George Friend and William Fawcett were re-elected rectors and people's wardens respectively and lay delegates. Synod in June. At Christ Church, at the foot of the island, George Gillespie and George Barry were re-elected wardens, with Mr. Barry as lay delegate.

THE COLLEGIATE CLUB
 Has Had a Most Successful Season of Meetings.
 Two of the Collegiate Club's own boys were the speakers on Friday night. G. Roney gave a very well thought out talk on "The Future of the K. C. I. Club." The second speaker was J. T. Gow, who, as secretary, made his talk in the nature of a combined secretary's report and valedictorian address. The club has held seventeen meetings with an average attendance of thirty-five. The idea in the formation of the club was that the boys should assemble every week and hear talks, after supper, on character-building lines. The speaker dwelt on the great need of listening to and of taking in the good advice so freely given. Many a grievous and costly mistake in history has been caused by the refusal to accept kindly and well-meant advice. The club has been taught many lessons, and the only thing left is to apply them.
