This Garden Hose Can't Kink

No there's no excuse for having hose that soon springs back from breaks in the rubber and fabric. And the pipes of this hose can't separate. So water, near and weather can't loosen and ruin it like common hose.

GOOD YEAR NERO HOSE

The crowning triumph of Good Year experts in making a low-priced hose that defies destructive forces. Comes in any length up to 500 feet.

Reliable Hose
The best wrapped fabric construction because the fabric edges are stitched—not just stuck. Comes in 50 foot lengths. We selected these two brands after careful comparison of all the principal makes. And we urge you, for your own sake, to heed our plea that means an end to hose trouble.

FAIR GROUNDS EVENTS STEAMER WAS SUNK

RESULTS OF THE HORSE RACES AND SPORTS.

Held in Connection With the Big Celebration of the 146th Battalion on Wednesday Afternoon.

The military sports at the fair grounds on Wednesday afternoon were among the best ever held in the city. Capt. James T. Sutherland, quartermaster of the 146th Battalion, and Lieut. James Bews, physical director of No. 3, were in charge. Owing to the immense number of people in the grounds the events were held on the track some distance from the judges' stand. The results were:—100 yard dash, 1st, McQuinn, 51st Battery; 2nd, Page, "C" R. C. H. A. 220 yard dash—1st, Page, "C" R. C. H. A.; 2nd, Goddard, 53rd Battery. 440 yard dash—1st, McCulla, 53rd Battery; 2nd, Paine, 50th Battery. Half mile race—1st, McCulla, 53rd Battery; 2nd, Thorpe, 52nd Battery. (Three heats.) All first received gold medals and seconds a silver medal.

The Artillery Marching contest, for which Aid. S. S. Corbett donated a valuable cup, was won by the 50th (Queen's) Battery after a hard competition. The infantry marching competition was won by "B" Company, 146th Battalion. This cup was donated by Kinnear and d'Esterre and at Barriefield.

J. Juniac donated a cup for the winning tug-of-war team, but this competition will also be decided at the camp.

Two Good Races.
In spite of the fact that the track was very heavy, owing to the recent rains, two very good races were pulled off and remarkably good time was made. Ashland Queen, owned by E. J. Metcalfe, won the honors in the half mile run, and the contest was made exceedingly interesting with Darkey, owned by P. Kelly, a close second.

In the named race, Frank R., owned by E. J. Metcalfe also carried off first prize with Billy Dillon, owned by J. Corcoran second. Under the circumstances, the committee in charge of the horse races is to be congratulated for putting on such a splendid card. With such heavy rains as prevailed the past week or so, it was impossible to keep the track in good shape.

Following is a summary of races with the officials.

Running Half Mile.
Ashland Queen—E. J. Metcalfe 1.21
Tootsie—Walter O'Donnell . . . 1.2

SWORD OF HONOR TO BOTH

Elaborate Blade Presented to South African Premier by Cape Town

Cape Town, May 25.—A unique sword of honor has been presented to Gen. Louis Botha, premier of the Union of South Africa, by Cape Town in recognition of his services to the Empire as the conqueror of German Southwest Africa. It is a beautiful weapon of finest English workmanship, and was designed specially to reflect South Africa. The handle is of South African Boer's tusk, showing its natural features. The guard is of silver gilt reposed with vine leaves and grapes, and the terminals of the guard are formed of modeled pomegranates, the seeds being of South African garnets.

Boots and shoes are bound, in the opinion of Montreal manufacturers to go up in price soon, and to an extent that cannot be judged at present.

Lantic Sugar

Thorough mixing is what makes cake delicate and tender makes the best cake because it creams quickly and thoroughly with the butter which is the hardest part of the mixing. Its purity and extra "fine" granulation make it dissolve at once.

BYRON WHITTAKER WENT DOWN IN SOULANGES CANAL

Navigation Was Tied Up As a Result of the Accident—Other Marine Notes Around the Harbor.

The steamer Byron Whittaker, well known at the port of Kingston, was sunk in the Soulanges canal on Wednesday, and as a result there has been a general tie-up in navigation. The vessel was coal-laden on the way to Montreal, and went down about two miles below Coteau.

The steamer Advance, Windsor, and Simla are tied up as a result of the accident. M. T. Co.'s Bulletin: Tug Emerson arrived light from Sodus, and cleared with the barges Muskoka and Valencia for Fairhaven and Oswego; steamer India passed Port Dalhousie this morning, coal-laden, for Montreal; the tug Bartlett arrived with the barges Hamilton and Winnipeg with grain from Port Colborne, and cleared with the two barges for Montreal.

The schooner Jex arrived from Oswego with coal for Robert Crawford.

The schooner Julia B. Merrill, coal-laden from Oswego, is unloading at Anglin's wharf.

The schooner Katie Eccles arrived from Oswego with coal for Sowards.

The schooner Charley Marshall arrived from Oswego with coal for Patrick Walsh.

Hudson Bay Navigable.

The Government Railways Department a few days ago made reply to various assertions as to the navigability of the Hudson Bay route based on a recent report by Mr. Anderson, officer in charge of Hudson Bay surveys for the Marine Department.

The statement is to the effect that Mr. Anderson's own mature opinion, as previously expressed, is that the route is navigable. His work as hydrographic surveyor naturally took him into bays and inlets where conditions would be quite different from those obtaining on the main steamship lines. Owing to his report contained very little information, having any bearing on navigation in the Hudson Bay route.

Just before Mr. Anderson left on his last voyage to Hudson Bay he prepared an article entitled "Supplement relating to Hudson Bay and Strait" for the Arctic Pilot, in which he states that "the period during which properly constructed vessels could enter Hudson Strait with comparative safety may be taken to extend from July 15 to November 15, with slight extension at either end according to season."

Forty-Nine Divorced Persons Married

There were 739 fewer marriages in Ontario in 1915 than the year before, the figures being 23,506 and 24,245. Nineteen divorced men and 30 divorced women were among the number in 1915. Fourteen of the divorced men married spinsters, two married widows, and three married divorced women. Twenty-one divorced women married bachelors, six married widowers, and three married divorced men. The number of widowers who again married was 1,480, while 1,078 widows were included in the total.

Beating About the Bush.

Mr. Tennant's recent remark in the House of Commons to the effect that his "honorable friend," who had put a question to him respecting the "emptiness" of certain barracks, "was confused" with the temporary existence of vacant accommodation, may fairly take its place as a nice example of official periphrasis. It is not quite so perfect, perhaps, as Mr. Winston Churchill's immortal "terminological inexactitude," but, none the less, quite good in its way. We recall in this connection another effort in the same line once humorously ascribed to an eminent postal official, now departed, who was famous for his love of grandiloquent language. In place of the words "grease-proof paper," he proposed, it was alleged, to substitute "paper impermeable by oleaginous matter!"

Then Patti Laughed.

It is difficult to realize that that wonderful woman Madame Patti will celebrate her seventy-third birthday this month, but such is the fact, and in spite of her age, her voice still retains its remarkable powers.

Madame Patti has told a good story about a little girl who was learning music. The famous singer had explained to her the meaning of the musical signs F and FF.

"Now," said Madame Patti, "if F means forte, what does FF mean?"

The little girl thought seriously for a moment, and then her face brightened.

"I know," she said at last, "eighty!"

The "Sub's" Adventure.

Here is the experience of a young "sub," who was unwise enough to ask an Anzac why he didn't salute.

"Who are you?" inquired the Australian, coolly.

"I'm an officer," said the angry sub. "Your superior officer, me!"

The Anzac looked at him pityingly. "Say, sonny," he remarked at length, "you go home and tell your mother that you've spoken to a real, live soldier."

Judge Edward Elliott, junior judge of the County of Middlesex, died Monday at London, after an illness extending over several months. He was a practicing lawyer in Perth, and while there contested the candidacy of Lanark as a Conservative for the Commons.

A gift of $2,000 from an anonymous source was received for the Flower Memorial Library, Waterbury, N. Y. A check for $2,000 was sent by Senator Elton R. Brown, who said that the money was given him by a friend who wished to have his name unknown. The money will be used for the purchase of books.

DOMESTIC PROBLEMS MUST BE CONSIDERED.

The Key Notes of Message of N. W. Rowell to the People of Ontario.

(Special to the Whig.)
Toronto, May 25.—More and more apparent becomes the significance of Mr. Rowell's latest speech urging the consideration of domestic problems arising from the war and which will become acute when the war is over. Mr. Rowell is still emphatic that as far as action is concerned our energies should be concentrated on the fundamental task of winning the war, but he also recognizes that if the oncoming problems are to be intelligently dealt with, they must receive, as they develop, the most serious attention.

Mr. Rowell is calling upon his colleagues and followers throughout the province to take this question into their earnest consideration and to think out policies and solutions to meet the needs. With the abolition of the bar there is greater scope and encouragement than ever for the prosecution of an advanced campaign of social reform.

The suggestion made in his own address, laid before the public for their attention, are radical and constructive. Mr. Rowell did not deal with the difficulties arising alone from city life, but from country life as well. He spoke in terms of the province as a whole, industrial and agricultural. Social justice, the chance for everyone to make the best of their opportunities and the application to real life of the principles of democracy and human brotherhood were the keystones of his message.
