

Told in the Twilight --- In the Realm of Woman

A number of young people held an enjoyable picnic at Lemoine's Point on Saturday. Those present were Miss Mary Coon, Miss Evelyn Nickle, Miss Catharine Minnes, Miss Gertrude McKelvey, Miss Dorothea Leslie, Miss Dorine Lovell, Miss Helen Nicol, Miss Kathleen Bibby, Miss Clara Farrell, Miss Doris McKay, Miss Phyllis Roughton, Donald and Herbert Robertson, Donald Roughton, Jamie and Presley McLeod, Jack Renton, Hugh and Donald Macpherson.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Johnston, Montreal, are the guests of their daughter, Mrs. R. J. McKelvey, Bagot street.

Mrs. Sandford Calvin, who has been visiting Bishop and Mrs. Farthing in Montreal, has returned home. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Byrne, who were the guests of Mrs. George Oldreive, Wellington street, for the week-end, returned to Ottawa on Monday.

Lieut. Granville Sinclair is spending a week with his parents in Belleville.

Miss Lillian Sanderson, Berrie street, who has been visiting friends in Montreal, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Graham and little son, Halifax, are the guests of Mrs. Samuel Birch, Bagot street.

Mrs. J. F. Sparks, Mrs. Percy Chown and Miss Georgie Purdy are spending a couple of weeks in New York.

Mrs. E. J. Macdowell has returned home after spending the winter in California.

Word has been received in town of the safe arrival at Kirkwall, Scotland, of Mrs. A. W. Winnett and her son, Master Bert Winnett.

Miss Mary Montzambert is leaving shortly for Cacouna, where she will spend the summer.

Miss Diana Miller, Napanee, left on Wednesday for New York, where she joined Mrs. Webb, and will return with her to California for an extended visit.

The marriage took place on Wednesday last at Folkestone of Sergt. Blake, First Field Artillery, to Miss Winnifred Sett, 166 Bleeker avenue, Belleville, Ont. The bride was given away by her brother, Sergt. G. A. Sett.

Mrs. (Dr.) Robertson and children, Tweed, will spend a few weeks holidays in Kingston.

Miss Nan Skinner, visiting Mrs. Millchamp, Heath street, Justice and Mrs. Margee in Elmley place, and Mrs. Charles Macdonald, Foxbar road, Toronto, has left for her island home on the St. Lawrence, near Gananoque. It is probable that Miss Skinner will go to Montreal next winter to be near her brother, W. B. Skinner, and his family.

Mrs. Thomas Killen, Bagot street, announces the engagement of her daughter, Irene Casterton, daughter of the late Charles E. Casterton, Camden, N.Y., to James Aikens, the marriage to take place some time in June.

The engagement is announced of Ayres Katharine, eldest daughter of Rev. W. and Mrs. Peacock, Perth, Ont., to John McIntyre Douglas, lieutenant in the 130th Regiment, Perth, son of the late Major J. W. and Mrs. Douglas, the marriage to take place quietly early in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin W. Lake, 361 Alfred street, Kingston, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Edna Pearl, to Percy Sheldon Joyce, Chicago, Ill., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Joyce, Napanee, the marriage to take place quietly on June 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Grant, Pittsburg, Ont., announce the engagement of their daughter Clara to Howard McCready, Wolfe Island, the marriage to take place early in June.

BROIL YOUR MEATS

The Fine Ancient Art of Cooking on a "Spit"

TRY THE BRAND NEW BROILER

Once Civilization Demanded a Skinned Dimetrodon Turned on a Stick, but Now We Must Depend Upon Gas Ranges and Smoky Drip Pans.

Was it in the stone age that the caveman discovered the fine art of broiling? Certain it is that the original roasting of Adam-Eve, Inc., was conducted without pan or fork and consisted of a skinned dimetrodon broiled over a stick. Even centuries later the "spit" was the chief form of cooking equipment, and obese barons lounged at the board while waiting for their serving of broiled ox.

But in modern times the broiling seems to have fallen into disrepute. The housewife of today hates to wash a broiler or her gas stove must be fitted with a special "broiler," and to cook by this method over either oil or open coal has disadvantages. And yet, perhaps no one method serves to cook good meat in such a perfect manner.

The constant turning of the meat before the flame, so that each side is evenly browned and seared and the juice is retained, a crisp crust results—ah, what is to equal a piece of meat rot!

But when no special apparatus is at hand and broiling must be done in the double wire rack over a glowing flame, while the fat drops into the coal only to sputter up and crackle and fill the kitchen with smoke—then broiling does not seem to be worth the trouble. Yet it is too good a method of preparing meat to be abandoned because of its unpleasant features. The thing is to do away with the unpleasant features as much as possible.

This can be done if the gas stove is fitted with a regular small, convenient broiler with drip pan. But an even better plan for a gas stove, a coal range or even oil is to use one of the newest articles on the market—a broiler plate—a small device made of heavy iron, corrugated, with a small hole at one end for the escape of juice. It is fitted with a bale handle and is quite light to use. The plate can be heated over any flame and the meat laid on it. In other words, the broiling goes on

Sleepytime Tales

MYRTLE'S LETTER.

Once upon a time Myrtle came rushing home from school all out of breath. "Oh, mother," she cried, "just think, our teacher wants us to write her a letter about our pets and tell her all about them, and I am going to write about Micky, wouldn't you," and before her mother could reply she continued, "I am going to begin right now." This is Myrtle's letter:

"Dear Teacher,—I love you, and I hope you will like my letter about my cat Micky. He has double paws. His tail is black and gray; his neck is white.

"His arms are white, and over them comes black and gray and forms kind of a jacket. I bought him a collar with two bells, so we can tell where he is.

"He seems to know where the water is; if he wants a drink he gets up in the sink.

"If there is a piece of fish or meat back of his saucer he puts his paws pack of the saucer and tries to get it out. Micky is four years old the 4th of July. Micky seems to like ice cream.

"When he sleeps I put a shawl on top of him and a piece of cloth for him to lie on.

"He sleeps on a chair in the parlor. I love my cat, but I love you best.

"Your friend scholar, Myrtle."

BREAKFAST

Bread Crumb Omelet.—Mix one cup of bread crumbs with a cup of hot milk, a teaspoon of butter and a little salt. When cold add two beaten eggs and turn into a buttered pan. When brown fold and serve.

LUNCHEON

Creamed Potatoes.—Pare, cut in dice and boil fifteen minutes. Drain, cover with milk, and a tablespoon each of flour and butter, and boil five minutes

New Potatoes au Gratin.—Mix three cups of cold, chopped boiled potatoes with one cup of milk and the same of water. Boil one minute and then add a tablespoon of dissolved flour and cook one minute longer. Turn into a baking dish, cover with half a cup of grated cheese, and pieces of butter, season and bake until brown.

Orange Cup Salad.—Cut in halves, scoop out the pulp and sprinkle with sugar. Boil the halves until tender, then cool. Fill with the pulp, to which has been added a tablespoon of sherry and a few bananas sliced thin. Serve on lettuce.

Cottage Pudding.—Mix one cup of flour with half a cup of sugar, the same of milk, one egg, and a teaspoon of baking powder. Bake in a quick oven. For the Foam Sauce boil a cup and a half of water with half a cup of sugar, and just before serving, beat in the stiffly beaten white of one egg.

A letter from Paris contains this paragraph: "We have had some zero weather here and more snow than we have ever seen in Paris. It was remarkable to see how the people handled it. There is of course a scarcity of men, but women filled the bill to perfection. I was amused at their implements, garden hoses and coal shovels."

Mme. Patti, who recently celebrated her seventy-third birthday, attributes her good health to the fact that since she was forty she has lived on a strict diet. Since that time she has eaten no red meat and drunk only white wine and soda.

and falls in a long loop down the side back, the brim being slightly bent in a graceful fold at this point. This is a delightful change from top hats.

Sweet Strawberry Shortcake.—Three eggs, one cupful of sugar, two of flour, one tablespoonful of butter, a teaspoonful (heaped) of baking powder. Beat butter and sugar together and add the well beaten eggs. Stir in flour and baking powder, well sifted together. Bake in deep tin plate. This quantity will fill four plates. With three pints of strawberries mix a cupful of sugar and mash them a little. Spread the fruit between the layers. The top layer of berries may be covered with a meringue made with the white of an egg and a tablespoonful of powdered sugar. The largest berries may be arranged on the top of the cake in a circle.

FEATHERS

The Cleaning and Dyeing of Feathers is a most important branch of our business, and one to which we devote a great deal of attention. Feathers can be cleaned or dyed very successfully.

We carry at all times an extensive stock of feathers manufactured in our own workrooms, which are on sale at very moderate prices.

White Serge Trimmed With Braid.

color for the young girl this season. Serge is unquestionably the most serviceable material, because it is smart and inexpensive. So many of the other fabrics cost too much to be worn generally. This attractive tailored suit for misses has a jacket that is shirred at the waistline for youthful effect and made with a square yoke and panel front cut in one. The one-piece sleeves are gathered at the wrists and finished with cuffs overlaid with braid.

In medium size the suit requires 4 1/2 yards 54-inch serge and 9 yards of braid. The various sections of the jacket are placed on the cutting guide so clearly that there should be no difficulty whatever in arranging the pattern on the material before cutting the jacket. The back, cape and yoke are laid on a lengthwise fold, if one prefer the round yoke and cape effect to the square yoke and straight front panel. Otherwise the square yoke and panel are placed on a lengthwise thread of material as illustrated in the guide. The collar, stays, front and sleeve are also laid on a lengthwise thread of material.

If the square yoke and front panel are desired, cut off upper part of front along the small "o" perforations, indicating the square outline. For a shorter length than is illustrated, cut off lower parts of front, back, panel front. The absence of pockets on this suit speaks for its independence and individuality.

Braid may be added to the lower edge of the jacket, but in doing so due regard must be paid to the height of the wearer.

THE tenderest skin in the world is that of a new born baby. The soap that nurse uses for its bath indeed must be the mildest in the world.

If you could take a peep into the millions of nurseries where Ivory Soap is used you would know that Ivory is good enough for your bath and toilet too.

Ivory is the favorite nursery soap because it is the mildest, the purest, the finest that can be made. For the same reason it should be your favorite too.
