AN ACTRESS IN TROUBLE
Left Ottawa Before Her Engagement Was Over

Ottawa, June 2.—Justice McTavish continued an injunction to restrain Roma Reade, an actress, from removing her props from St. George's theatre, where she had an uncompleted engagement which she broke to accept one at Toronto. The injunction is operative until the date of the trial of the action which Law & Murray lessees of the theatre, are taking against Miss Reade. The Free Press says that despite the injunction, the goods were removed from the theatre and adds that Miss Reade has left for Watertown, N.Y., and may not be back for some time. When she does return an effort will be made to have her committed for contempt of court.

Opportunities never are lacking whereby the fool can be parted from his money.
