King George and Admiral Jellicoe
Exchange Messages—His Majesty Mourns Loss of Brave Sailors.

London, June 5.—The British official press bureau made public the text of messages exchanged between King George and Admiral Jellicoe, commander-in-chief of the British Grand Fleet, on the occasion of the King's birthday. Admiral Jellicoe's message read:
"On the occasion of Your Majesty's birthday the officers and men of the Grand Fleet in humble duty send their respectful, heartfelt good wishes, with the loyal hope and determination that through victory for Your Majesty's arms and those of our gallant Allies the blessings of peace may be restored."
(Signed Admiral Jellicoe.)
The King replied:
"I am deeply touched by the message you have sent in behalf of the Grand Fleet. It reaches me on the morning of a battle which once more displayed the splendid gallantry of officers and men under your command."
"I mourn the loss of the brave men, many of them personal friends of my own, who have fallen in their country's cause. Yet even more do I regret that the German high seas fleet, in spite of its heavy losses, was enabled by misty weather to evade the full consequences of the encounter."
"They always professed a desire for which when the opportunity arrived they showed no inclination.
Though the retirement of the enemy was a tactical necessity, it was a general engagement robbed us of the opportunity of gaining a decisive victory, the events of last Wednesday amply justify my confidence in the valor and efficiency of the fleet under your command."
(Signed) GEORGE, R.I.

Berlin, via Sayville wireless, June three German steamers have been torpedoed by a submarine without warning, probably in Swedish waters.

Of the crews, six men perished.
Since the ships were sunk an English torpedo has been found near Skeldervik. The Swedish press considered it certain that the torpedoing was committed by an English submarine.

absolutely necessary for proper growth and maintenance of body, brain and nerves.

HOW THIN PEOPLE CAN PUT ON FLESH

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained?
You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over.
Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are probably saddy out of gear and need reconstruction.
Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating and eat with every ounce of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference.
Let the scales be the judge. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—give the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body.
Sargol, too, mixes with your food, to prepare it for a much while taking they have gained all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol and say that the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a careful combination of six of the best assimilative elements known to chemistry. They contain 49 tablets in a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and all good druggists in this vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in every large package. If you find a druggist who is unable to supply you, send $1.00 money order or registered letter to the National Laboratory, 74 St. Antoine St., Mon-real, and a complete ten day treatment will be sent you postpaid in plain wrapper.
