BABY THE SUFFERER
SORDID CASE UNFOLDED BEFORE MAGISTRATE FARRELL.
 Mother With Two Children Goes To Jail For Three Months For Keeping Disorderly House—Similar Sentence For Woman Frequenter.
 It was a sordid story that Magistrate Farrell was called upon to hear from members of the police force in Police Court on Thursday morning, and after all had been said and done, Mrs. Rosanna Squires was sent to jail for three months for keeping a disorderly house, and Mary Bowman, gathered in as a frequenter of the house, was given a similar sentence.
 The women were before the Magistrate as a result of a visit Sergeant Robert Nesbitt and some of his men paid to the home of Mrs. Squires on Vine street, about 8 o'clock Wednesday night.
 Mrs. Squires sat in the prisoner's box, with a six months' old baby in her arms. Her husband, attired in khaki, stood to the left of the dock, holding the hand of a two-year-old tot. It was a sad picture. The baby cried bitterly, and it was quite evident that the little one had been sadly neglected, and was suffering from a bad cold.
 Constable Daniel McCarey, who paid a visit to the Squires homestead Wednesday afternoon, following complaints he had received, told about the baby sitting in a high chair very scantily clothed. Its feet were red with the cold. While the baby suffered, the mother drank whiskey and entertained soldiers. Constable McCarey reported the matter to the chief of police, and as a result Sergeant Nesbitt and some of the big-coats raided the house. Mary Bowman was there at the time the police called, so she too was made one of the party taking the trip to the lock-up. Very modestly she informed the Magistrate that she had been in the house.
 Arrangements have been made for the care of the children while Mrs. Squires puts in her time at the jail. In September, 1914, she was found guilty of keeping a disorderly house, and served a term.

NEW ORANGE HALL
 Tenders Called For By Architect E. R. Beckwith
 Tenders are being advertised for the erection of the new Orange Hall building on Princess street, between Barrie and Division streets for which E. R. Beckwith, architect, has prepared plans.
 The ground floor will have a store on each side of the entrance and an assembly hall at rear of store.
 The second storey will be used for lodge purposes and will have a fine lodge room 35 x 60 with up-to-date ante rooms and regalia rooms.
 The front will be built of cut stone with gressed brick above and the rest of the walls with red stock brick.
 Alls Well With 59th
 Letters received in the city from members of the 59th Battalion, stated that everything is well with that unit, which is still in England.

ARE PLENTY OF MEN
SCARCITY OF RENNET
ABOUND KINGSTON TO FORM ANOTHER BATTALION.
 Recruiting Staff of the 146th Has Interviewed 800 Men, and Secured Twenty-four Recruits.
 The Whig, in conversation with Capt. G. I. Campbell on Thursday morning, learned that since May 24th the recruiting depots of the 146th Battalion had canvassed 800 men, had added twenty-one to the strength of the battalion, given three to the Army Service Corps, while eight had been rejected by the medical officer.
 "I believe that in and around Kingston there are plenty of men to form another battalion," said Capt. Campbell. "We are convinced of this fact as the result of the canvass we have made. There are a great many men who could very easily line up, and there are many men who are engaged in occupations which could very easily be filled by returned soldiers and men who are physically unfit to go to the front and by men who are over age. We are also convinced that there are many men living up and down the river who should come forward at this time and take their place in munition factories, and make way for other men to go to the front. These returned men could very easily take up work on the farm and in munition factories. I think that the positions of the clerks in the stores could very easily be filled by young women."
 Reports have been made from time to time to the effect that the men engaged in recruiting were receiving extra pay for this work. The Whig was informed from a reliable source that the men were not getting one cent additional to their regular pay. This should clear up this matter. White badges have been issued to men engaged in recruiting. These badges will be issued to women who care to go out and assist in the campaign for recruits.
 Lieut. Lamouck, of the 146th Battalion, is leaving on an extended trip to the countryside around Kingston, and while he is away Capt. G. I. Campbell and his staff will continue the work in the city.

LIVERYMAN RECOVERS A STOLEN HORSE.
Located It At Arnprior—Man Drove It Away on Monday.
 A. E. Howard, proprietor of Howard livery on Princess street, is returning to Arnprior with a horse that was stolen from his livery on Monday. At 3.30 a. m., Monday a man came into the livery and asked for a horse. He drove away and never returned. Inquiries were started by Mr. Howard with the result that he learned that the man had stopped for a meal at Seely's Bay on Monday evening. An automobile was seen on the road in pursuit and on Wednesday Mr. Howard sent word to the city that he had secured the outfit and was driving back to Kingston from Arnprior.

NO WORD YET RECEIVED
 As To the Fate of Lieut. Harry Uglow.
 R. Uglow, Barrie street, has received official notice from the Department of Militia and Defence that there is so far no trace of his son Harry, who was reported in the papers as being missing after the great fight at Sanctuary woods, near Ypres, and that until further word is received he will be counted among the missing. There is good reason to hope that when the official lists come from Germany the name of Lieut. Uglow will be among those taken prisoner.

W. J. PAUL, M.P., WRITES TO THE MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE
 Says Investigation Should be Held to Ascertain What is the Cause of the Shortage—Serious Matter to Close Factories.
 W. J. Paul, M.P., for Lennox and Addington, has written to Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture, at Ottawa, dealing with the question of cheese dairying and the great scarcity of rennet in this district.
 "If the industry had to close," says Mr. Paul, "it would be a very serious matter. The output for this season, from present prospects, will be in round figures between twenty-five and thirty millions but it is not only a matter of dollars to Canada, but necessary to supply our boys who are fighting in the trenches with cheese as a food, as it is bread."
 Mr. Paul appeals to the Minister of Agriculture to make an investigation into the matter and ascertain whether there is a shortage or whether the supply has fallen into the hands of a few "fakers" in order to make fortunes. He feels that if such is the case, it would be the duty of the Minister to take possession of every gallon of rennet and see that it is properly distributed among the manufacturers.
 Mr. Paul is directly interested in the cheese dairying, owning and operating four factories, manufacturing for some three hundred and twenty-five farmers. His output in dollars is between seventy-five and one hundred thousand for a season. Mr. Paul has a fair supply of rennet on hand for his own use, but knowing the conditions is speaking for the dairy industry in general. He points out that the factories in this community cannot operate any longer than to finish out the present week. He has come to the rescue of one or two factories by loaning them a few gallons of rennet, or they would have had to close down this week.

EXCLUDE JUVENILES FROM AMUSEMENT TAX
 It is not likely that the juveniles will pay much longer the amusement tax. Some weeks ago representations were made that the children might be exempt from giving their "mite" and it is stated on good authority, that the Ontario Government has decided, if practicable, to accede to what was suggested, and allow children into the amusement places without tax. This concession would necessitate some change in the machinery, but it is not believed there will be much trouble in this respect.

REGULATING TRAFFIC.
 On Princess Street at Night—Police Do Good Work.
 Citizens appreciate the action of the Police Commissioners in regulating the traffic on Princess street in the evening. With the increased number of cars in the city this action has become a necessity and there should be a minimum of accidents on the streets. The season started off right by summoning some speeders on the police road and this has had a good effect. Occasionally joy-riders and speeders go along Wellington and Barrie streets late at night but this is not so prevalent as it was last summer.

COUNTY GOOD ROADS.
 Committee Decides As To Rate of Taxation.
 The good roads committee of the county of Frontenac met Thursday morning. The rate of taxation for construction and maintenance was discussed. It was decided that three mills on the dollar should be charged, of which will go for the construction of the roads and one for the maintenance. The Government has agreed to bear 40 per cent. of the cost of construction and 20 per cent. of the cost of maintenance.
