About 160 parcels for Canadian war prisoners in Germany left the American Consul's office Wednesday. This makes the seventh shipment. In all about 1,200 parcels have been sent. The value of the goods enclosed in the parcels is placed at about $4,000. The parcels go to Germany via England and Holland, and they are in transit for about five-weeks before they reach the different detention camps. They go by parcel post and the Dominion Government
