ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN

Japanese women shave their faces. The Russian army has many Jean de Arns.

Russian women may now learn to be engineers and architects. Mrs. Oscar S. Straus has donated $150,000 to aid girl immigrants. Lady Anglesey is one of the most beautiful women in the British court circles.

Most of the nurses in the Russian Red Cross are members of well-to-do families.

Of every 100 American girls who live to be 25 years old, 87 marry. Out of a total of 520 conductors employed on the cars in Sheffield, Eng., 250 are women.

Miss Ellen Terry is the latest star to appear before the moving-picture camera.

Miss Esther Cleveland, daughter of Mrs. Thomas J. Preston, Jr., and the late President Cleveland, is anticipating a trip to Europe, where she expects to join the American ambulance corps as a Red Cross nurse.

Geradine Farrar, the opera singer, made her debut in a church concert when she was three years old.

In every country now at war the cultivation of the fields, orchards and vineyards is left to the women.

The cigarette habit among women appears to be making steady progress in the cities of New York, Chicago and San Francisco.

Miss Edith Conant, a Vassar college student, recently broke the college running record by covering 100 yards in 12 4-5 seconds.

Mrs. Ann Ponder, who is now 109 years old and the oldest woman in Baltimore, remembers well the Battle of Waterloo.

Under a recent decision rendered by the upper court in Chicago, school teachers in that city can now become members of the Chicago Teachers' Federation.

Suited to the Small Boy's Needs.

A lovely model for the small boy, carried out in natural pongee. A blouse with high neck and side-closing knee trousers comprise the suit.

A suit of pongee makes the average boy feel quite dressed up and the silk comes in such good quality at reasonable cost this season that a pongee suit might well be included in the average wardrobe.

For medium size 3 1/2 yards 27-inch silk will be sufficient for this model. It consists of a blouse and side-cloing knee trousers, the blouse having a high neck and round collar, with which may be worn an artist's string tie. Pockets and straps may be omitted from the blouse if desired, but they contribute considerably to the smartness of the suit.

An open width of material will be needed to cut the front of the jacket and the sleeves. Two widths are placed with right sides facing each other and on a lengthwise thread of the material the various sections of the pattern are laid. There will be enough space left for the pockets.

Fold the remainder of the pongee and on the lengthwise fold place the back marked "B". To the right of this lay the front and the back section marked "O," in the order named and on a lengthwise thread of the pongee. The collar and waistbands come next, laid on the lengthwise fold. The belt and sleeve band may be cut from the opposite edge of the silk along the facing.

The smartness of this suit does not depend upon its development in pongee, however, for it will look quite as well in linen, pique or khaki. In fact there is nothing more practical than khaki because it wears well in addition to looking well.

Striped linens are much liked for boys' suits, but in these days of unwarranted dyes, the wise mother is the one who selects materials about whose wearing qualities she need have no fear. Some of the prettier stripes "wash out" distressfully, and there is no hope of remedy because the stores frankly state that they cannot guarantee colors on account of the scarcity of dyes.

ing cups, small saucepan, ice cream freezer.

Directions—Wash and hull the strawberries, or wash the raspberries and mash them through fine strainer, so that no seeds go through. Put the milk and sugar over fire in a small saucepan and bring to boil; set aside to cool. When cold pour into the freezer, which has been packed with alternate layers of ice and salt. Pour into the cream, and last, the strawberry or raspberry juice; cover and begin to turn, adding ice and salt and the wet bag in which the ice was broken. Be liberal with the salt. This amount fills eight ice cream glasses.

Egg and Watercress Sandwiches
 Materials—Two hard-boiled eggs, 2 cups picked, cleaned, washed and dried watercress; 1/4 cup mayonnaise or melted butter and seasoning, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons chopped green peppers.
 Utensils—Food chopper, two measuring cups, teaspoon, tablespoon, mixing bowl, knife.

Directions—Put the eggs, watercress and peppers through the fine food chopper (it must make a paste). Add mayonnaise. Mix well and spear on thin slices of bread. Then cut in 1-inch strips and place sprig of watercress between each end. This makes a green filling, and the sandwiches are very appetizing.

Strawberry and Raspberry Ice Cream.

Materials—Two cupfuls strawberries or raspberries, 2 cupfuls cream, 1 cup milk, 1 1/2 cups sugar, ice and salt enough for freezing.

To Keep Skin in Fine Condition All Summer

It would be much better for the skin if little cream, powder or rouge were used during the hottest term. Mixed with perspiration, dust and grime, these things are anything but beautifying. Ordinary mercolized wax will do more for the complexion, and without giving an oily, streaked, spotted or pasty appearance. It is the ideal application for the season, as it not only keeps the pores clean, but daily removes particles of sear skin which have been soiled by dirt or weather. By constantly keeping the complexion clear, white, asty, it does more toward perpetuating a youthful countenance than any of the arts or artifices commonly employed. One ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, will completely renovate the worst complexion. It is applied at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning.

Grape Wine.

To every gallon of ripe grapes allow a gallon of water. Bruise the grapes, let them stand a week without stirring, then draw the liquor off quite fine, and to every gallon of wine add three pounds of sugar. Put the whole into a vessel then stop it close, and in six months it will be fit for bottling.

Kellogg's TOASTED CORN FLAKES

WATCH your alert, keen-eyed, clear-headed business man at breakfast. You never see him eating heavy, soggy foods that clog the body and slow up the mental processes. No, as a rule, he selects some appetizing, easily digested cereal such as Kellogg's, for he knows that these thin, crisp, toasted corn flakes supply all the nourishment that the ordinary body needs without dissipating his energy in digesting and absorbing them. Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes go well with fresh or cooked fruits in place of the usual milk or cream.
