Allison: Official Gravel-Scratcher

Ottawa, July 8.—The other day Sir Sam's special train conspired with a level crossing to kill one man, injure another and destroy a horse. But Sir Sam must have his special trains when on the country's business. So must Colonel Allison when he is "scratching gravel."

And as a gravel scratcher Colonel John Wesley Allison seems to have beaten his best previous record, such was the inspiration he got from Sir Sam's cheerful manner. The words had hardly fallen from Sir Sam's lips when Colonel Allison began to scratch like a poultry farm. He found gravel everywhere he scratched, ten per cent. being the minimum laceration. Nothing was too small to engage Colonel Allison's attention as a gravel scratcher. He turned lightly from a twenty-three million dollar order for fuses to a five hundred dollar order for bayonets. Canada was his gravel pit wherever he looked.

Some people will be inclined to ask, as Hartley Dewar did, why was it necessary for the British Admiralty to use Colonel Allison and his crowd as middlemen in its negotiations with the Militia Department of Canada, for the purchase of three million rounds of "defective" ammunition which was not too defective to be used in machine guns, and why it was necessary to pay the Allison group a twenty-five per cent. profit on cartridges that cost them twenty dollars per thousand. The answer is simple enough. Colonel Allison was the official gravel-scratcher for Canada—having been appointed so by Sir Sam. This was part of the gravel he was expected to scratch.

Ever since Colonel Allison got his orders to "scratch gravel" he has been on the job sixteen hours a day, perhaps more. In fact it is said that he cut down his sleep to keep up with the gravel train and that is why his health broke down. Happily his health is now restored and he can look forward to a serene old age, enlivened by troops of friends who will honor him as the most diligent, the most enterprising, and the most uniformly successful gravel scratcher in the Western Hemisphere, if not in the habitable universe. When Colonel Allison's children gather around his knees and ask: "Daddy, whom did you do in the great war," the Colonel will reply proudly, "Everybody I could."

It goes without saying that it takes financial genius of a high order to scratch gravel as extensively as Colonel John Wesley Allison did. Some people may think that it is easy to grab ten per cent. off the top, but just let them try. Even Colonel Allison might have found it hard to land orders if Sir Sam hadn't backed him up with kind words. When the Allies saw how much Sir Sam thought of Colonel Allison they naturally coughed up all they had to the Morrisburg superpatriot. It may be Sir Sam's policy to drive people like the Duke of Connaught out of the country, but we must remember on the other hand that it is his policy to induce people like Colonel John Wesley Allison to come in and take advantage of us.

Meanwhile certain other matters seem to have escaped Sir Sam's

EMPIRE FEDERATION SPECTACLE AT C. N. E.
Brilliant Assemblage of Troops Representing All Sections of British Domains.

This will be "Federation Year" at the Canadian National Exhibition and everything has been planned to symbolize Imperial unity and power, the new bonds of Empire brotherhood welded in the crucible of war on distant battlefields. In keeping with the significance of the event plans have been laid for a spectacle of unusual beauty and brilliance, a superb, satisfying simile of Empire might and cohesion. Over 1,200 performers will be required, and they will include soloists representing all parts of the British domains, the world around, from the lathy, dignified Sirs and the big black chiefs of Somaliland to His Majesty's own Brigade of Guards. The pageant will be enacted before a 700 foot reproduction of the British Houses of Parliament, the War Office and Westminster Abbey, all constructed with a wealth and truth of detail such as to almost convince onlookers who have been there that they are back in the "Heart of the Empire."

WOMEN OF CANADA.

Fort Coulonge, Quebec.—"I am happy to tell you that your medicine did me wonderful good. I was troubled with weakness and I tried wines and other things but received very little benefit. I was young at the time and knew very little about medicines till a lady friend came to me with a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I became strong and a year afterward had twins."—Mrs. J. Brady, Fort Coulonge, Quebec.

Thousands of women right here in Canada who are now blessed with robust health cannot understand why thousands of other women continue to worry and suffer when they can obtain for a trifling sum Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which will surely and quickly banish all pain, distress and misery and restore the womanly health.

Young mothers who preserve the charms of face and figure in spite of an increasing family and the care of growing children are always to be envied. "Favorite Prescription" gives the strength and health upon which happy motherhood depends. It enables the mother to nourish the infant life depending on her, and enjoy the happiness of watching the development of a perfectly healthy child.
