WHAT A BABY COSTS

"How much do babies cost?" said he. The other night when my knee, And then I said: "They cost a lot; A lot of watching by a cot, A lot of sleepless hours and care, A lot of heart ache and despair, A lot of fear and trying dread, And sometimes many tears are shed In payment for our babies small, But they are really worth it all.

For babies people have to pay A heavy price from day to day; There is no way to get one cheap. Why sometimes when they're fast asleep

You have to get up in the night And go and see that they're all right. But when they cost in constant care And worry, does not half compare With what they bring of joy and bliss, You'd pay much more for just a kiss.

Who buys a baby has to pay A portion of the bill each day; He has to give his time and thought Unto the little one he's bought. He has to stand a lot of pain Inside his heart and not complain. And pay with lonely days and sad, For all the happy days he's had, All this a baby costs, and yet His smile is worth it all, you bet.

GOOD RICH BLOOD MEANS GOOD HEALTH

Just a Little More Rich, Red Blood Cures Most Ailments.

The lack of sufficient rich, red blood does not end merely in a pale complexion. It is much more serious.

Bloodless people are tired, languid, run-down folk who do not enjoy life. Food does not nourish; headache, indigestion, heart palpitation, nervousness, and nearly always nervousness. If this bloodlessness is neglected too long, a decline is sure to follow.

Just a little more rich, red blood cures all these troubles. Then you have new health, new vitality and pleasure in life. To get more rich, red blood the remedy is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. No other medicine increases and enriches the blood so quickly or so surely.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done this over and over again throughout my thousands of people always have a good word to say for this medicine. Miss Gertrude Haffner, Kingston, Ont., says:—"About two years ago I was suffering greatly with anaemia, so much so that I had to give up my work. I became so weak that I could scarcely walk without help. I had no ambition, no color, no appetite, and was constantly troubled with headaches and dizzy spells. I was taking medicine from a doctor, but it did not do me a particle of good. One day a friend asked me if I had tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Though as the result of my condition I was greatly discouraged, I began the use of the Pills, and thanks to that good friend's advice after a few boxes I began to feel much better. Under the continued use of the pills I gained in weight, my color came back and I grew gradually stronger. I looked so much better that people would ask me what I was taking and I had no hesitation in giving the credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I am so grateful for what this medicine has done for me that I will do all I can to extend its use."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Killed Going On Leave. Cobourg, July 21.—Gunner Martin Bell was killed, according to word received here, while he was going on leave, when he was riding on a lorry when a German high explosive shell struck him, terribly wounding him. He lived only a few minutes. He came to Cobourg a couple of years ago, and joined the Cobourg Heavy Battery, going with them to the Pacific Coast just after the outbreak of the war. He was an Englishman and his relatives are in the old country.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Its War Time Aspect. London, Eng. The women of England are doing their duty. They are taking care of the wounded, or if they cannot assist in work of that kind they are adding their savings to promote the good work.

They are knitting and sewing for the soldiers at the front. The suffragists have given so little trouble to the government that it will undoubtedly advise the members of those in Parliament, since the "militants" have turned all their energies to aid the fighting men of England, and so suffrage may soon come after this terrible war is over.

Thousands of women in Canada have overcome their sufferings, and have been cured of woman's ills by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This temperance medicine, though started nearly half a century ago, is still most widely used, because it is made without alcohol, narcotics. It can now be had in tablet form as well as liquid, and every woman who suffers from backache, headache, nervousness, should take this "Prescription" of Dr. Pierce. It is prepared from nature's roots and herbs and does not contain a particle of alcohol or any narcotic. It's not a secret prescription for its ingredients are printed on wrapper.

Many a woman is nervous and irritable, feels dragged down and worn out for no reason that she can think of. In ninety-nine per cent. of these cases it is the womanly organism that requires attention; the weak back, dizzy spells and black circles about the eyes, are only symptoms. Go to the source of trouble. When that is corrected the other symptoms disappear.

St. Thomas, Ont.—"I wish to say for the benefit of other women who suffer from woman's ills, that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has cured me of my troubles. I personally recommended the same to many who in turn have been helped a great deal by its use."—Mrs. F. J. Brown, 19 Oliver St., St. Thomas, Ont.

THE FALKLAND ISLANDS.

Great Britain's Possessions on the Edge of Civilized World.

The Falkland Islands, where Sir Ernest Shackleton recently found a haven after the hardships of a perilous Antarctic expedition, have figured seldom in world news since 1833, when the British flag was firmly planted over the land which, together with South Georgia, constitutes the Empire's "farthest south" peninsular possessions.

The Falkland Islands are seldom visited, save by the monthly mailboats from England. It must have been a sensational news event, therefore, when the 900 Fort Stanley, there inhabitants and the 1,100 other people heard that the intrepid explorer, Sir Ernest Shackleton, had arrived with five companions, after having lost his ship, the Endurance, in the Antarctic ice last October.

"Not since the thrilling naval engagement of the Falklands in December, 1914, when a British squadron under Vice-Admiral Sturdee sank the German cruisers, Scharnhorst, Gneisenau and Leipzig, and captured two colliers have these islands figured so prominently in the news of the day as now.

"The Falklands are among Great Britain's colonial possessions which cling to the very fringe of civilization. They comprise an area somewhat larger than the Bahama group and lie 250 miles east of mainland South America and more than 1,200 miles south of Buenos Ayres.

Only two of the islands are of considerable size—East Falkland, which is about five-sixths as large as Puerto Rico, and West Falkland, with an area somewhat less than that of the State of Delaware.

"While the climate of the Falkland group is comparatively mild, the rigors of its winters in no degree approaching the cold of the south-east coast of Labrador, which lies in the corresponding parallels of latitude in the northern hemisphere, yet the islands are not an agreeable place in which to live, as a penetrating, drizzling rain is experienced here during 250 days of the year.

"Except for the palm-resembling tussock which furnishes excellent forage for the herds of cattle, flocks of sheep, and droves of wild horses on the islands, there is little vegetation. The commerce, which does not reach a million dollars a year, consists chiefly of the exportation of wool, hides, tallow, and frozen mutton. Extensive peat bogs supply the Scotch shepherds with a satisfactory fuel.

"During the last quarter of the eighteenth century Spain laid claim to the islands, and for a time threatened to go to war with England over their control. The territory belonged to the British Empire by right of discovery, however, for just 100 years after Columbus reached America's shores John Davis, one of the most dauntless navigators of the Elizabethan era, sighted this land while on his return voyage from the Straits of Magellan, where his superior, Thomas Cavendish, had met with disaster. This is the Davis who is reputed to have been in command of the Black Dog during the memorable overthrow of the Spanish Armada, and who ranks with Baffin and Hudson as the great triumvirate of early Arctic explorers.

"Nearly a century and three-quarters after Davis' discovery the explorer De Bougainville raised the standard of France over these islands, and the latter Government ceded the territory to Spain in 1771. It was upon this cession that Spain based her claims, which she seemed ready to enforce with arms until 1771. The reassertion of British rights in 1833 marked the withdrawal of the colonial claims of the people of Buenos Ayres."

Work for Soldiers. An Edinburgh professor in a recent letter to a newspaper, suggests new work for wounded soldiers. Apropos of the suggested tax on cats, he says: "In place of taxing cats, I would urge the Government to organize, not after the war, but now, a fully equipped and efficient department for the extermination of rats, and employ wounded soldiers to do the mechanical part of it. The systematic breeding, collecting, and distributing of types of cats known to be superior rat-killers, would comprise an important section of the work, but to make a clean sweep of the rat, which the country groans, much light labor and personal supervision, and a good deal of simple laboratory work under scientific expert guidance would be necessary. By this means many men whom the country will be in duty bound to support, might find congenial employment not to mention the saving to the country of an enormous sum of taxable wealth.

Quaint Coins. Among the strangest coins in the world are those used in certain out-of-the-way towns and villages in South-West Africa, on the West Coast of Africa, and called manillas. In shape they resemble flattened out like a camel's foot. Being made of solid copper, 3/16 in. thick, they weigh over 80z. each. In "face value" seven of these queer coins are equivalent to one shilling, so that a crown's worth would be an uncomfortably heavy load!

To Pay the Way. Love will find a way, but it is more important to find something more substantial with which to pave the way.

A. V. Clarke, for the past eight years accountant at the Bank of Montreal, Brockville, has been transferred to Fort William branch of that institution. Mr. Clark's successor will be Mr. Stevenson, of Almonte.
