AMHERST ISLAND COUNCIL

EXPRESS SORROW OVER DEATH OF PTE. F. WILLARD

Who Was the First Resident of the Island To Enlist In This War—Died While With the 80th Battalion.

Stella, Aug. 4.—At a recent meeting of the Township Council this resolution was adopted:

We the Council of the Municipality of Amherst Island in council assembled do hereby express our sorrow at the death of our fellow-citizen, Private Frederick Willard, at Belleville, on May 18th, 1916. He joined the colors at Picton on October 7th, and afterwards when the 80th Battalion was mobilized at Belleville, commanded by Lieut.-Col. Ketcheson, he was transferred there where he spent the winter in preparing for active service.

He was tall and handsome in appearance, quiet and retiring in disposition, and most exemplary in his conduct, and thoroughly devoted to his duties as a soldier. He was highly esteemed by his officers and comrades and was accorded one of the largest military funerals ever seen in Belleville. Two sergeants accompanied him to Stella. A large number of sorrowing friends and relatives followed all that was mortal of the young soldier from the Anglican church to Glenwood cemetery. He was the first to enlist and believe to higher service. May his exemplary life, his patriotic spirit and devotion to duty prove an inspiration and worthy example to all our young men.

We tender our deepest sympathy to his father, who has also joined the colors, to his sorrowing mother, and sisters and brothers.

Signed on behalf of the council: David Caughney, Reeve; William H. H. Monray, Clerk.

GOOD DIGESTION

A SOURCE OF HEALTH

When the Stomach is Out of Order the Whole System Suffers.

Indigestion is one of the most distressing maladies afflicting mankind. When the stomach is unable to perform the work nature calls for, the result is severe pains after eating, nausea, heartburn, fluttering of the heart, sick headache, and often a loathing for food, though the sufferer is really half starved. People with poor digestion, too, frequently try all sorts of experiments to aid the process of digestion, but there is only one way in which the trouble can actually be cured, that is through the blood. That is why the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cures even the most obstinate cases of indigestion. They make rich, red blood that strengthens the stomach and the nerves, thus enabling it to do its work. The process is simple but the result means good appetite and increased health and pleasure in life. In proof of these statements, Mrs. Albert Hall, Sonya, Ont., says: "I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with wonderful results. For two years I was a great sufferer from indigestion, which at last made me a physical wreck. At times my sufferings were so great that I was unable to attend to my household duties. I had smothering spells at times and was afraid to lie down to rest. At every meal, no matter how sparingly I ate, I suffered great distress. I tried several doctors but their medicine was of no avail. I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertised to cure this trouble and decided to try them. I had not been taking them long when I felt some improvement. This improvement continued, and after taking ten boxes I could eat and digest all kinds of food and felt better than I had done for years. You may be sure I am very grateful for the wonderful relief these pills have given me. I know they are also a cure for anaemic sufferers, as an intimate friend of mine was badly affected with this trouble and after taking several boxes she was entirely cured."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CORNWALL MAN SAFE

Dr. F. O. Mahoney Says Scenes in Ontario Fire Terrible.

Cornwall, Ont., Aug. 5.—Dennis Mahoney has received word from his son, Dr. F. O. Mahoney, Iroquois Falls, New Ontario, stating that he is safe. Much anxiety was felt by his friends, as all communication was cut off and they could not obtain any information regarding the doctor. Dr. Mahoney was the only medical man in the town at the time of the fire. He says the scenes were terrible beyond description. The new hospital at Iroquois Falls was destroyed. The large pulp mill was saved.

Tour for the 235th

Cobourg, Aug. 5.—The 235th Northumberland and Durham Battalion will make an extensive trip through the united counties, from August 18th to October 24th, their band and a recruiting force visiting the agricultural fairs, and other public gatherings. They will visit Orono, Newcastle, Port Hope, Cobourg, Colborne, Brighton, Campbellford, Millbrook and other places, and will be accompanied by their band of 25 pieces, a bugle band and a concert orchestra. The new field kitchen presented by the Col. Victor Williams branch of the I.O.D.E., Port Hope, will be put in use.

SUPERSTITIONS OF INDIANS.

Aborigines of British Guiana Believe Strongly in Witchcraft.

In a recent report of the Bureau of American Ethnology, Dr. Walter E. Roth, who has long been a resident of British Guiana and a student of its aboriginals, writes of the religious and mythological beliefs of the Guiana Indians and the adjacent South America, and the adjacent West Indies. He makes public some startling facts concerning many practices of these Indians, particularly as to the eating of flesh of deceased persons, by means of a funeral ceremony and as a part of adding to their own spiritual prowess and earthly virtues.

This practice, mentioned by the author, consists of the eating of a part of the corpse, or the drinking of a preparation made from it, or the bones, which was believed by the natives to endow them with the immortal spirits and virtues of the deceased, as well as to strengthen their own courage and contempt for death. Another custom practised was the disinterment of bodies and the distribution of their bones for use in witchcraft, prophecy, or preservation in the form of a memorial.

Like most Indians, the natives of Guiana had no idea of an supreme being of their own, but adapted terms to express the same, within modern times. The author discusses tribal heroes, cults, creation, spirits, dreams, natural history, omens, charms, talismans, animism, or the doctrine of souls and other spiritual beings, and folk tales.

It is the belief of the Guiana Indians that man was either brought here from cloud-land, the skies, or the land beyond, or was created here from animals, such as jaguars and snakes, or from plants and rocks. On the other hand, a cycle seemed to exist, for certain plants and animals were believed to plant and animals beings or their spirits. The human body had many associated spirits, and was originally considered immortal, being renovated by a mythical changing of the skin, based on the belief that creatures undergoing what is scientifically termed ecdysis, the act of molting, or shedding the outer cuticular layer, lived forever. Amalivaca, the great hero of the Tamanaes and Caribs, known over a region of more than 5,000 Spanish square leagues, or 13,000 square miles, and cherished as a founder Spirit, is said to have told them on his departure that they would change their skins and remain young like snakes, but one doubting old woman exclaimed "Oh!" which annoyed Amalivaca so much that he told her she would die. Later, however, it is reported that these natives lost their ability to change their skins and enjoy everlasting life, and the old and the bad condition into which they had fallen, this accomplishment being bestowed on those creatures which now cast their skins.

The spirits of the bush, which may have emanated from human corpses, or those of animals and birds, or even sprung into being spontaneously, have strange powers attributed to them by the Indians; they are able to change into animal form or render themselves invisible, and are said to be abnormally large, yet they shrink from exposure. They are very shrewd, being able to bring the dead to life, or perform other native's own fault; besides which they cause all accidents and mishaps of daily life.

These bush spirits are said to be excellent hunters, fond of tobacco and of human flesh, especially that of women and small children. With all their remarkable powers and abilities, they are, nevertheless, very sensitive and cannot endure being mimicked or chaffed. It is believed by the natives to leave these bush spirits strictly to themselves, as they bring only harm in the long run, but if circumstances force one into their presence certain dances accompanied by music may be rendered, or formulas recited, which drive them away. The natives prefer, however, never to travel singly, fearing an encounter with evil spirits. Besides the bush spirits there are many others, including the spirits of the mountains, water, and sky, and in connection with each, the author quotes remarkably vivid and interesting stories and legends, many of which are still believed by the natives of this section of Northern South America.

ENEMY LOSSES.

GIANT PLANES A MYTH

They Have Never Been Met With On Battle Front

Paris, Aug. 5.—Giant German biplanes, it was officially announced by the French War Department today, are a myth, and in any case they have never been met with on the battle front. The statement adds:

"It is certain, however, that Germany has built biplanes of an exceptional size and power to be used as hydro-aeroplanes. One of these is 23 meters (75 feet) across, with four motors, and able to carry 32 passengers. Another, 43 meters (137 feet) across, with three motors of 200 horsepower each, is said to have been constructed at Friedrichshaven and to have flown over Lake Constance. If so these experiments must have had bad results, for the machine nowhere has been met."

To Trinity College School Cobourg, Aug. 5.—Rev. R. S. Timpe, B.A., who has been for some months the curate of St. Peter's church here, has been appointed to the staff of Trinity College School at Port Hope, and assumes his new duties with the opening of the autumn term.

PURE BLOOD MAKES HEALTHY PEOPLE

Hood's Sarsaparilla removes scrofulous sores, boils and other eruptions, because it drives out of the blood the humors that cause them. Eruptions cannot be successfully treated with external applications, because these cannot purify the blood.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes rich, red blood, perfects the digestion, and builds up the whole system. Insist on having Hood's. Get it now.
