The steamer Turbina is undergoing repairs at the ship of the Kingston Shipbuilding Company. The bow was smashed in a collision, and on Tuesday morning workmen were engaged in riveting the plates.
 The barge Hamilton went in the drydock of the Kingston Shipbuilding Company's plant Tuesday morning.

The government steamer Grenville sailed for the wharf Tuesday morning.

The schooner Katie Eccles is all in readiness to clear for Oswego, and will get away to-day if the weather is favorable.
 M.P. Co's. bulletin—The steamer India arrived with the barge Selkirk, grain laden, from Port Colborne, and cleared for Montreal; the tug Thomson arrived from Montreal with the barge Hamilton, which will go on the Kingston Shipbuilding Company's dry dock; the tug Thomson cleared with the barge Quebec and Selkirk for Montreal; the tug Barlett is due to arrive to-night with the barge Burma; the Burma cargo will be transhipped into barges for Montreal; the tug Emerson is due to-day with the barge Augustus and Hiawatha loaded with coal from Charlotte for Montreal.

G. W. COMER'S GRANDSON.

Won Shield and Medal for Shooting at Calgary.
 The Calgary Herald says: Sergt. Jack Comer was presented with the D. B. Black shield and gold medal, representing the champion of the miniature shooting competition of the Calgary Cadets. Jack has been a crack shot for some five years, representing Calgary at Toronto and Ottawa, and at the boys' Bisley in England, where he helped to bring many honors to Calgary. The presentation took place at the closing exercises of the Calgary Collegiate Institute.

The boy mentioned above is the grandson of G. W. Comer, of the Kingston custom house.

Refused to Move From Square.

Market Clerk McCammon complained to the mayor and the chief of police Tuesday morning that taxi drivers would not move from the market square, which was needed for farmers' wagons. Taxis are not permitted to stand on the square on market mornings. In fact there is no by-law allowing them there at all, but no objection is used to their presence there when the market is unoccupied by the farmers. The clerk has instructions to summon the owners if they do not move away when ordered.

A WOMAN OF FRANCE ASKS I.O.F. CONVENTION OPENED

IF CANADIANS ARE SPENDING BLOOD-STAINED MONEY ABOUT 150 DELEGATES WERE IN ATTENDANCE.

On Baudes and Pursuing Pleasure—Prof. Lanos Receives a Letter From His Sister in War-Stricken France.

Prof. J. M. Lanos, of the Royal Military College, has received an interesting letter from his sister, Madame J. Bodin, who is performing her part for France in the great war. The following are some extracts: "Amidst the woes and tremendous agonies of the country, it sounds so small to write about myself, the children or my husband, that I must drop the subject. Dress and pleasure we forego long ago. If you hear of French styles, you may take it for granted that they are not for us—we could not afford the price it would be heartless derision whilst our men are in rags, fighting and dying in the trenches. The finger of scorn would find the woman who would so demean herself when thousands are in want. Are there any Canadian women sending blood-stained money on baubles, pursuing pleasure, whose eyes have not yet swept hot tears? Happy, thoughtless women! May they never know what war is as we know it!"

Hide Suffering From Boches.

Societies of American and Canadian ladies have been sending good-byes, clothing, medicines, bandages, etc., to our National Committees for distributions. God bless the dear souls! France will never forget such generosity. The press is silent about our own sufferings; to let them be known would hearten the Boches, they say. What non-sensical twaddle! It might be the case if we Frenchwomen, our children and old men were not as determined at Joffre himself or Poincaré to see this thing through. To let us wear old skirts, to work hard and for little or nothing, what is that to complain about when the world tells us: Go to it! You have the Boches! You are saving us, too, even as your soldiers do when they mow down the ravishers of your sisters at Verdun!

It may be a little soothing to the Boches to know that we are not living in clover, but, on the other hand, our friends should be aware of our needs if they can help us. Is that not logical? Strange, who always lived almost exclusively for his home, find relief, contentment and a sort of grim challenge to Fate to work for others, cheer them up and life them over the roughest spots. The German brutes cannot crush our spirit. I have read, being inspired by Germany, in which French women appeared as low creatures seeking after pleasure, devoid of morals, sickly, silly toys. What do Canadians think of the picture now? Will they believe again our detractors?

A Word to Canadian Mothers.

My son is only fifteen. I wish I had two to give him. I admire their mother for being so brave when, as you say, there are hundreds of mothers around her who would not allow their sons to do their duty to country, humanity and God. It is a good thing for these selfish weak mothers they are not living here in France. More than their sons would be snatched from them! True, we have no choice in the matter, but no young man would think anyhow of crawling under the barn when the day is to walk to the barracks. Why? The cattle, vegetables, wool as it stands on the backs of the sheep, hay, straw, wood, automobiles, carts, wheelbarrows, horses, your second blanket if you own two, corn, oats, etc., everything is requisitioned for the use of the army. The poor peasants who could buy a pair of wooden shoes for twenty cents must now pay the equivalent of a dollar and a dollar and twenty cents. Bread will soon be weighed and apportioned, tell me, then many people will go hungry. With fine weather, however, the harvest of wheat ought to be good; hay was plentiful; fruit is abundant, but there are no men fit to work left on the farms. The young and the very old with the help of the women must save these gifts of nature and God. They will do it. I saw a saintly old priest pitching hay one afternoon lately for a man who had stolen and sent to their towns the looms and machinery of so many factories, destroyed so many of our means of living, driven so many of our expert workers to toil for them over across the Rhine, that our people must go naked for want of material to make garments or depend on charity. . . .

Cousin A. B., who was in the Aviation Corps, was hurt in an encounter with the Boches; he saved himself and his machine, fortunately; he is now recuperating at the base.

Y.M.C.A. CANOE TRIP.

To Grenadier Island Started on Tuesday Morning.
 Early Tuesday morning the canoe trip planned by the Y.M.C.A. commenced. The boys left Knapp's boathouse early, and will proceed up the Rideau river to Jones' Falls, where a day will be spent. The party will then go up to Morten and down the Gananoque River to Gananoque. From there they will go to Grenadier Island, where a week will be spent camping. After spending the week on the island the boys will come home by the St. Lawrence River.

Those who left are: Andrew Paynter, Bert Sutherland, Leonard Thompson, Kenneth Moncrief, Melville Wilder, Harold Trotter, and Donald Thompson will join the party at Gananoque. The trip is being supervised by C. R. Powers, physical director of the Y.M.C.A.

Garden Island Event.

The residents of Garden Island are making preparations for an annual "big day" at the island on Saturday, when the older folk, as well as the "kiddies" will have a merry time in various sports. One of the most interesting events will be a hundred yards dash between two of the prominent residents of the island.

Report on Credentials.

Bro. Morgan presented the following report of the Credentials Committee: Having examined the credentials in our possession we find that fifteen officers and three past officers and 116 delegates have registered up to the present. The report was adopted.
 Mayor Richardson paid a visit to the convention and was presented by Bro. McCann to the H. C. R., who welcomed him on behalf of the High Court. His Worship addressed the Court, giving an inspiring address of welcome to the delegates. He spoke at some length upon the aims and objects of the order, and wished the members success in their noble work.
 Sessions are being held Tuesday afternoon and evening and Wednesday morning.

FOR HIS OWN GOOD

Mayor Sent Man to Jail for Month to Sober Up.
 "I am sending you to jail for a month for your own good," said Mayor Richardson to a man in the Police Court on Tuesday morning. The man has been on a spree for three months, and is in such a condition that it would be impossible for him to carry on his work. Another sad part of the story is that his wife is on the verge of a nervous breakdown, due to his conduct, and a daughter is also quite ill. The man wanted a chance, but the Mayor, who is acquainted with all the facts of the case, felt that it would be better to have him go to jail for a month, so that he could get the liquor out of his system.

A Soldier Weds.

The marriage took place in this city on August 8th of Pte. Grover H. Wallace, a former member of a Brockville battalion, recently transferred to Belleville, and Miss Jean Sutherland, Harrowsmith. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. R. McLean, pastor of Cooke's church. They are spending their honeymoon across the border, the groom being a former resident of the States.

To Erect Brick Residence.

William Snowden, the well known contractor who recently purchased the large lot on King street near the Knights of Columbus building, has taken out a permit for the erection of a brick house on part of the land, which has a frontage of 100 feet. He intends erecting three more residences on the lot.
