A LITTLE PERSIAN GIRL A GUNNER WAS BURNED
WAS SOLD TO A MOSLEM FOR SIXTY CENTS
WHEN FLASH FROM GUN CAUGHT PIECE OF CORDITE.
 Moslem Also Bought Boy for 80 Cents - Frightful Conditions Described by Rev. E. O. Eshoo.
 A religious conversation with a man possessing more than one hundred servants, fifty maid servants and nearly fifty wives, and who is the father of seventeen children, is Oriental in flavor. This is reported by Rev. E. O. Eshoo, M.D., a medical graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, who is now in Urma, in Persia. Writing to Rev. A. E. Armstrong, Assistant Secretary to the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, Toronto, he says, besides that his work among the refugees from the Turks has been strenuous and frightful. It took him and his family seven days to go from Tabriz to Urma. The refugees there numbered on June 7 about 25,000, most of them hungry and naked. A man and three children whose heads he had seen, were killed by the Turks, and the wife left with a lame brother for three days without a morsel of food. Only the food supplied by Rev. Mr. Eshoo saved them. A little girl, three years of age, was sold to a Moslem for 60 cents, and a native boy for 80 cents. Both were brought back by a native minister. This is being done by parents who are suffering from the famine.
 "I saw a good many people, most of them children, eating green grass like cattle," adds the missioner. He goes on to say that it is most difficult to get bread, as the Moslems hide the wheat for themselves, and do not sell it to the Christian people. "If the good and kind Russians were not here they would cry to starve every Christian native there are thousands every day at the doors of the Russian, American and French missionaries.
 Rev. Mr. Eshoo says that all the available wheat had been carried away from that district a year ago by the Turks and Kurds. He gives a personal touch to his letter by saying that "three of those Assyrian beggars whom we arrested while in Toronto are here, but always trying to hide themselves from me."

In his present production he has over fifty head of stock, and there are 85 people in his company, including some of the world's champion horsemen, rifle shots and ropers. He will appear on the Midway and in addition will present each afternoon and evening in front of the grand stand half a dozen of his best acts.

TWO TONS OF POTATOES DAILY
This is Consumption at Barriefield Camp—800 Pounds of Vegetables
 The soldiers at Barriefield consume 800 pounds of vegetables every day. These are purchased by the Army Service Corps through a contractor, or directly, if the contractor "falls down on the job" either in quantity or quality as determined by a Ration Board held every day. At present, owing to the scarcity of vegetables, the contractors, the Harris Abbotir Co., have had difficulty in filling the order.
 The soldiers use two or three tons of potatoes daily, the price being less than two cents a pound although the current market price is higher.

Dog Bite Wound Healing.
 Thomas Bird, who was bitten in the hand by a dog at the same time as the late Allan Robinson received the bite that later proved fatal to him, is now reported to be in a satisfactory condition. The wound has healed up very well, and every measure has been taken to counteract the effects. Following the unfortunate accident to the late Mr. Robinson, great care was taken in treating the wound of Mr. Bird.
