COLLISION OF AUTOMOBILES
CASE WAS HEARD BY JUDGE LAVELL IN DIVISION COURT.
 H. F. Wilson, who sued Robert Lipman for $60, got judgment for full amount — case consumed over three hours.
 For three hours and a half Tuesday afternoon Judge Lavell, sitting in Division Court, heard the prosecution and the defence in a case which was one of a $60 damage case. It was one hot session. Everybody — judge, lawyers and witnesses — earned their money by the sweat of their brow. There was enough honest perspiration shed to float a dreadnought. There was certainly no need of a sweat-box.
 The cause of all the sweating was the action which H. F. Wilson, of Kingston, brought against Robert Lipman, also of this city, for $60, the amount of the damages sustained by the plaintiff's car, when the defendant crashed into it near Lansdowne on July 9th. Mr. Lipman put in a counter-claim for $40 to cover the damages which his car received in the collision. The judge gave his decision in favor of the plaintiff.
 The cars, when they collided, were going in opposite directions. Mr. Wilson travelling west and Mr. Lipman east, and the same might be said of the evidence that was given in the case. The story told by the plaintiff and his witnesses was directly opposite to that related by the defence.

Prosecution's Story.
 The evidence for the prosecution placed the blame for the accident on Mr. Lipman. It showed that the collision resulted from his car taking up more of the road than it should. Mr. Wilson, so he and his witnesses testified, put his car, which was travelling slowly over to the extreme side of the roadway; in fact, if he had gone over any farther he would have toppled into the ditch. On the other hand, Mr. Lipman had three or four feet to spare on his side of the roadway. Notwithstanding this, however, his car crashed into Mr. Wilson's, striking it over the front and rear wheels. Instead of following a straight course, Mr. Lipman's car swerved, the prosecution's explanation of this being that an instructor, who was sitting beside Mr. Lipman, who was driving, also took hold of the wheel when the cars were approaching.
 That, in brief, was the story told by Mr. Wilson and his witnesses, James, William and Clarke Hamilton and Robert Bradford, who were in the car with him. Harry Peters, who repaired the car, told of the damages which it sustained.

Mr. Lipman's Defence.
 For the defence, Mr. Lipman, his wife, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Lafrance, and the instructor, Albert Sheets, put a different complexion on the accident. They testified that the accident was caused by the negligence of Mr. Wilson. When Mr. Lipman saw the other car approaching at a fast rate of speed he stopped his car at the edge of the roadway, leaving plenty of room for the other car to pass. Instead of passing them, however, the other car crashed into them without slowing down. Mr. Wilson turned aside, but too late, the rear wheel of his car catching the front wheel of Mr. Lipman's car.
 M. F. McNeill, W. B. Foley, Giles McRae and Mark E. Grant, of the vicinity of where the accident happened, testified that Mr. Lipman's car was as near the edge of the roadway as it was safe for it to go. They also stated that there was plenty of space left for the other car to pass.

Judge's Decision.
 In giving his decision, Judge Lavell held that the accident was caused by the negligence of the defendant in transgressing on the right of way of the other car. It was brought out in the evidence that Mr. Wilson's car was much the heavier car of the two, and it had struck the lighter car while the latter was stationary, as the defence contended, it would have pushed it out of its tracks, but this, according to the evidence, it had not done. The inference which His Honor drew from this was that the Lipman car was also in motion when the accident happened.
 J. M. Farrell, of Nickle, Farrell & Day, appeared for Mr. Wilson, and A. B. Cunningham was counsel for Mr. Lipman.

MAJOR W. L. GRANT OUT OF DANGER.
 A cable received here states that Major W. L. Grant, of Kingston, who recently was out of the firing line by being thrown from his horse, is out of danger. He is in hospital in France, and apparently it is considered that he will soon be well again, else he would be removed to England.

No Quorum of Fire Committee.
 Only Alder O'Connor and Nickle attended the meeting of the fire committee called on Tuesday afternoon to consider the question of increasing the pay of the firemen owing to the difficulty of securing men at the present wages. Two did not constitute a quorum, and business could not be transacted.

Street Cars Collided.
 A slight accident occurred at the street railway junction on Alfred street on Tuesday evening at six o'clock. A car going west split the switch, and ran into a standing car. The car was going slowly at the time, and no damage was done beyond a slight breakage to one of the fenders.

TALES FROM FIRING LINE
 Wounded Men Are Lying Out In The Open For Days Exposed To All Kinds of Weather—But They Go Through It All With A Smile And A Joke.
 The Whig is in receipt of an issue "N.Y.D.," a paper published by No. 1 Field Ambulance at the front. The issue contains an article which, if widely copied, would show some men where their duty lies. It is headed, "The Bold Canadian Spirit," and reads as follows:
 "My friends at home, may I for a moment take your attention and draw for you a picture of true bravery?
 "Picture to yourselves a dug-out, dimly lit by candles, with shelves on which are dressings and bandages of various shapes and sizes, and here and there a bottle of iodine, which the wounded dread more than bullets because of its sting.
 "The doctors are waiting to work over a stretcher case just being brought in by two muddy stretcher bearers. The stretcher is put in place and the blanket drawn back over the face of a man, whose head is swathed in wadding or a bandage covered with mud. Both legs are broken and equally covered with mud and slime. In spite of all these horrible wounds and the pain caused by a smile lights up the face of the hero; he asks for water in a hollow voice, and after he has received it he says: 'Well, Doc, old sport, we did the trick, and Fritz will not forget us in a hurry. We've won the lost trenches and more; those four days in the laneway by a hell of a shot and shell have passed and gee! I wish I had the Kaiser in my grasp; he would die for the pain and suffering caused by the death of my chum Jack, who, poor lad, has been with me through it all from the first. Say, Doc, how's the chances for a cigar? I'm crazy for a smoke.'
 "The work of dressing the wounds and applying splints to the broken limbs has finished, and the hero is carried to the ambulance. God speed him and may he have a speedy recovery.
 "Say! Do you guys at home in your fancy cut suits and dinky shirts and ties, realize what the men are doing out here for you? Men are lying out in the open for four days wounded and exposed to all kinds of weather, and living through it all with a smile and a joke on their lips. Do not let your conscience trouble you a bit longer but join up and be a man for the time is coming when those of us who are left will return and then where will you fit?"

MAJOR F. W. PARTRIDGE
 Complimented on The Efficiency of His Command.
 According to information received by his relatives, Major F. W. Partridge, of this city, who went overseas with the 77th Ottawa Regiment, was called out in front of the brigade while at Bramshott Camp, England, by General Watson, who had just returned from the front, and was complimented on the efficiency of his command. Major Partridge has since been sent to the front in France with 270 men, retaining his rank.
 The popular major's many friends in Kingston will be pleased to hear of his good luck. During these days when Canadians are dropping their rank in order to get to the front it is indeed a high compliment that has been accorded Major Partridge in retaining his rank.

COAL FOR CITY SCHOOLS
 In the Schooner St. Louis "Held Up" for Lack of Men.
 The coal which the schooner St. Louis has on board, and which has been "held up" in the local harbor since Thursday last, is for the city schools, and it is likely that the Board will be confronted with a nice bit of demurrage over the affair. Mr. Bradden, who has the contract for unloading, says that he is up against it owing to the scarcity of men, and that this is the reason he has not been able to get the cargo off.

TWO NEW FIREMEN.
 Fire Chief Armstrong Has Additions To His Department.
 The Fire and Light Committee did not have a quorum on Tuesday afternoon to take up the question of salaries for the firefighters but Chief Armstrong has two new men on the job, and is now in a little better shape. Elmer McConnell and W. J. Nicholson, both Kingstonsians, were taken on, the former being placed at the Ontario street hall, and the latter at the Brock street hall.

Had Delightful Trip.
 Mr. and Mrs. James McCulla and niece, Miss Georgia, 133 Johnson street, have returned after a motor trip through Prince Edward County. Speaking to the Whig, Mr. McCulla stated that all the barns in this county appeared to be brimful, showing that the farmers had bumper crops. The fruit crop was almost a failure.

A Vicious Dog.
 A citizen complained to the Whig on Wednesday of a vicious dog on Johnson street, near Bethel Church. On Tuesday afternoon he made an attack on a newsboy who saved himself by placing his bag between himself and the jaws of the on-coming brute.
 W. H. Wyllie, inspector of the Children's Aid Society, returned to Toronto on Tuesday with the young girl who figured in a case before Judge Lavell, and who is to serve a term in a school for girls.
