Petrograd, Sept. 2.—It is believed here that the recent period of comparative calm has been occupied by Field Marshal von Hindenburg with preparations for a vigorous counter-offensive, and with this object in view he has drawn together all the available reserves from every front.

MUCH SPECULATION

London, Sept. 2.—Chief speculation here regarding Field Marshal von Hindenburg's policy is whether and in what direction he will change Germany's plan of campaign, which to the moment he assumed authority he has been a plan, straightforward one. Military experts here believe that the vital military need of the Central Powers was the shortening of their line of defense, even before it was extended more than 300 miles by the addition of the Rumanian boundary to the fighting front.

NOT A STRATEGIST

Field Marshal von Hindenburg has been here since fighting general rather than a strategist. His success in the northeast is attributed largely to his intimate knowledge of the country to which he has devoted a lifelong study.

Holland Expects Hindenburg Will Surrender Half of Belgium, Falling Back on Antwerp—Think Another Summer Campaign Necessary.

New York, Sept. 2.—The London correspondent of the World cables as follows inquiry in financial and other quarters in close touch with Holland have elicited the fact that the belief prevails in well-informed quarters that Germany probably will shorten her line in the west before long.

Two Possible Retreats. There are two possible lines to which she might retire, one as far back as Maestricht (in Holland, north of Liege) but the belief is that if the pressure in the east becomes a serious menace, Field Marshal Von Hindenburg will recommend a withdrawal to the line of Antwerp, Namur and Meziere.

Would Release 750,000 Men. By such a withdrawal, military critics here say, Germany could possibly release 750,000 men for the east, but the Allies' front in the west would be shortened to the same extent and more effective concentration of the great forces at their disposal could be made in further pushes, so the German strategic situation would be hardly improved.
