W. Shaw, company officer, is handling the work of paymaster for the Special Service Company, as Lieut. Bissonette is on leave before going overseas with the draft of officers.

There was deep regret over the cancellation of the bayonet fighting exhibition on account of the rain. This would have been the first ever held at the camp.

"Send up those pies," was a remark made at the camp on Friday when it was found that the Gananoque trip might be postponed. The residents of that town have a large quantity of pie collected for the soldiers.

The 175 officers, N.C.O.'s and men who have been attending the School of Bayonet Fighting and Physical Training left on Friday for their homes at the conclusion of their course.

Pte. A. Childerose, 156th Battalion, is in the Field Hospital with contusion of the head, received while practising bayonet fighting.

Capt. Wills and Lieut. Wilson, 155th Battalion, will attend the School of Musketry at Ottawa, which opens next Thursday.

Capt. Publow, A.M.C., 155th Battalion, has commenced the vaccination of the men of the battalion.

The rain on Friday, for the first time in six weeks, caused drill at the camp to be suspended.

William Fairlie, who left recently for England to join the naval forces, has arrived and has been appointed to the command of one of the motor patrol boats with the rank of sub-lieutenant. Mr. Fairlie, who is a civil engineer, is a son of Rev. John Fairlie, Kingston.

Lieuts. G. A. McCarter and W. S. Hogg, R.C.H.A., Kingston and Petawawa, respectively, are chums, and have been closely associated together ever since boyhood. They were born and brought up in Calgary. In later years they came east and finished their education at Trinity College School, Port Hope, and Royal Military College, Kingston, of which they are graduates. When at college they were both identified in connection with almost every branch of athletics.

The school of signalling wireless station was able to communicate with a temporary station erected at Gananoque Saturday morning. This is the record distance for this set of apparatus.

Sixteen members of the infantry school had a farewell dinner together at the Frontenac Hotel on Friday evening.

Buys Interest in Foundry.
Charles H. Powell has purchased a third interest in the Kingston Foundry Company, which intends branching out into automobile and motorcycle repairing. Mr. Powell's son will have charge of this work. A garage is being fitted out on the foundry premises.

DR. MCKNIGHT DEAD.

He Was a Queen's Graduate—Died at Bombay.

Lieut. T. W. F. McKnight, R. A. M. C., died at Bombay on September 4th from pyrexia. Dr. McKnight practised medicine in Everett for a couple of years before joining the Army Medical Corps last April. In June he was assigned to duty in the military hospital at Bombay, where he had charge of a ward. His letters up to August 5th showed he was well and busy. Then came the cablegram telling of his death. His college career was a brilliant one, having graduated in arts from Queen's University in 1910 and in medicine in 1912. He was one of very few physicians holding a certificate from the Dominion Medical Council.

He was a native of Lennox and Addington County, having been born near Tamworth. His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John McKnight, now live in Everett.

HYDRO ENGINEER HERE.

Data Regarding Extension of Seymour Lines to be Secured Soon.

Gordon Kribbs, one of the chief assistant engineers of the Hydro-Electric Commission, was in the city on route to Morrisburg, Ont., where he will look into the development of electrical power at Waddington, N. Y., which is just across from Morrisburg. Mr. Kribbs stated that it was the intention of the commission to extend power lines westward until they met the lines of the Seymour Power Company around Kingston or Napanee.

He further stated that engineers would be here shortly to secure data regarding the cost, etc., of extending the Seymour lines to Kingston.

An accident of a serious nature befel Cecil Miller, son of the night foreman at the Bates & Innes mill, Carleton Place, last Wednesday. He got caught in the belting and his leg was broken at the knee and ankle.

Clarence Mairiens has entered the Affairs Reporter office to learn the printing trade.

THEATRICAL NEWS

At The Grand.

For Monday matinee, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon and evenings, the Management of the Grand Opera House has booked what they consider the best programme of vaudeville and photoplays ever seen in the city. William Farnum, one of the most celebrated actors on the American stage will be seen in a romantic drama of the sea, "The Battle of Hearts," a five reel feature picture. A two-reel Universal picture, "Today," a comedy picture and the "Pathe News" showing all the latest styles and current events will also be shown. In the vaudeville part of the programme something out of the ordinary has been secured. Murphy and Cline will be seen in a comedy singing, talking and instrumental melange. Another good vaudeville act will also be presented.

"It Pays to Advertise," which "It Pays to Advertise," which Cohan and Harris will bring to the Grand on Monday evening, September 18th, is a rip-roaring farce which ever rocked the sides of its auditors in heavy mirth. Rodney Martin is the son of a soap trust magnate. He fills the bill well. About the time his dad is getting ready to throw him out for not working, he falls in with a press agent, christened A. J. Peale, who has astounding knowledge of the psychology of advertising. He overwhelms Rodney with statistics. "Why do we eat hens' eggs instead of ducks' eggs?" he asks. "Hens' eggs are no better than ducks' eggs. But when a duck lays an egg, you never know it. Now, when a hen lays an egg, she sets up an awful racket, and everybody knows it. Advertising, my boy, advertising."

The Black Feather.
Clean, legitimate humor, stirring episodes, and refined emotional appeal are the elements that have been aimed at in "The Black Feather," which the brilliant actor, Albert Brown, is making the vehicle of his present Canadian tour, and which will be seen at the Grand on Thursday, September 21st. The play has been especially written for Mr. Brown, by W. A. Tremayne of Montreal, a veteran Canadian dramatist, who has made many notable successes in the past. Mr. Brown's tour in "The White Feather" last season was monetarily more successful than that of any other thespian of his sex on this continent. In "The Black Feather," which though an entirely original play, also deals with the war, he has an even greater opportunity to display his amazing skill and versatility.

New Policy at Strand.
The management of this popular place of amusement announce the inauguration, on Monday next, of its new policy of showing high-class vaudeville in addition to first run photo plays. For the opening it has been successful in securing the services of two of America's foremost operatic and musical stars—the Mantetta Duo, who have played all the leading theatres in Canada and the United States. Signor Manetta is probably better known than his partner, and has been heard with delight by many Kingstonians in Montreal at the Imperial Theatre. His partner is a charming lady. In addition, she possesses a voice of excellent range and superb quality. Their act consists of not only operatic selections, but the latest and most popular ballads. The patrons of the Strand have a big treat in store for them. The management stakes its reputation on the quality of this act, the finest ever shown in this city. On the photo play end of the programme the feature picture is a five-part Triangle play, "Not My Sister," featuring Bessie Barriscale, a two-part Keystone comedy, "The Village Vampire," with Fred Mace on the bill. Commencing Monday there will be four shows daily at 2, 3.45, 7 and 9 p.m. The same popular prices will prevail. Matinees, 5c; evening admission, 10c; reserved seats, 15c.

At Griffins.
Crowded houses at all performances seem to be the order of the day at Griffins to see the selection of really first-class photoplay production headed by a Famous Player feature, "The World's Great Snare," starring that genuine star, Pauline Fredricks. An additional power of attraction and one that has proven itself a great drawing card for the past two days is the vaudeville number, Rice and De Rita, in a bright and clever singing and talking act. Miss DeRita with her cultivated voice and attractive personality has rendered a number of French chateaux and musical hall numbers that were a revelation to the audience last evening. Her partner, Mr. Rice, is certainly one of the most reliable dyspepsia-chasers to be found, his funny make-up and clever songs and stories, keeping the audience in roars of laughter all through the act. There was also shown the twentieth and last episode of that great serial "The Iron Claw," which clears up all mysteries and sensations that has been presented on the screen for a number of weeks past. The very complete and entertaining bill will close here this evening. Do not miss it.
