

Fall Overcoats

The first chill of autumn calls for a fall overcoat. We are showing some beautiful garments in a variety of new models and fabrics. Swagger sort for young men. More conservative styles for middle aged men. The Chesterfield is the business man's favorite style, while the loose, full back, and the short, form-fitting belted coat with velvet collar appeals strongly to smart young dressers.

Fall overcoats, $15.00, $18.00, and $20.00. The style and quality we offer at each price leave not the slightest doubt of our greater value giving.

THE OLD HOMESTEAD SOLD

CAPE VINCENT PLACE CLEARED BY FAMILY FROM WILDERNESS

Settled Upon By John B. Esselstyn Pioneer, in 1803, and Now Bought by James Radley, Who Pays $9,000 For the 112 Acres on River Road. Cape Vincent, N.Y., Sept. 21.—The Esselstyn homestead, about a mile and a half north of this village on the river road, was sold Monday morning to James Radley, for $9,000. This farm consists of about 112 acres, a small portion of which is wooded.

The transfer of this property, possession of which has long been in the Esselstyn family, loosens a link which connected a name closely associated with the settlement and development of the town of Cape Vincent, in 1803. One John B. Esselstyn located his claim on the bank of the St. Lawrence, in what was then a wilderness. His brother, Richard, was one of the first settlers in what is now the village of Cape Vincent. A son of John B. Esselstyn, the pioneer, purchased the farm, long known as the Esselstyn place, and lived there until his death. Several years ago the homestead came into possession of the late John B. Esselstyn, who, upon his death, left the farm to his heirs. They placed it in the hands of an attorney for sale, and the deal on Monday morning was the result.

Possession is to be given the new owner next March. The present tenant is Clarence Kilborn, a great-grandson of the pioneer, John B. Esselstyn. There are no members of the family by the Esselstyn name hereabouts, except the widow of the late John B. Esselstyn. Two sons, William and Elton of Syracuse, and a grandson, Bernard, of Brownville, are the nearest heirs bearing the family name.

PTE. FRANK MAXAM WOUNDED
He is in a General Hospital in Sheffield, England.

PTE. FRANK MAXAM.

Sergt. J. A. McCartney and Sergt. Harris visited friends in the city on Tuesday night and Wednesday morning and left to go overseas with the 146th Battalion. Lieuts. Roberts and Purdy also had a few hours of last leave and visited in Harrowsmith.

Capt. F. Houston, Queen's Field Ambulance Corps, is spending a few days in Carleton Place.

The Militia Department has issued an order to the effect that in future military men will not be obliged to wear moustaches. No reason for the new order being passed is given. Eligibles who kept clear of the recruiting office for fear they would have to wear a moustache if they enlisted may now sign up with the knowledge they will at least be boss of their own upper lips.

Rev. Mr. Assier, speaking in St. Thomas about his camp experiences at Barriefield, said the men did not want theorizing or dreaming from speakers. "The soldiers want religious talk," he said. "They want nothing apologetic, but straight out and out doctrines."

Lieut. R. J. Elliott, of the 39th Battalion, has been gazetted flying officer.

Having enlisted 2,600 men for the artillery at Kingston and Petawawa, Lieut. R. E. O'Leary, Ottawa, has been promoted to quartermaster of the 17th Artillery Brigade at Petawawa, with rank of captain. Now he has charge of the recruiting for the 72nd, 73rd and 74th batteries at Ottawa.

Lieut. Leo Hudson, son of Lieut. Col. L. A. G. Hudson, formerly of the R.C.H.A., has been called to go overseas with Lieut. F. Hills and a draft of twenty-five mechanical transport drivers and five horse transport drivers, who are being sent from Barriefield camp in the near future.

THEATRICAL NEWS

Tonight Albert Brown.

When Albert Brown appeared in "The White Feather" sixteen months ago the critical public at once realized that a new star had arisen who would not lack support, so far as his country was concerned, and a warm welcome awaits him at the Grand Opera House tonight, when he will present "The Black Feather," a sister play, especially written for him by the veteran Canadian dramatist, W. A. Tremayne. Though Mr. Brown still plays the role of a secret agent of the British intelligence staff the plot and incidents of the "Black Feather" are quite dissimilar from those of its predecessor. The leading role is that of Dick Kent, son of a noted British diplomat, and an attractive youth who is regarded as an actor, a pose he cultivates for professional reasons, in love with a Canadian girl.

At the Strand.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday the management are offering again, at the request of hundreds of patrons the Manetta Duo in an entirely new repertory, among which may be mentioned "La Spagnola," "Chere," "Because," and "La Frangese." In addition the usual run of highest quality photo-plays will be screened. The feature is a five-part Triangle play, "The Phantom," featuring Dean Kenan and Enid Markel. "Fatty Arbuckle," always a favorite of the world over, is also on the bill in a very laughable two-act comedy, "The Waiters' Ball." Do not miss this week-end treat.

At Griffin's.

As the central figure in a most absorbing domestic drama, Blanche Sweet in "The Dupe," her latest production by the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company for the Paramount programme, is seen in a role in which her extraordinary histrionic abilities are presented to the best advantage. "The Dupe" is a story of a young country girl who comes to New York seeking a position, and is engaged as secretary to Mrs. Strong, a wealthy society woman. Mrs. Strong is involved in a love affair with a young millionaire, Jimmy Regan, who has flirted with her merely as a pastime. She, however, believing he is in love with her, is anxious to secure a divorce from her husband, but can find no cause. Jimmy meets the young secretary, and, attracted by her sweet simple manner, falls in love with her. He feels that he must have an understanding with Mrs. Strong before he asks Ethel to marry him. Mrs. Strong gives an entertainment, and Ethel, who is anxious to look her prettiest before Jimmy, and whose simple clothes are old-fashioned, takes money belonging to Mrs. Strong to buy a new dress. The theft is discovered. The girl begs Mrs. Strong not to disgrace her, and promises to work until she pays back the money. The thought flashes through Mrs. Strong's mind that this girl can be used to help her get a divorce, and promises not to publicize the matter if she will help her by permitting her to be found dining alone with Mr. Strong. The events following form an exciting climax to this interesting story.

The above is a synopsis of the great feature subject to be seen at Griffin's to-day, Friday and Saturday, and the fact that it is a Lasky production of the Paramount programme and is headed by the well-known star, Blanche Sweet, is a sufficient guarantee of the excellence of this picture. It is positively one of the strongest, most intensely interesting and high dramatic subjects that Miss Sweet has yet been seen in.

The vaudeville, Duffy and May, come heralded as a pair of clever gymnasts, and the management has no doubt that this pair on the programme will be a very attractive feature. They also show for the first time in Kingston one of those new subjects in the photoplay world, "The Athletic Weekly," depicting the world's greatest athletes in actual contests, and one of those laughable comedies of the Musty Sufferers series, featuring the very clever comedian, Harry Watson.

The above bill, owing to its excellence and variety of entertainment, is one the management takes great pleasure in submitting to the approval of the theatre-going public of Kingston.

KILLED IN ACTION.

Major Shepherd, of 21st, and Lieut. Lyman McColl, of 89th.

Major Martin Louis Shepherd, of Alexandria, who is reported as killed in action, was one of that town's best known and most popular young men. He was the son of G. W. Shepherd, the Grand Trunk agent at that town, and had been in the militia for several years previous to the war. Major Shepherd joined the 21st Battalion at Kingston as a lieutenant and became intelligence officer with rank of captain in France. Recently he was appointed a temporary major.

A prominent Ottawa boy, Lieut. Lyman McColl, is reported as killed in action. The deceased was 26 years of age and was given the rank of lieutenant in the 80th Battalion at Belleville after taking a three months' officers' course at Kingston, in September, 1915.

Duke Took A Stroll.

On Thursday morning between eight and nine o'clock, the Duke of Connaught, accompanied by his two aides, took a stroll out King street and through the city park. The duke had a chat with Parks Superintendent Phillips, who was unaware that he was conversing with the royal uncle of Britain's king.

Another False Alarm of Fire.
At 12.30 Thursday noon the firemen were called to the corner of Brock and Frontenac streets, where box No. 29 had been rung, but found the alarm false. This is the second time in two days that false alarms have been turned in.

Lord Derby says the war "must surely continue over the winter."

New Serial Story.

The Whig has been fortunate enough to secure the rights of publication of one of the most interesting British stories of the year, "The Dog Star." It is written by Coralie Stanton and Heath Hosken.

"The Dog Star" gives a glimpse into the inner life of an Empire builder, showing the man, very humanly frail at times, where the world saw only the organizing giant. The story takes the reader to the wealth-exploiting rubber regions of Africa, and throws a vivid side-light upon the frightful cruelties perpetrated upon the enslaved native population. As the head of a great rubber company, the subject of this book is unduly blamed for such conditions. Throughout the story there is the shadow of a family secret, and the mystery of the boy Peter will hold the reader's attention to the end.

This story will prove very interesting, and we are pleased to introduce the first instalment of it to our readers on Saturday next. Watch for it. Read it.
