THE BIG FAIR UNDER WAY

IS FAR AHEAD OF ANY PRECEDING EXHIBITION.

Exhibits Are Much More Numerous—Poultry Display Twice as Large as Last Year—W. F. Nickle, opened Fair.
R. J. Bushell, secretary-treasurer and manager of the Kingston Industrial Exhibition, was a busy, but happy man Tuesday morning. He smiled as he hustled, and why shouldn't he smile? It was the most promising opening day of any fair of which he has been the president, and that is going some, for each succeeding exhibition has been more successful than its immediate predecessor.

The exhibitors were never so plentiful as they were Tuesday morning. The grounds were literally swarming with people, who were anxious to get their exhibits placed. Manager Bushell was enthusiastic over the way articles for exhibition were pouring in.

"There is no comparison," replied the general manager. "We are away ahead of the best year we have ever had. All departments are much better filled than they were last year, and in some lines the exhibits are four times as great as they were in 1915."

Heretofore the vegetables have been displayed in the Crystal Palace, but owing to the greatly increased demand for space in that building it was found necessary to move the large and excellent collection of vegetables to the poultry building.

A great part of the palace is taken up with displays by business concerns. These displays are very attractive, and draw the attention of the mere pleasure seeker as well as that of the purchaser to be. There are several fine automobiles on exhibition. In this building the experimental farm has an extensive exhibit, which is an unfailing source of delight to the farmer, and even to his city cousins. There is also a rest and reading room fitted up by the Christian Science church, which is proving a great source of comfort to many a weary visitor.

The Poultry Display.
The poultry display is about twice as large as it was last year, there being upwards of 300 superior birds on exhibition.

In all other departments the exhibits are of a surpassing quality and quantity. The horses and cattle are to be brought in Wednesday, and some choice specimens are promised.

The following officials are in charge: J. A. Wilnot, president; A. W. Street, superintendent of children's exhibit; P. D. Lyman, poultry division; Rev. J. H. Dawson, super-

DESERTERS LINED UP

TWO WERE SENTENCED TO FIVE MONTHS IN JAIL

A Sixteen-year Old Deserter Was Remanded For Eight Days—Objection Raised To His Serving A Term In Central Prison.

Pte. H. W. Simpson, of the 156th Battalion, sixteen years of age, was up for desertion and was remanded for eight days. The lad so the military evidence showed, had given his officers a great deal of trouble since enlisting. The magistrate at first stated that he would give him a year-and-a-half in the Central Prison, and the youngster broke into tears.

W. H. Wyllie, Inspector of the Children's Aid Society, who was present, objected to such a stiff sentence when the boy was not sixteen years of age, and the Court decided to remand him for eight days, so as to make further inquiries.

Lieut.-Col. Wilkinson, of the 156th Battalion, was present and submitted evidence for the prosecution.

Ptes. Earl Densmore and Leonard A. Clark, who deserted from the 156th Battalion, and who were rounded up by the local police, were given five months and twenty days each in jail. They will also be called upon to go overseas when the battalion leaves.

Pte. Reynolds, who deserted from the 156th Battalion, was given a chance to make good with his battalion. He came back and gave himself up of his own accord, feeling that he did not do the right thing in deserting, after he had signed to serve his King and Country.

WRITES ABOUT BIG "SCRAP."
"It is the fiercest the world has ever known," says Pte. McDermott. "The boys are now in the thick of the fiercest 'scrap' the world has ever known," writes Pte. Edward McDermott to his father, James McDermott, "and up to date our boys have been most successful. It is altogether a different life than we have yet had. There is a continual din for the twenty-four hours. The German line is slowly cracking, and we are waiting for a break at any moment."

THE OFFICERS' LAMENT.

It is That They Are Not Permitted to Go Overseas.

An officer in conversation with the Whig expressed deep regret that he and many other brother officers were not permitted to go overseas, notwithstanding that they had joined overseas battalions. It was very disappointing to them to have to remain behind. They enlisted for overseas service, and the greatest desire of their lives was to get to the firing line. This Whig is now engaged in recruiting, and while recognizing that this work had to be done, he would give all he possessed if he were allowed to proceed overseas.

GENERAL HOSPITAL TAG DAY

Has been Fixed For Saturday The 7th OF October.

The Woman's Aid Society of Kingston General Hospital met Monday afternoon. It was decided to hold the annual tag day on Saturday, October 7th. Late Lieut. Norton-Taylor. Official notification of the death in the recent big battle on the Somme of Lieut. Hugh Norton-Taylor, 21st Battalion, Kingston, came on Monday afternoon, but there were no relatives of the deceased officer here to receive the sad tidings from the Militia Department, as his mother died some time ago, and his sister is abroad.

Cases Were Enlarged. The case of E. J. Carson, Kirby Zacks and Isaac Zacks, charged with neglecting to comply with the regulations of the Board of Health, in installing improvements, came up before Magistrate Farrell again on Tuesday morning, but as progress was reported in the work in each case they were further enlarged.
